later are discarded by the people, I would suggest instead of at once paying the inventor that he be given a pension according to the usefulness his invention might turn out to be, and that said pension be subject to increase or decrease or to be entirely stopped. Manufacturing would be so immensely increased and the people so greatly benefited that they would gladly pay their benefactors, the inventors.

J. F. Cunningham, San Jose, Calif.—Enclosed find postoffice order for one dollar to cover my subscription to The Commoner for the current year. I would like to see—and with proper effort there would be—50,000 subscribers to The Commoner in this state. I got you a few subscribers last year and if I were a younger man I would get you many more. I am an old soldier of the Civil war.

L. N. Allen, Wibaux, Mont.—There are a few questions I would like very much to have answered by the daily press, yet I presume it is impossible: First, is a man a thief if he takes what he knows to be not his, and appropriates the same to his own use? Second, is a man guilty of crime if he helps a thief to hide his stolen goods? Third, is it a crime to take money or other stolen property knowing the same is being stolen and use the same for one's own benefits? Fourth, why is a man prosecuted as an accessory to a crime for using stolen money or other property by our state courts and generally sent to the penitentiary and for very small sums at that, when those at the head of our government go scot free? Now there is not a term of district court in the state of Montana with few exceptions that the county attorney is not trying to have this kind of crime fixed against some poor fellow who is laboring for his daily bread. Why is the world so determined to punish crime among the poor classes and sing the praises of those who are in high places whose crimes are lower than those of the highway robber? May the world awake to the knowledge of its wrong doings in the matter of its criminal prosecutions is my prayer.

Inez, C. Parker, Rolla, Mo.—I wish to thank you very much for your kind and inspiring notice of me and my work. It has won for me many new friends. I know this by the letters which I have received since it appeared. Dr. McClure, who has shown a very kindly interest in my work, has given me a year's subscription to The Commoner. I am sure I shall enjoy it, and look forward with much pleasure to Mr. Bryan's letters of travel. I have read a great many of Mr. Bryan's speeches and have admired them very much, although, as I think any one might guess, I never was a member of the democratic party. I esteem it a very, very great kindness and honor that I received such mention in your paper. I hope to be more deserving in the future than I am now, and thanking you again, I wish you a Happy New Year.

William H. Blair, M. D. Erie, Pa.—Enclosed please find signed pledge, also an application for five subscriptions for The Commoner. As a Pennsylvania democrat and one who has for forty years been wholly, continually and constitutionally disfranchised from having any voice in the election of presidents and vice presidents of the United States would like very much to have that complicated and undemocratic twelfth amendment to the constitution analyzed and explained to the readers of The Commoner. The idea is strongly impressed on my mind that if the voter could vote direct for president and vice president instead of for thirty-two more or less electors and let the popular vote elect the president and vice president direct the voter would feel more independent and the will of the people would then rule. Also if the insurance companies and the political manipulators could then buy a thousand votes in New York they would only count one thousand votes and not as now elect the thirty-six electors who represent more than one million five hundred thousand voters.

H. E. Dye, Visalia, Calif.—If the president of the United States can blow out a war on the opposite side of the globe, let every man, woman and child implore him on a postal card to turn his attention to the unclean in the United States senate.
