W. H. Tisch, Grass Lake, Mich.—A few days ago I sent a list of fifty primary pledge signers, also two subscriptions to The Commoner. I find it a great pleasure to work for The Commoner and its editor. The Commoner I notice has just entered into its seventh year of its great and glorious work. It has proven its right to the great name which it bears, and the greatest cause of the people, the common people, whom it represents. Besides its ambitions and true merit, and the editorial it contains, news items which are of the greatest interest to the reading world. The Current Topics are certainly great food for the brain of every reader of The Commoner; they are educating, instructive and bright. The Home Department is certainly a great guide and help to the women and even in a great many cases to the men. It is very ably conducted and up-to-date. Mr. Maupin's page is all right; his sayings are very bright, and must certainly be appreciated by every reader of The Commoner. The Commoner does not only abound in the above mentioned qualities but it also possesses the principles of the great and original democratic party, the principles of the father of democracy, Thomas Jefferson, and those of Andrew Jackson. The Commoner stands by the working classes of this country; it is their true instructor, their truest and greatest friend; it teaches them and keeps them on the right road to success. It seems that the editor had taken a great task and undertaking to instruct millions of our hard-working people through his great paper. The Commoner's great treatises on the civil government fills a very long felt want in the journalistic world, and is indispensable to the thousands, yes to a million students of political economy.

Everyone who approves the work The Commoner is doing is invited to co-operate along the lines of the special subscription offer. According to the terms of this offer cards each good for one year's subscription to The Commoner will be furnished in lots of five at the rate of $3 per lot. This places the yearly subscription rate at 60 cents.

Any one ordering these cards may sell them for $1 each, thus earning a commission of $2 on each lot sold, or he may sell them at the cost price and find compensation in the fact that he has contributed to the educational campaign.

These cards may be paid for when ordered, or they may be ordered and remittance made after they have been sold. A coupon is printed below for the convenience of those who desire to participate in this effort to increase The Commoner's circulation:
