

Attention, Nebraska Voters!

For the information of the voters of Nebraska we publish below a list of the candidates — both democrats and republicans — for both branches of the Nebraska legislature who have pledged themselves, if elected at the November election, to vote for the ratification of the national prohibition amendment.

In the list of candidates for the state senate will be found all of the democratic candidates except six and all of the republican candidates without exception. In the Omaha district, the five democratic candidates have not yet pledged themselves to vote for ratification. Their five republican opponents have pledged themselves to vote for ratification if elected. Outside of the Omaha district there is only one democratic candidate for the state senate in the state of Nebraska who is not yet publicly pledged to vote for ratification. That is the democratic candidate in the fifteenth senatorial district, comprising Jefferson and Thayer counties.

It is to be hoped that these six democratic candidates will publicly pledge themselves before election day to carry out the will of the people as expressed in Nebraska two years ago; if not, the democratic voters of Nebraska can be of more service to their country at this time by voting for the republican members of the legislature, who are pledged to ratification, than they can by voting for the democratic candidates for the legislature who would vote to defeat the amendment and retain the saloons.

A large majority of the candidates to the Nebraska house of representatives are pledged to ratification, and more of them are making pledges each day.

Nebraska voters should examine this list of candidates, and if their candidates are not included in this list, the candidates should be immediately called upon to express themselves upon this important question, and if they do not pledge themselves to ratification, every possible effort should be made to defeat them at the polls regardless of what party they are affiliated with.

The Nebraska legislature will ratify the national prohibition amendment as one of the first orders of business when the legislature meets in January. It is gratifying to the dry forces of Nebraska who have been waging the contest against the distillers, brewers and saloon-keepers to know that their fight has been practically won. The vote in the Nebraska legislature for ratification should be unanimous in both houses, and if the voters do their duty on the 5th day of November, the vote for ratification of the national prohibition amendment in the Nebraska legislature will be unanimous in both houses.

The candidates for the senate and house pledging themselves to vote for ratification are as follows:

* No opposition.

The German army is headed for the Rhine about as fast as the allies will let it go, but it is suspected that it is not so much a case of homesickness as a desire to find something in which to drown their grief.

This ought to be a good time for all those chaps who have been saying for a good many years that they proposed to retire to a farm some day and go to raising things to perform their patriotic duty.

The Louisville Courier-Journal is now an open advocate of woman's suffrage, but there is a strong suspicion that Marse Henry isn't writing the editorials giving the reasons why the women should have the ballot.

The big German blow in the west that we heard so much about last February seems to have been confined largely to the kind of a blow that boasters usually make manifest.
