

NEW YORK'S FAMOUS BOATING TRAGEDY

LOUIS A. DISBROW, THE ACCUSED, AND THE MURDER SCENE AS DESCRIBED BY AN ALLEGED EYE WITNESS.

The mystery of the Good Ground, L. L. N. Y., boating tragedy is engrossing the interest of the whole country. The trial of Louis A. Disbrow, for the alleged crime is likely to prove one of the causes celebres of the new century. There are few murder mysteries more replete with human interest than this remarkable case.

The bodies of beautiful "Dimple" Lawrence, a girl of good parentage, and Clarence Foster, an athletic young man who, although married, was in love with the girl, were found floating on the waves at Good Ground, near an overturned boat. There were strong indications of foul play. Young Disbrow, who is also married, is known to have been Foster's unsuccessful rival for the love of the Lawrence girl. He is suspected of being responsible for their deaths. A local character by the name of Schwenke has made affidavit that he witnessed the scene pictured above on the day of the murder in question. The description of the assailant resembles that of Disbrow.

Mrs. Cobb and her two children of Texas are guests for the summer of Mrs. Cobb's sister, Miss Jennie Smith at 11 and Seventeenth streets.

Mrs. J. E. Hays and Miss Hays will go to Cripple Creek, Colorado, next week, where they will be guests of Mrs. Hays' father and sister.

Mrs. Leonard H. Robbins started Monday on the return journey to her home in Newark, New Jersey; enroute she will visit in Iowa and Illinois.

Miss Grace Broady is the guest of her sister Mrs. Avery Haggard. They have taken a cottage on a lake near Minneapolis and will spend the summer there.

The Saturday night club gave a party Wednesday evening. After the dance some of the young people went to view the flood, which was at its height that night.

Miss Clara Leese, Miss Mae Biltgen and Miss May McGreer left today for Denver. Miss Leese goes to join her mother, Mrs. William Leese, and her sister, Mrs. A. A. Scott, who preceded her. They will be absent for several weeks.

The Dr. Benj. F. Bailey Sanatorium

Is not a hospital, not a hotel, but a home. The building is located on a slightly hill at Normal, and is reached by the cars of the Lincoln street railway, being only 28 minutes' ride from the business center of the city. It is thoroughly equipped and beautifully furnished. Every electric current useful in the treatment of the sick is used, and Ideal Turkish, Russian, and Medicated Baths are given. In conditions where the kidneys and liver are affected, and in cases of rheumatism, our Hot Air Treatment has been remarkably successful. For full information address The B. F. Bailey Sanatorium, Lincoln, Neb.

given by Mr. and Mrs. Connell. Miss Funke was the guest of Mrs. J. E. Baum during a part of her stay in Omaha.

The music room of Mrs. L. J. Herzog's new home will be ideal in every respect. It is an immense room, facing east on Fifteenth street, light and cheerful, and beautifully adapted for the use for which it is designed. Mrs. Herzog is having a handsome concert grand piano of the Henry F. Miller make, made for her at present, and after her own special design. This in connection with the fine collection of musical subjects which Mrs. Herzog possesses, will certainly inspire one when entering this beautiful room. The color scheme will be green, wall-draperies, rugs, and so forth, all to harmonize. The handsome Herzog residence located at Fifteenth and N streets will be ready for occupancy the first part of August and Mrs. Herzog's magnificent piano will be ready for her when she moves.

Manhattan—But I suppose you never have any excitement down in Lonelyville.

Subbubs—I don't eh? Say, have you ever tried taking a bath in a room full of mosquitoes?
