

Rush week experiences teach many lessons

To actives

Now that rush week is over and every house got the smoothest bunch on the campus and the actives revel in the happiness of the fact that gold is where you pledge it, we have made a thorough survey of the entire rushing situation and are now prepared to give advice on how to get your man or woman.

Wear your oldest and most comfortable clothes and to hades with your hair. It all gives that devil-may-care air and gives the rushee a change from all those other dressed up sororities.

Never, never, under any circumstances remember a rushee's name, face, or anything about her. If you can not possibly forget her name, perhaps you can distort it unrecognizably. It's much too much trouble to get it right, and it would probably shock the rushee if you did.

Serve the stickiest, most undigestible concoctions possible at all teas. Statistics prove that a rushee can live for four and one-half days solely on tea and olive sandwiches before prostrations. It greatly weakens their resistance and makes them suckers for your old one-two.

Gush over your rushee even if you're not the gushing type; put your hand on her arm, her shoulder, or around her waist (masculine style); look soulfully into her eyes and burst tearfully into your song... what if you can't sing, it's impressive as hell.

Pound her, propagandize against your rivals, never give her a chance to think things over. In short, work her over. If you can get her hysterical, she is practically yours.

Whenever you see any of your sisters you haven't seen all summer, for heaven's sake ignore the rushee... she's not worth it all and besides you probably won't get her. Just forget the rushee and dash over and bubble over the above mentioned sister. Very impressive move too. Impresses her how crazy all the sisters are over each other.

The night before bids go in, put all the names of the rushees in a hat, draw out the desired number, send them in... and then go home and pray; you'll need to.

In the same way, advice to the men is as simple as counting to ten in sanskrit.

One... good way to get a rushee is to ignore him. What you can't have you want so he'll probably come dashing around to the House and ask you to pledge him.

Two... spooks for him to date on his evening dates with you should be sufficient to pledge him. He'll decide you can't do any worse by him.

Three... to one odds that it's a great idea to let the rushee sit off in a corner and think things over... he'll probably be saying to himself, "Gosh, these are swell fellows."

Four... rushees off in a corner by themselves without an active around is really great stuff. They'll of course be getting together and deciding what a great lodge you have.

Five... in Bill's coupe out to the picnic makes things so clubby.

Six... brothers standing together in the middle of the room discussing summer events impresses the stranded rushees with that good brotherly spirit.

Seven... prostrated brothers, at least, at each party is pretty impressive.

Eight... times is definitely not enough to ask the rushee if he's made his mind up. Keep at him and he'll appreciate your helping him.

Nine... o'clock is the proper time to call for an eight o'clock rushee. It puts the rushee in suspense and he'll enjoy your party so much more when he finally gets there.

Historical society meets

Lincoln is scene of 63rd annual convention Oct. 19

Lincoln will be the scene of the 63rd annual meeting of the Nebraska State Historical society and the 16th gathering of the Native Sons and Daughters of Nebraska on Oct. 19.

Leading speaker will be Dr. Howard R. Driggs, New York City, president of the Oregon Trail commission and author of many books on the west.

Present plans call for discussion on the value of trails and travel routes across the state to tourists and the discovery of oil in Nebraska. The state irrigation system will also be studied.

The complete program for the conventions will be announced later, according to Addison E. Sheldon, superintendent of the State Historical society.

Alumni club reveals grads cover all U.S.

Among the interesting facts released by the alumni club through their monthly magazine were some concerning the location of alumni scattered well over the country. Following are some of the facts set forth in the magazine: The University of Nebraska has more than 54,000 alumni—graduates and former students.

Approximately 20,000 of the university's alumni reside in the state of Nebraska. More than 5,000 alumni are residents of Lincoln. More than 1,100 alumni reside in the Chicago area. Approximately 1,000 reside in the Los Angeles and Southern California area. There are about 400 alumni in Denver, 250 in Seattle, 170 in San Francisco, 70 in Milwaukee, 400 in Washington, D. C., 225 in Kansas City, 80 in Houston, 69 in Philadelphia and 36 in Pittsburgh.

