

think I ought to take a course of household economics. They offer a lovely one at Briny Moore for $300." "No," replied pater grimly. "You will get one for nothing after you are married."—Judge.

Daring Project.

"What we want is the golden rule embodied in legislation," said the idealist.

"Yes, replied the 'practical' politician. "But I doubt if you'd find a lobby on earth that could put that through."—Washington Star.

Her Remedy for Dryness.

Cripple Creek Doctor—Well, did you take his temperature?

Mrs. Rimrock—Oh, yes, sir; I put the barometer on 'is chest an' it goes up to very dry, so fetches 'im a can o' beer, 'an now 'e's gone to work.—Denver Field and Farm.

Amalgamation.

Johnny's mother had instituted a fine of 10 cents for every spot made on the tablecloth. One day Johnny was observed rubbing his finger for a long time over the cloth at his plate.

"John, what are you doing?" said his mother at last.

"Nothing. I was just trying to rub two spots into one."—Judge.

The Dear Old Home

"Does your boy Josh take any interest in the farm?"

"I should say so!" replied Farmer Corntossel. "It's the only place on earth where he can get three meals a day without payin' fur 'em."—Washington Star.

His Idea of Extravagance.

Ikey (to father)—"Fadther, vat is extravagance?"

Father (to Ikey)—"Extravagance, my son, is wearing a tie ven you've got a beard."—Western Mail.

In This Rapid Age.

"Mamma's good little boy want a slice of bread and—"

"Oh, mother, cut out that sort of thing. I'm nearly 4 years old."—Chicago Tribune.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Play is merely work that you don't have to do.

Much greatness is submerged by the overflow of egotism.

The hobo's idea of a helping hand is one that holds a handout.

The Lord loves a cheerful giver, and everybody loves a cheerful loser.

Money is the root of all evil—and many a family tree springs therefrom.

Love doesn't make the world go round as often as it makes the lover go broke.

A woman worries more about her complexion than she does about her prospective harp and crown.

Love may laugh at locksmiths when the milliners and the dress-makers don't even get a pleasant look.

"Men don't understand women," says a pessimist; "if they did the women would have to do all the chasing."

The "wise" man follows the lines of least resistance, by telling all women how well they look and all mothers their babies are beautiful.—Chicago News.

Tips From Texas.

Even the man in the hole can build a castle in the air.

As a general thing, when two have to live as cheap as one neither of them gets fat enough to hurt.

Our observation is that when a woman does her own cooking and washing she doesn't worry the public librarian much.

Sooner or later the young man who never hits a lick hits the ceiling.

The reason a man hasn't too much sense to get drunk is because he hasn't enough sense to stay sober.—Dallas News.

Luke McLuke Says.

One reason why women admire real ostrich tips is because you can't buy them in a ten-cent store.

In spite of the large number of amateur detective agencies there are a whole lot of things that are not found out.

When other women stare at her husband during the honeymoon the bride imagines they are envying her. But she learns better later on.

Cheer up. Most of the important discoveries were made by men who made mistakes when following a set rule.

You can attain a reputation for wisdom if you will refrain from talking when you have nothing to say.

The reason we pay so much attention to education in this country is because a schoolteacher can earn about one-half as much as a horse-shoer.

No matter how much Culture a fat girl attains she can't sit down without looking as though she was straining something.

Rudyard Kipling is a pretty wise lad. But you don't have to go East of Suez to find men with six-cylinder thirsts.

Some married couples make you wonder how she beat the Fool Killer to what she landed.

It isn't a bit hard to please a woman if you can only get her to make up her mind what she wants.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Commoner for One Year.....$1.00
The American Homestead One Year......25
One Steel Mantle Lamp Burner......25
Total Regular Price.....$1.50

ALL NOW FOR ONLY $1.10

The Steel Mantle Lamp Burner will transform a smoky, dingy lamp or lantern into a large, powerful, odorless, smokeless flame that will give an abundance of light. Each burner is equipped with a Cold Rolled Steel Mantle. The mantle acts as a vaporizer, admitting a flow of air and supplying the flame with a sufficient amount of oxygen to form a perfect combustion. The result is this burner gives more light per gallon of oil used than any other kind of burner. The Steel Mantle Burner fits any common or ordinary No. 2 lamp, uses the same common flat wick, and uses any grade or test of kerosene oil with best results. Each burner comes prepaid to your home supplied complete with wicks, and is fully guaranteed by the makers. Get one of these burners and throw the old one away. You'll be delighted with it. Address order for above offer to The Commoner, Lincoln, Neb.
