

er country has ever produced before. Americanism and peace, preparedness and prosperity—these are the issues upon which the democratic party stands, and the heart of democracy swells with pride that is more than a pride of party, as it hails the man who has asserted this Americanism, assured this peace, advocated this preparedness and produced this prosperity.

The man who is President of the United States today has measured up to the best traditions of a great office.

He has been wise with a wisdom that is steeped in the traditions of his country, with a wisdom that has been disciplined by training and broadened by instruction.

He has been prudent with the prudence of one who has within his hands the destiny of a hundred million people.

He has been firm with the firmness that proceeds from deep conviction, with the firmness that is grounded in a duty well defined.

He has been courageous with the courage that places country above self, with the courage that follows duty where it may lead.

He has been dignified with the dignity that is self-forgetting and self-respecting, with the dignity that conserves the majesty of the greatest office in the world.

He has been patient with the patience which believes and trusts that truth crushed to earth will rise again, with the patience that can endure and wait, watch and pray, for the certain vindication of justice, humanity and right.

He has been patriotic with a patriotism that has never wavered, a patriotism that is as pure and strong as the faith that moved the fathers when they made our country free.

No president since the civil war has had as crucial problems to solve; and no president has displayed a grasp more sure, a statesmanship more profound.

Assailed by the wolves of privilege, he has pulled their claws and drawn their teeth.

Assaulted by partisan envy, he has shamed his traducers into silence and made friend and foe go forward together in the paths of national progress.

He has fired our patriotism with a new ardor; he has breathed into our ancient traditions a new vigor and a new life.

He has added strength to America's courage and mingled mercy with America's strength.

He has fastened the brakes of justice upon the wheels of power; he has lifted the mists from the temple where our liberties are enshrined.

And when the history of these days comes to be written, and the children of tomorrow read their nation's story, when time shall have dispelled all misconception, and the years shall have rendered their impartial verdict, one name will shine in golden splendor upon the page that is blackened with the tale of Europe's war, one name will represent the triumph of American principles over the hosts of darkness and of death.

That name will be the name of the great President who has made democracy proud that he is a democrat, and made Americans proud that he is an American.

It will be the name of the student and the scholar who has kept his country true to its faith in a time that tried men's souls; the name of the statesman who has championed the cause of American freedom wherever he found it oppressed; the name of the patriot who has implanted his country's flag on the highest peak to which humanity has yet aspired; the name that carried the torch of progress to victory once and will carry it to victory again; the name of Woodrow Wilson, President and President to be.

SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA

The Southern Gateway City of the Pacific Coast

San Diego Bay, "The Harbor of the Sun," contains 22 square miles

It has natural channel waters, deeper and wider than those of Baltimore, Boston, or Philadelphia, and only excelled by four other American harbors in these respects. This is not only a commercial harbor, but is probably the finest and safest yatching harbor in the world. Being perfectly landlocked, rough waters are unknown.

One and one-quarter million dollars have been expended by San Diego to construct the first unit of a modern pier system. San Diego owns its water frontage, and is the first American port of call north of the Panama canal, hence, is nearer all of the Atlantic seaboard by water transportation than any other city on the Pacific Coast, and should become the distributing point for all of the southwest portion of the United States.

The city of San Diego has made a wonderful growth in the past ten years, as shown by the Chamber of Commerce year book, viz:

POPULATION: 1870, 2,300; 1880, 2,637; 1890, 16,156; 1910, 39,578; 1915, 90,000.

THE LAND OF SUNSHINE

The average sunshine in San Diego for a period of 20 years, being from 1894 to 1914, according to the U. S. Government Weather Bureau report was: 3,028 hours per year, or an average of 8 hours and 17 minutes per day for every day in the year for the past 20 years.

THE BEST CLIMATE IN THE UNITED STATES

The U. S. Weather Bureau report covering a period of 27 years, from 1887 to 1914, gives the following:

"TEMPERATURE: Normal annual temperature 61 degrees. The warmest month was August 1891, mean. temperature 72 degrees. The coldest month was January, 1894, mean. temperature 50 degrees."

Come and see both the best place in the United States to live and enjoy life, and the Panama-California International Exposition this year while you can get reduced railroad fare, and see the best features of both of the 1915 Expositions in one, including exhibits from Canada, Russia, France, Spain, Hawaii, Italy, Holland, Switzerland, Brazil, Germany, Persia, India, Turkey and Egypt.

A METROPOLITAN CITY

There is no city in the United States more metropolitan in its residence owners than San Diego. They come from every state in the Union, and from every country on the Globe. This is accounted for by reason of its healthful climate.

VISITORS TO SAN DIEGO have been looking forward to the time when they could retire and spend the balance of their lives in the most pleasant resident section of the United States, and when here they select and buy a residence lot to suit their taste. Years afterward, they, or their children, come and build their home upon it, finding it worth many times more than when it was purchased.

We have platted, graded, sidewalked and placed on the market the beautiful Southlook tract of 150 lots, close in, high and sightly, with unobstructed ocean and mountain view. This tract is located about midway between the business section and the city limits, and only five blocks from the cement paved streets. The prices of lots range from $800 to $1200 each, and should double in value within the next few years.

When you come to San Diego, call on us. Our autos are at your disposal, and we will sell you a choice lot, or home already built, at 10 per cent. down and 1 per cent per month. Write us for a map and description.
