sickly condition might not hinder the others. This was a great sacrifice, but it did no good.

"I can not read that last message of Captain Scott without emotion. I never met him, but I know he was a brave man.

"And to think," added the captain in a husky tone, "that while

Harmless Smoke Cures Catarrh

A Simple, Safe, Reliable Way and It Costs Nothing to Try.

This preparation of herbs, leaves, flowers and berries (containing no tobacco or habit-forming drugs) is either smoked in an ordinary clean pipe or smoking tube, and by drawing the medicated smoke into the mouth and inhaling into the lungs or sending it out through the nostrils in a perfectly natural way, the worst case of Catarrh can be eradicated.

It is not unpleasant to use, and at the same time it is entirely harmless, and can be used by man, woman or

Just as Catarrh is contracted by breathing cold or dust and germ-laden air, just so this balmy antiseptic smoking remedy goes to all the affected parts of the air passages of the head, nose, throat and lungs. It can readily be seen why the ordinary treatments, such as sprays, ointments, salves, liquid or tablet medicines fail—they do not and can not reach all the affected parts.

If you have Catarrh of the nose, throat or lungs, choking, stopped-up feeling, colds, catarrhal headaches; if you are given to hawking and spitting, this simple yet scientific treatment should cure you.

An illustrated book which goes thoroughly into the whole question of the cause, cure and prevention of catarrh will, upon request, be sent you by Dr. J W. Blosser, 144 Walton street, Atlanta, Ga.

He will, also, mail you five days' free treatment. You will at once see that it is a wonderful remedy, and as it only costs one dollar for the regular treatment, it is within the reach of everyone. It is not necessary to send any money—simply send your name and address and the booklet and free trial package will be mailed you immedihaustion. He went bravely, you those brave men were dying in the know, into the blizzard that his waste of ice, I was lecturing in waste of ice, I was lecturing in warmth and comfort in Australia."

Captain Amundsen denied that he had suggested that the men who met death might have fallen into a crevasse.

"It is ridiculous," he asserted, "to think that five men would fall into a crevasse."

Professor H. J. Cox, weather forecaster, who had listened to the Norwegian's adventures and narration, broke in:

"Shackleton nearly met the same fate, you know."

"Yes," said Amundsen. "Shackleton had a hard time getting back. He nearly met death. He turned back just in time in the very hour, in fact, to save his life and he was only 111 mlies from the pole.

"Can you think of the disappointment in that case? Only 111 miles from his goal, yet it is a long distance. When there are railroad tracks and Pullman cars and comfort and good cheer 111 miles is nothing. There in the frozen south it is thousands of miles."

Captain Amundsen made it plain that the fate of Scott and his aides would not deter him in his plans for a north polar expedition, beginning next year.

"Why should I hesitate?" he asked. "These affairs are very sad, but they are really uncommon. It is not what one may expect, as perhaps some of you may think. No, I shall start and I believe I will be successful."

"What do you care about the north pole, Captain?" was asked.

"Nothing," said the explorer, swiftly. "I do not seek the pole. I may never reach it. I don't care whether I do. The stories that I am to actually seek the pole are untrue. I am going only on a scientific expedition, chiefly to study air and ocean currents. If I am close to the pole and conditions are favorable, I will go there, not otherwise. The story that I will take an aeroplane is untrue; it is ridiculous."

Captain Amundsen sent the following telegrams about the tragedy: once in every state for Electric Rail-way Motormen and Conductors; $60 to $100 a month; no strike; write imme-diately for application blank. Address

VARIED LITERARY STYLES

Exchange editors are usually well repaid for their work, by the entertainment they are afforded from the various literary styles used by writers in newspapers.

In a Dublin paper we find this: "It looks to me as if she had saddled herself with a veritable white elephant."

An Austrian paper states: "The bride appeared in a smart white frock of pale blue linen."

A Missouri newspaper, reporting a divorce trial, states: "The husband undertook to poison his wife without just cause."

In South Dakota the literary style is only fairly well developed. A paper of that state announces: "The bride is a refined young lady of culture, as also is Mr. Smith."

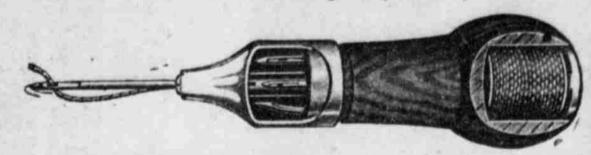

An Iowa paper innocently recommends: "To keep ants away from the refrigerator, tie woolen strings around each leg, saturated with turpentine."-Oklahoma City Oklahoman.

MUNSEY'S EVICTION

It might have been possible for Mr. Munsey to organize a political holding company to control the republican and progressive parties, but it was certain that no holding company could control the Roosevelt vocabulary. Mr. Munsey will kindly consider himself evicted from Armageddon for conduct unbecoming an 'angel."-New York World.
