

Deaf People Now Hear Whispers

Listening Machines Invented by a Kentuckian.

Invisible, When Worn, but Act Like Eye-Glasses.

Ever see a pair of Listening Machines? They make the Deaf hear distinctly. They are so soft in the ears one can't tell they are wearing them.

And, no one else can tell either, because they are out of sight when worn. Wilson's Ear Drums are to weak hearing what spectacles are to weak sight. Because, they are sound-magnifiers, just as glasses are sight-magnifiers.

They rest the Ear Nerves by taking the strain off them—the strain of trying to hear dim sounds. They can be put into the ears, or taken out, in a minute, just as comfortably as spectacles can be put on and off.

And, they can be worn for weeks at a time, because they are ventilated, and so soft in the ear holes they are not felt even when the head rests on the pillow. They also protect any raw inner parts of the ear from wind, or cold, dust, or sudden and piercing sounds.

These little telephones make it as easy for a Deaf person to hear weak sounds as spectacles make it easy to read fine print. And, the longer one wears them the better his hearing grows, because they rest up, and strengthen, the ear nerves. To rest a weak ear from straining is like resting a strained wrist from working.

Wilson's Ear Drums rest the Ear Nerves by making the sounds louder, so it is easy to understand without trying and straining. They make Deaf people cheerful and comfortable, because such people can talk with their friends without the friends having to shout back at them. They can hear without straining. It is the straining that puts such a queer, anxious look on the face of a deaf person.

Wilson's Ear Drums make all the sound strike hard on the center of the human ear drum, instead of preading it weakly all over the surface. It thus makes the center of the human ear drum vibrate ten times as much as if the same sound struck the whole drum head. It is this vibration of the ear drum that carries sound to the hearing Nerves. When we make the drum vibrate ten times as much we make the sound ten times as loud and ten times as easy to understand.

This is why people who had not in years heard a clock strike can now hear that same clock tick anywhere in the room, while wearing Wilson's Ear Drums.

Deafness, from any cause, ear-ache, buzzing noises in the head, raw and running ears, broken ear-drums, and other ear troubles, are relieved and cured (even after Ear Doctors have given up the cases), by the use of these comfortable little ear-resters and sound-magnifiers.

A sensible book, about Deafness, tells how they are made, and has printed in it letters from hundreds of people who are using them.

Clergymen, Lawyers, Physicians, Telegraph Operators, Trainmen, Workers in Boiler Shops and Foundries—four hundred people of all ranks who were Deaf, tell their experience in this free book. They tell how their hearing was brought back to them almost instantly, by the proper use of Wilson's Ear Drums.

Some of these very people may live near you, and be well known to you. What they have to say is mighty strong proof.

This book has been the means of making 325,000 Deaf people hear again. It will be mailed free to you if you merely write a post card for it today. Don't put off getting back your hearing. Write now, while you think of it. Get the free book of proof.

Write for it today to the Wilson Ear Drum Co. 2048 Todd Building, Louisville, Ky.

Lincoln (Neb.) Post-Democrat: The polygamists of our Philippine annex, including the sultan of Sulu, are doubtless highly interested in the disclosures regarding polygamy in Utah, as brought out in the Smoot investigation.

Tarkio (Mo.) Independent: For the first time in the history of our grand old state our people are witnessing the sale of our senatorships to the highest bidder. The railroad corporations the buyers and will walk off with the plum. This is the republican notion of reform and redeeming Missouri.

Clearfield (Pa.) Republican: Even the Republicans now admit that there is such a word as deficit in the vocabulary.

Hastings (Mich.) Journal: Thomas W. Lawson put his foot down on a whole line of Wall streets fancy stocks and the water spurted out of them clear across the continent.

Kearney (Neb.) New Era-Standard: In his message the president recommends the retirement of the greenbacks and the redemption of the silver dollar in gold. How does the populist who voted for Roosevelt like that?

Coshocton (O.) Standard: Secretary Taft is urging the Panamians, as he has urged the Filipinos to "read the Bible more." Probably he explains to them the new reading of the text, "Thou shalt not steal except in the interest of collective civilization."

Columbia (Mo.) Statesman: The scramble of Missouri Republicans for the seat in the senate to be vacated by Senator Cockrell bids fair to rival in intensity the annual struggle between the Tigers and the "Jayhawkers" in Kansas City on Thanksgiving day.

Rockwell (Ind.) Tribune: Hon. Daniel McDonald will be the only Democrat in the Legislature from thirty counties in the northwest part of the state. Well, he is every inch a Democrat. It is better to have one like him than 100 of the "safe and sane" genetry.

Hardy (Ark.) Herald: Dressed beef is high, but cattle are low. Dressed meat is high, but hogs are low. Cotton goods are high, but cotton is low. Lumber is high, but timber is low. How does this look to the farmer. Who gets the good profit; the producer, or the manufacturer?

Bellefonte (Pa.) Democratic Watchman: If the ten dollar Congressmen, who are now clamoring for a ten thousand dollar salary, would only be willing to take for their services what they are worth to the country, there would be no great depletion of the treasury after paying full price for everything done.

Plattsmouth (Neb.) Journal: When Cleveland's message received the approval of the newspapers of London, Paris and Berlin, it caused great indignation on the part of republicans, who intimated that there was altogether too much affiliation between the President and European monarchs. Do we remember what was said about Bayard? But times have changed.

Woodsfield (O.) Spirit of Democracy: A pet phrase of the standpatters is, that a high tariff "gives employment to labor." So it does; and laborers are coming from Europe as never before to secure that employment. But this is only half of the story. The money to employ this labor is taken from laborers who have already earned it; and, besides, the lion's share of it sticks to the hands of the trust magnates.

Newton (Ia.) Herald: The democracy must listen again to the masses, and, like the Chicago convention in 1896, the people must over-ride the plutocratic element and come out boldly for reform. It must nominate a candidate who is a platform in himself and one who cares more for principles than for spoils. It may not win, but it is infinitely better to go down to defeat deserving success than to secure a victory while deserving defeat.

Winfield (Kas.) Tribune: "A deficit of $36,000,000" exclaims Speaker Cannon. The public is now interested in knowing whether the cheese-paring which the president calls for will cut off those appropriations which the people really need, or whether it will reduce the grand army and navy scheme. The president knows perfectly well that nobody demands "complete disarmament." But the imperialist enthusiasts might be content with a more modest programme than the launching of a new battleship every week and a new cruiser on every working day in the year.

Hastings (Neb.) Democrat: The tariff, if changed, at all, must be changed by the friends of protection. The railroad question must be settled by the railroads. The money question will be settled by the banks. Insurance supervision of billions of people's money, must be supervised by insurance companies. And so on. At the present time, that appears to be the program, if one can rely upon what leading men and papers say. The railroad question is by far the most important one that the American people have to deal with at the present time and it will hardly be settled right by the Paul Mortons.

Eureka (Ills.) Democrat-Journal: While President Roosevelt opens his message with the words—"The nation continues to enjoy noteworthy prosperity," Dr. Hirsch, the eminent Rabbi of Chicago, commenting on the estimate in Robert Hunter's book, "Poverty," that ten million of the American people are in want, tells us that "Mr. Hunter's statement is not surprising to one who has studied the economic conditions of this country." Has President Roosevelt really studied "the economic conditions of this country?" or does he mean by "the nation" only the rich people who shape policies to suit themselves?

Eureka (Ills.) Democrat-Journal: Now that the election has been held, the people who fondly believed that the talk of the Republican leaders about tariff revision meant something find themselves fooled again. It is reported that a poll of the members of Congress shows three to one opposed to tariff revision. The tariff turns a billion dollars of excessive profits into the purses of American "protected industries" every year, and no small part of Congress, especially of the Senate, is composed of their direct representatives or beneficiaries. They will stay there just so long as a tariff-ridden people continue to be fooled into voting for them.

Smith Center (Kas.) Messenger: The demonitization of silver was simply a scheme of the old parties to destroy the legal qualities of one half the ability of the people to pay their debts. It is as if you had agreed to pay a certain debt in a hundred acres of corn and a hundred acres of wheat and your beloved law makers had killed entirely the wheat part of the contract as a debt paying power. Would that make the demand for corn double and practically kill wheat or not? And would you suspect that your representatives and senators voted for the corn owners (Rothschilds) doubling their value and correspondingly decreasing the people's wheat—would you suspect that these representatives did that purely because they loved the corn owners?

this state no millionaires tried to break into the United States Senate from Missouri. But here comes along a republican legislature, and the only candidates with any show whatever of election are millionaires and representatives of big corporations. Kerens, Niedringhaus and Parker have crowded all other would-be candidates to the rear. Kerens is a millionaire representing great railroad interests and does all of his traveling around in a palatial palace car. Niedringhaus is another millionaire and president of the National Enameling and Stamping company, a powerful trust which has absorbed about all of the smaller concerns of the kind in the country. Parker is general attorney of the Frisco railway system. With the candidacy of these men comes the talk of boodle and the purchase of the senatorship.

Jefferson City (Mo.) Democrat: In his message to Congress, President Roosevelt recommends a plan for "bettering" the currency system. What? Better the currency system? How can you better the gold standard, which the G. O. P. spellbinders have so long be-lauded as of divine origin? What things we see when we haven't got a gun. If Mr. Roosevelt would say this during some campaign—wouldn't it be fine, though? But, no! When the people are considering the matter of electing officers to administer the government, the republican candidates wisely refrain from participating in any discussion that might tend to embarrass the "party." When a democrat says anything about the currency, when he even presumes to say that the gold standard is not a perfect monetary system, the powers at Washington send forth the ukase and that he is to be denounced as a maniac, while in the distance is heard the deep basso profundo of the trusts—stand pat! Now is the time for the people to open their eyes for the next campaign.