Simmons college rings death knell for bad English

Bad English must go! That is a decree of a faculty committee of Simmons college. Investigation disclosed that 12 percent of upper class students do not know or use satisfactory English.

Simmons authorities believe that the solution lies in setting a standard of literacy. To that end the group has prepared a manual on reading and writing to be used by students and instructors alike. The book contains basic rules of grammar, punctuation and spelling plus reading suggestions and information on compiling reports.

Maxwell gets position

Henry Maxwell, Lincoln, who received his B. A. degree with honors from the University of Nebraska last June, has accepted an assistantship in the Spanish and Portuguese department at the University of Wisconsin for the current year.

To ex-rushees

And so it is that after rush weeks are over that we set forth here those things which are proper and improper for you who have pledged. Mayhaps you, too, violated these most important hints.

For women pledges.
A pair of horn rims, coupled with constant and self-conscious chatter of Freud, Montaigne, and Post-Impressionism is also a wower. They won't have the vaguest idea of what you are talking about and will immediately decide that you're the intellectual type. Since the scholastic pressure is always terrific, they'll snap you up. Or maybe just plain snap at you.

Informality is the mode of the day. Hand your used chewing gum to the extended hands of the receiving line as you come in; fix your girdle anytime that you feel like it, and if you feel like sitting on the floor and pulling your shoes off... well, deary, o.

When asked if you have any preference in sororities, smile sweetly and say you just can't make up your mind. All the girls are so lovely to you. Or, if you prefer, promise to pledge all the sororities. This will get you just oodles of bids, and you can talk about it for months afterward.

For men pledges.
Be on your guard and don't let them fox you. If they say their lodge is the best and the greatest, ask them why. It's awfully great sport to hear them stumble around.

Don't fail to stand up each house at least once on dates. This keeps them all guessing.

It's a good policy to promise all of the frats that you will join their house. Then you will be as popular as a low cut evening dress.

Quickly tell the fellows that you really don't like them. It makes them feel as if you're already a good brother.

Never, never hide your gum under the chair at meals but stick it behind your ears for rechev. This brings out the point of your knowing how to take care of your things.

Feint out completely at one or two parties. It allows their mother instinct to come out when they have to take care of you.

Finally, tell them that you've decided you can't afford a frat. And you probably can't.

SCHOLASTIC ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS FOR PARTICIPATION IN EXTRACURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

University Requirements Quoted from the General Catalog
"A student who is not enrolled as a regular student in the University or who is not satisfactorily carrying at least twelve hours may not act as a departmental assistant or represent the University that semester on any team, board, or club, on a staff, on any college publication, or in any other University organization; moreover, a student who has not satisfactorily completed twenty-seven hours in residence during the previous two semesters in which he was registered is debarred from representing the University in any capacity. One summer session may be used to meet the twenty-seven hour requirement provided it immediately precedes or follows the second semester. Furthermore, it shall be understood that correspondence extension courses cannot be counted, except when such courses are taken to remove a condition or a failure, and then only upon the consent of the instructor of the course in which the condition or failure occurred. A student who fails to pass in twelve hours at the end of a semester is debarred from representing the University in any capacity the following semester. In case a student in any of the above named student enterprises fails, any semester, to carry satisfactorily the work or any part thereof for which he is registered, the Scholarship Committee may, at its discretion, lessen the hours of such student's registration. The credit hours of any subject added to a student's original semester registration after four weeks of class work may not be used in meeting the eligibility requirement."

The following is a summary of the minimum eligibility requirements for a student's participation in extracurricular activities:

1. Be carrying at least 12 hours satisfactorily at the time of participation.
2. Be credited with at least 12 hours for the last semester that he was registered in the University preceding participation.
3. Be credited with at least 24 hours for the last two semesters that he was registered in the University preceding participation.

This chart below shows the possible combinations of credit hours by which a student may fulfill the eligibility requirements.

POSSIBLE COMBINATIONS	A	B	C	D	E	F	G	H	Hours in good standing
Your present semester, must be carrying at least	12	12	12	12	12	12	12	12	12
Your preceding semester, must have at least	12	13	14	15	16	17	18	19	hours earned
Your second preceding semester, must have at least	15	14	13	12	11	10	9	8	hours earned
Your two preceding semesters, must have at least	27	27	27	27	27	27	27	27	Total credit hours earned

Summer School and Extension Courses.

