

SOCIETY NOTES

LIFE'S MAZY WHIRL

The unspeakable weather at the beginning of the week made women feel that house keeping was a delusion and a snare, and party giving not to be planned for. Later, when all was calm, the verdure, and the fragrance of the blossoms, tempted to outdoor life, and made women rejoice that the season of respite from social duties, and still more arduous, club duties, is at hand. Several of the social clubs have given their "closing parties," and "last meetings" of literary clubs are of almost daily occurrence. A number of Lincoln women went to Omaha this week to attend the missionary meetings, as the board of the northwest was in session there. The ladies expected to find time between or during meetings, for some necessary shopping, for women must shop, despite the heathen, and they will enjoy even a missionary meeting more in becoming bonnets and fresh gowns.

Mrs. G. J. States and Mrs. E. E. Bennett gave a delightful kensington yesterday afternoon at the home of the former, 1541 A street. The house was prettily decorated, one room with tulips and jonquils, one with roses, and a third with carnations. Mrs. A. L. Johnson, a well known soprano of Crete, and Miss Leta Trigg entertained the ladies with songs, and Miss Alleyne Archibald played brilliant piano numbers. A delicious four-course luncheon was served on daintily appointed small tables. The hostesses were assisted by the Misses Jessie White, Grace and Leta Trigg, Olive and Mabel States, Grace Bennett, Grace White. Guests present were Mesdames J. M. Stuart, Anna Benedict, J. W. Johnson, L. O. Jones, W. A. Lindlay, A. W. Field, F. E. Lahr, E. C. Miller, D. W. C. Huntington, H. O. Barber, G. D. Follmer, J. B. Trickey, E. W. Davis, Lincoln Frost, C. C. White, E. L. Mrs. Harry Harvey gave a children's party Saturday, to celebrate the sixth birthday of her daughter, Miss Grace. Games were played on the lawn until four o'clock, when a supper was served in the dining room, which was decorated in pink and illumined with pink candles. A birthday cake with six candles was an attraction to the guests who, by the way, went laden with gifts for their little friend. Mrs. George Hearn and Mrs. Henry Wise assisted Mrs. Harvey. Those invited were Elfreda and Chauncey Miller, Edith and Marie Bergstrom, Leta and Carl Munson, Hester and Carl Peterson, Florence, Myra and Clarence McGraw, Lillian and Gordon Vanstrom, Mabel Altin of Saronville, Nebraska; Anna Larson, Roy Nelson, Carl Anderson, George Hearn, Harold and Arthur Anderson, Gordon Harvey.

Ever since the installation of Nebraska Alpha of Phi Kappa Psi, it has been the custom to give a formal spring party at the Lincoln, to its friends and patrons. The fifth event of this kind took place last night, when about one hundred young people participated in the waltz and two step, inspired by Eddie Walt and his orchestra. At about half after ten o'clock the doors of the ordinary were thrown open and a course luncheon was served, during the remainder of the evening. The decorations were in the university and fraternity colors. In the centre of the rotunda, hung four large Phi Psi flags, draped in the form of a rectangle, from these twelve large strings of wisteria, filled with lavender nett, Grace Bennett, Funke, Luella Lansing, Jessie Lansing, Casebeer, Fricke, Harris, Cunningham, Gilbert of York, Shedd, Hamilton, Hargreaves, Locke, Montgomery, Jackson, Burnham, Hays, Gahan, States, Deweese, Woodford, Loomis, Heacock, Wirt, Stevens, Holland, Towne, Moore, Bonnell, Harper, Losch, Blanche Dumont, Gertrude Macomber, Johnson, Clark, Grace Crandall of Omaha, and Selma Wiggernhorn of Ashland; Messieurs Richardson of Omaha, Tomson, Hagensick, Stratton, Booth, Waish, J. Mr. and Mrs. L. F. M. Easterday gave a pretty reception Thursday evening at their home, 2500 Vine street, in honor of their son, Mr. Fred R. Easterday and his bride. Mrs. Easterday received her guests in a gray dimity gown trimmed with black velvet. Mrs. F. R. Easterday wore her wedding gown of white silk mull trimmed with applique and insertion. A color scheme of green and white prevailed in the decorations. Roses, carnations, smilax, palms and ferns were used in profusion. The dining table was particularly effective with a mound of roses and carnations in the center, surrounded with garlands of smilax and a circle of green candles in crystal sticks. Smilax was also festooned on the white window draperies, and on the buffet. Mrs. Z. Dwiggin and Mrs. H. T. Crawford presided at the table, and were assisted in serving by Misses Leta Trigg, Hazel Butler, Edith Craig and Mina Easterday. Master Walter Easterday admitted the guests, Miss Ruth Easterday directed them to the dressing rooms, Mrs. J. F. Stevens and Mr. Phil Easterday presented them to the receiving party, and Mrs. Peters directed them to the dining room. A room upstairs filled with bridal gifts was second in interest only to the bride. About two hundred persons called during the receiving hours, which were from eight to eleven o'clock.

MRS. F. M. HALL,
President of the Lincoln Woman's Club and delegate to the Convention of the National Federation in Los Angeles, California.

Walsh hall, decked by the deft hands of the fair members of Delta Delta Delta, was in gala attire for the annual dance given by this popular sorority, Thursday evening. The ceiling of the ball room was entirely concealed by tri Delta pennants, in the sorority colors, silver, gold and blue, and graceful palms screened the orchestra. Cozy corners made luxurious with gay cushions, some of them screened for tete-a-tetes, were arranged in the dancing hall, and in the reception room. All of the gas globes were shaded in blue. Japanese lanterns illumined the reception room, and interspersed with them, fluttered many sorority pennants. The decorations were yellow and white roses and palms. In the centre of the refreshment table was a mound of yellow roses, and scattered over the linen, were pansies, the tri Delta flowers. Ices and punch were served all evening. The party was a full dress affair, and many lovely gowns were worn.

The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Ode Rector, Mr. and Mrs. E. Bignell, Mr. and Mrs. James Manahan, Mrs. Morrison, and Mrs. Casebeer. The dancers were Misses Bonnell, Bonnell, Bignell, Salls, Auld, Grimson, Casebeer, Losch, Losch, Chadwick, Walker, Du Teil, Miller, Whittier, Whittier, Reynolds, Loffer, Gund, Roberts, Poynter, Murry, Moore, Palmer, Spaulding, Whitcomb, Whitcomb, Aland pink flowers, the fraternity colors, streamed gracefully to the twelve columns which surrounded the rotunda, and were twisted vine-like, down over the lavender and pink bunting which covered them. The light bulbs were covered with pink chrysanthemum shades, shedding a soft glow over all. The balustrade of the rotunda was banked around with large palms, giving, with the vines and chrysanthemums, a garden effect to the whole. The parlor was decorated in red, potted plants filling the windows, and the light bulbs were shaded in red chrysanthemum effects. The ordinary was done in scarlet and cream. The table was filled with scarlet and cream carnations backed by strings of smilax, while scarlet and cream shades subdued the lights on the chandeliers, from which scarlet and cream ribbons were draped gracefully to the tables. The orchestra pit was banked with palms, and potted plants filled all the windows, shedding a soft perfume over the whole party. The party was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. I. S. P. Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Deweese, Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Ladd, Professor and Mrs. Barbour and Captain and Mrs. Smoke. The invited guests were: The Misses Jeannette Post, Hally Post, Honeywell Emma Outcalt, Jessie Outcalt, Macomber, Robinson, Louise Hargreaves, E. Dumont, Stone, White of Omaha, Raymond, Bryan, Comstock, Mabel Ben-
