

ROCKEM, SOCKEM, CROCKER

CAPT. JACK CROCKER - GUARD

It will be a battle of the best in the Big Six guard crop when Nebraska's Warren Alfson and Eddie Schwartzkopf square off against Captain Jack Crocker and Fred Sishka of the Missouri front wall. He also can play end when the occasion calls for his versatility.

Party-

And another...

PAUL MEYERS - HALFBACK

Yes, here is even one more Tiger aerial flinger. Paul Meyers, still another halfback, who can double for Christman in the art of passing.

Rally-

Now called "pre-ambles to victory," the rally will be called at the Union by the victory bell at 6:45, then to parade behind an 80 piece band down R street to 16th, up 16th to S, and then down S street to the mall.

According to the Azzi-Ratem rankings of the top football teams over the nation this week, the Huskers stand way down in 28th position...While a William Griffin in his Griff-Ratings places the Scarlet in 12th spot...

Then, the Associated Press poll placed the Cornhuskers in 18th position. The Azzi-Ratem list figures the Huskers 7 points better than the Tigers in the Nebraska-Missouri clash on Saturday.

Griffin rates the Huskers four and a half points superior over the Tigers...The leading sports writers and radio commentators are making the Huskers the favorites over the Missourians...

But all this pre-game dope in favor of the Huskers doesn't mean a thing...Look at last year, the Tigers beat the Scarlet by two touchdowns...Sometimes the underdogs become the top ranking pup...This year is no different from any other...Watch out for the so-called upsets...

A fellow from way back in Winchester, New Hampshire, sends into the Football News his 1940 All-American team Herman Rohrig is listed as his left halfback choice

The football coaching rivalry between Biff Jones and Bernie Bierman carries on...Prior to coming to Nebraska and Minnesota, respectively, as head mentors, the Biffer coached at Louisiana State and Bernie tutored football at Tulane, where their southern teams met frequently...

Lynn Miller, editor of the Daily Tribune of Royal Oak, Mich., says "Tom Harmon runs with a great change of pace. He runs slow, fast and faster as the occasion demands..."

From the Kansas State Collegian, Wildcat student daily, "Gwinn Henry's team (which was going to avenge the 23 consecutive beatings they have absorbed from Nebraska) could have been beaten by a high school squad Saturday...That's pretty strong talk. Think of the outcome if the Jayhawks turn around and upset the Wildcats this Saturday..."

Chris Langvardt, Kansas State senior halfback, ranks eighth this week among the nation's leaders in pass receiving...He averaged 10.71 yards per catch...

Tales of the Cornhuskers: Professor (taking an examination paper): "Why the quotations marks all over this paper?"... Leftover: "Courtesy to the man on my right, Prof"...

Georgetown university has now gone out 20 consecutive times without being handed a reverse on the gridiron... Since 1879, Michigan has scored four times as much as its opponents—9,985 to 2,524...

Debate-

(Continued from Page 1) solved: that the nations of the western hemisphere should form a permanent union." All university men who have completed at least 27 hours of credit and are otherwise eligible for extra-curricular activities may enter.

Material for study of the subject is on reserve in the library, while information and bibliographies may be secured from the bulletin board at Andrews 111.

Here's a passer...

JERRY DAVIS - HALFBACK

Paul Christmas isn't the only passer on the Tiger football squad. Above is Jerry Davis, halfback, who can fling the pigskin whenever Christman is on the sidelines.
