

Dial Twistings

By Morton Margolin

With no more editions of the DAILY coming out until Tuesday morning, and with a large group of top notch programs scheduled for the week end, there are a lot of highlights to be given in this column today.

TODAY.

Among the highlights for today will be the Bob Ripley "Believe It Or Not" program to be aired over KFAB at 9 p. m. The show will feature a galaxy of presidents of the woman-haters, man-haters, six-footers and lovers of Brooklyn clubs.

David Fink, of Brooklyn, N. Y., will be on hand to speak for the women-haters. He's president of the woman-haters club.

Betty Orin, also of Brooklyn, will take up a verbal musket for the man-haters. She heads the man-hater's club.

From Hollywood, comes Kay Kryslar, a six-footer, to tell of the tip toppers club, which he founded several years ago.

Also heard will be Alex Shaktman, president and founder of the "society for the prevention of disparaging remarks about Brooklyn."

SATURDAY.

Saturday's highlights will include a drama, "Honest Abe" based on the life of Abe Lincoln, starring Ray Middleton with Lenore Kingston and Lawson Zerbe. The program is scheduled to be aired at 8:30 a. m., rather an early hour for drama.

There will also be "Your Hit Parade" at 8 p. m. over KFAB, and at 8:45 p. m. over the same station, the "Saturday Night Serenade."

SUNDAY.

Sunday will bring the American Red Cross roll call at 12:30. The program will star Katherine Cornell in her first radio appearance, with Clifton Fadiman, Bob Trout, Leopold Stokowski, and many other lights of the entertainment world. The program will be aired locally over stations affiliated with the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Helen Hayes will bring a radio adaptation of Joan of Arc to the airwaves at 9:30 p. m. over KFAB. The adaptation is an original by John Houseman, based upon special historical research.

Counselors dine in Union

Bullock, Elsie Ford Piper welcome new students

Co-ed Counselors, big sisters to freshman entertained their little sisters at dinner last night in the Student Union. Ruth Clark took care of the master of ceremonies duties, introducing Mary Bullock, president of Co-ed Counselors, and Elsie Ford Piper who welcomed the new students.

Helen Hosp, Dean of Women, spoke to the 400 women students, stating that the annual fall dinner is an excellent opportunity for co-ed counselors to meet and become acquainted with all the "little sisters." Marion Cramer, Charm School head, announced the thirteen freshman models for the style show of co-eds modeling their own clothes, which were favorite costumes chosen from their personal wardrobes. The girls who modeled are Kay Hanley, Dorothy Anderson, Mary Helen Dietrich, Treva Muchmore, Twila Perrin, Betsy Wright, Dorothy Thomas, Ethel Cambridge, Pauline Dinnis, Dorothy Lavish, Pat Catlin, Alice McCampbell, Beth Hannish.
