HE WON

A certain workman in a Newark factory seems to be constitutionally opposed to the institution commonly known as a bath. It is this man's custom to appear each morning wearing the grime he carried as he left the shop the previous night. He appeared one day recently with a touch of the yolk of an egg upon his lip—a trifle extravagant, but nevertheless true.

Seeking to have a little fun, a fellow employe observed.

"Hello, Jake, bet I can tell you what you had for breakfast this morning."

Words were bandied back and forth, and finally a wager was made, the loser to set 'em to a good cigar or something of that sort. Then came the climax:

"Eggs."

"You're wrong," said Jake. "We had eggs yesterday morning."—Newark (Ohio) Advocate.

WASTED SARCASM

Indignant Wife—"I wonder what you would have done if you had lived when men were first compelled to earn their bread by the sweat of their brows."

Indolent Husband—"I should have started a little notion store and sold handkerchiefs."—Chicago Tribune.

THE MAIN POINT

"Pop, what is the difference between an artist and an artizan?"

"An artizan, my son, can usually make at least three dollars a day."—Judge.
