Alumni Round Up to reunite 16 special groups June 8-10

Sixteen special group reunions, the largest number in the history of the alumni get-together, will be held at the annual Round Up celebration June 8 to 10. It will also contain the regular descriptions of campus organizations and the names of their presidents, a map of the campus for new students, and the calendar of activities planned for 1940-41.

Elected first vice-president was Evelyn Leavitt, another holdover member from last year's board. New second vice-president is Helen Elizabeth Claybaugh, also a holdover member.

Yesterday's meeting was the first meeting for the newly elected board, named by the old student council at the next to the last meeting of that body. The meeting was also the last of the year for the board.

New student members on the board are Leonard Goldstein, Morton Margolin, Louise Woerner and Shirley Khyme. Faculty members are the same who served last year.

The weather

No hope for sunshine today, but Wednesday should be clear for a week. The clouds will drift to other quarters after today, and the temperatures will go up.

Bands honor 'Billie' Quick

Members have plaque made for leader's wife

William T. "Billie" Quick will be honored by the university bands, of which he was long the leader, as members have had a plaque made in his remembrance, which will be hung in the bulletin board in the Union for one month and then presented to Mrs. Quick.

The plaque was shown for the first time Wednesday evening at the annual all-band banquet in the Union, sponsored by Gamma Lambda, honorary band fraternity.

Don Anderson, junior in arts and sciences, presented the plaque to band members; Richard White, graduate student, presided over the meeting. White is president of the band.

Five receive keys.

Also presented on the program were honorary keys to five students for outstanding service to the organization. Recipients of the keys, presented by Don A. Lentz, director of university bands, were Anderson, White, Harold Bergquist, senior in arts and sciences; Pat McNaughton, senior in teachers college; and George Splittgerber of Wayne, graduate student. Lentz also received a key.

Present for the festivities were many band alumni. Barbs to elect council officers

A humorous situation arises with the running of a woman for the presidency since the president of the Barb Council automatically becomes the ex officio vice-president of the Barb Union, unaffiliated men's organization.

The bad start came when outgoing president, Marian Kidd called the meeting to order and was then reminded by Merrill Englund, outgoing chairman of the judiciary committee, that a quorum of the old members was not present and that the business scheduled for that meeting could not be carried on.