1. One term of summer school work may be counted to fulfill the 27-hour requirement, provided that the summer term precedes or follows the student's preceding semester.
2. Night classes conducted by the Extension Department are considered as part of the regular University work and may count toward all credit hour requirements.
3. Correspondence courses conducted by the Extension Department may not be used to fulfill the eligibility requirement, except when such courses are taken to remove an incomplete, condition, or failure, and then only upon the consent of the instructor of the subject in question.

Additional Eligibility Requirements for Competition on Varsity Athletic Teams. RESIDENCE, PARTICIPATION, AND REGISTRATION.

1. A student must be regularly registered, having met the entrance requirements.
2. A student must complete one full year (two regular semesters) residence in the University of Nebraska before participation.
3. A semester of residence is defined as any semester in which the student has registered in the University and has complied in athletics, or has continued his registration beyond the fourth week of the semester.

4. Matriculation in another University or College will nullify previous residence in the University of Nebraska, and another year of residence is required. (Note: Matriculation in another institution for summer school work does not nullify previous residence.)
5. Only three years in the aggregate of participation are permitted. The time of matriculation in the University, first or second semester, and the time of first participation, determines the beginning and the end of the participation period.

6. Should a student complete his registration or add to his registration after the semester has been in progress four full weeks, such late registration may not be counted to fulfill the 12-hour requirement for the student's present semester.

TRANSFER STUDENTS

1. The first year of participation in a Junior College shall not count, unless such participation was against a team whose institution offers more than two years of collegiate work, when all years of participation shall count and be deducted from the three year's total participation in the University.
2. Each year of participation in a Senior College shall count, and be deducted from three year's total participation in the University. (Strictly freshman participation in a Senior College does not count.)

(Additional questions concerning varsity participation will be answered at the office of the Dean of Student Affairs.)

Extra-curricular activities are similar to athletics in that they both observe scholastic requirements. The regulations governing activities were adopted by the university so that students would not neglect their academic work in favor of activities.

No student who is not regularly enrolled in the university or who is not carrying 12 hours of academic work satisfactorily is able to represent the university on any athletic team, on the staffs of the publications, clubs, boards or any other university organization. A student who participates in extra curricular activities must have completed 27 hours in the two preceding semesters at the university.

Must pass 12 hours.

Anyone not passing 12 hours at the end of the semester is debarred automatically from representing the university in an activity. For example: If student is working on one of the publications and at the end of the semester is failing he is not eligible to apply for a position before the university publications board. Such a student must life his academic standing above the requirements before he may participate again.

May reduce hours.

If a student in any student enterprise fails any semester to carry satisfactorily any part of the work for which he is registered the Scholarship Committee may at its own discretion lessen the hours of such a student's registration. The credit hours of any subject added to a student's original semester registration after four weeks of class work may not be used in meeting the eligibility requirements.

One summer school term may be counted to fulfill the 27 hour requirement, provided that the summer term preceded or follows the student's preceding semester.

USC follows lead of state board in education

Following the lead of the Nebraska State Planning Board for a remodeling of the state educational system, President Robert Gordon Sproul of the University of California is now considering a plan to place higher and lower education under separate direction.

The recommendations of a Nebraska subcommittee submitted to the state planning board last spring included the use of the university for all graduate work, correspondence courses and professional training except that for teachers. By the proposed plan one of the state normal schools would be converted into a trade school and technical training in high schools would be encouraged.

The plan submitted to President Sproul calls for the control of all education above junior college by a single board of education, and the limitation of graduate instruction to the state institution.

Counselors change time of meeting

Board meeting of Co-ed Counselors has been changed from Sunday at 2:30 p. m. to Monday at 4:30 p. m. at Ellen Smith hall, according to Mary Bullock, president of the Counselors.

In addition to the appointment of "big sisters" for all the freshman women, the election of two more girls to the board will also take place.

All of the "big sisters" will be named by Friday. Any freshman woman should phone Miss Bullock if she has not been notified by then.
