Grote, Hunt win laurels for UN

Scarlet and Cream cindermen captured one first place, tied for another, and took one third, fourth and fifth place in the 32nd annual Drake relays at Des Moines Friday and Saturday.

Big Six champion Herb Grote heaved the javelin 211.27 feet in Friday's preliminaries and won the event without throwing in the finals.

Harold Hunt, Husker pole vaulter, soared 13 feet 8 inches in the air to share first place vault honors with William Williams of Wisconsin. Vic Schleich tossed the iron ball 49 feet, 1 inch to take second place as the highly touted Al Blozis of Georgetown heaved the shot 53 feet, 5 1/4 inches, winning the event but failing to set a new record.

Alto Nebraska finished fourth in the sprint medley relay Friday, the Cornhuskers led the American record breaking Texas team until the last exchange of the baton when fumbling caused the Nebraska lads to lose their lead.

Half mile relay team of the Huskers finished in third place while Ray Prochaska took fifth place in the discus.

A tip top team . . .

Old Uncle Joe McCarthy's Yankees are right where the diamond prophets said they would be when the first signs of spring put themselves forward. With this clan setting the pace in flag race it looks like a "goody" with much chance for change because the sneakers, Cleveland Indians and Detroit Tigers are in fourth and sixth place respectively. Both should and probably will be much closer to the top notch before the season moves too far along.

Things look even more bright for that club with Ernie Bonham, tossing a neat three hit shutout Friday to lead the Yanks to a 6 to 0 victory over the Washington Senators which leaves the New York boys a full game in front of the American league pack.

It's the nuts . . .

Screwiest nine to take the diamond this year are those chaps making up the Brooklyn Dodgers under the equally balmy tutorage of manager "Lippy Leo" Durocher. Current idiosyncrasy is a heated argument over the point of whether "Lippy" can think better and guide his team more competently by playing with them or watching the play from the bench. Manager Leo wants to sit on the bench, in a "reclining position" because he claims his ability comes to the top easier when he is vertical instead of horizontal.

Some of the other kids that he plays with don't look at it from that point of view. Say those of this group, "Uh-uh, the boy's just lazy. Ya can't think any better laying down than you can standing up." "Lippy Leo" was still going strong for his point of view on the basis that both he and the ideas of the opposition should be laid aside and forgot about. Last reports on the drip session say negotiations are going from bed to worse.

They call it baseball . . .

Out of the south comes this story from Starkville, Miss., which should make us say, "Damn, we haven't got such a bad baseball nine at Nebraska after all, maybe." Mississippi State and the boys from Kentucky U got together Friday to "play ball." Here's what happened. Mississippi State players collected three homers, five triples, two doubles and 15 singles in defeating the Kentucky Kernels, 29 to 2. They sold popcorn, too.

had a grand time and congratulate Wesleyan on their success.

As an extra highlight of the convention the girls tried to persuade Betty "Pootsie" Newman to put on her little dance which is staged at the Kosmet Klub show. She refused with the modesty of a great artist.

You can purchase your tickets for the Orchestral recital at the WAA office. After hearing the remarks of the delegates, I am sure it is something no one should miss.

Dr. Rosenlof to speak at convention in Illinois

Dr. G. W. Rosenlof, director of admissions, will be the speaker on a dinner program at the annual convention of the Illinois Conference of Parents and Teachers in Belleville, Ill., May 1. His subject will be "This Is Our World."

Husker nine drops two tilts to Missouri Tigers

After a severe drubbing at the hands of the Missouri Bengals on Friday, the Husker baseball nine came back yesterday afternoon to hold the champion Tiger outfit to a 5 to 1 victory.

Swanson missed the chance to tie or win his own game when he grounded out to the Missouri third baseman.

On the mound for Nebraska was Ernie Swanson who gave up five hits during the tilt. The Missouri team tied into two of his pitches after he had issued a pair of passes in the fifth to gather in a pair of runs that were the high-spot of their win.

Tigers drub Huskers, in opening tilt

Bill Spenser, Missouri moundman, turned in a four hit game to smother the Cornhusker nine 17 to 1 Friday afternoon on the Tiger diamond.

Pitching duties for the Tigers were carried by Frank Graham, who gave up six hits that were well scattered thruout the nine innings. His record shows no more than one hit in any one inning. In the eighth, Sauer and Herndon for the Huskers had hit safely and Dean Jackson took a base on balls

The Nebraska squad was unable to hit the offerings of Spenser until the sixth inning when Dean Jackson broke the spell. Later, in the seventh, the Cornhuskers knocked out three blows to send in their only score.

The game opened Missouri's Big Six conference baseball season.

In a nutshell—your sports shorts over news of the day

By Duke Schatz.

Nebraska trackmen returned from California with a high opinion of Berkeley Hospitality. The Bears turned out a good crowd for the Cornhusker dual meet there, and it's rumored that California will be a definite fixture on the schedule. Coach Hamilton will bring the Bears to Lincoln for a return meet next May. And don't be surprised if the track relations blossom into football relations.

Les MacMitchell, New York's champion miler, paced his team to two Penn Relay victories as he ran a 4:13.6 anchor mile and a 1:51.1 anchor half that earned N. Y. U. victories over Indiana, cream of the Big Ten relay teams.

Thurlo McCrady, coach at Hastings college, Nebraska, was appointed director of athletics at South Dakota State. The late Knute Rockne once called McCrady an outstanding student of Football in the midwest.

Huskers Eddie Schwartzkopt and Butch Wertman are now serving their terms as Sergeants with the 110th quartermaster regiment at Camp Robinson, Arkansas.

The DiMaggio family outranks any other baseball family in history for all around playing skill. Joe is playing for the Yankees, Dominic wears a Boston Red Sox suit, and Vince is getting base hits for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The two New York teams, Yankees and Giants, are both holding substantial leads in their leagues. The Yanks are leading Boston .667 to .600, and the Giants are ahead of Brooklyn .800 to .667. Who knows? A New York world series.

Minnesota's George Franck who ran the Cornhusker football team ragged last fall is also cutting capers for the Gophers' track squad. Franck runs the century in less than 10 seconds consistently.

Hank Greenberg, Detroit slugger, will hang up his fielders' glove for a year as he soon leaves to spend a year with Uncle Sam. Detroit will sorely miss Greenberg, who helped clout them to the American league flag last summer.

Minnesota nine meet Huskers in home game

The University of Nebraska baseball team will open its home schedule against the Minnesota Gophers on the university diamond next Monday and Tuesday. The first game will start at 4 p. m. as usual, but the Tuesday tilt will begin an hour earlier due to a previously scheduled R. O. T. C. parade which begins at 5 o'clock.

A shakeup in the team schedules from an earlier date to what was to have been an open date is responsible for the change in time.

More than half the 2,200 students at the University of Arkansas are working to help pay their way through school.

Now that the annual WAA convention is over we can sort of settle back and pay more attention to intramurals. But first maybe you'd like to hear a little about what went on out at Wesleyan. The convention opened with an informal luncheon and the rest of the day was spent attending meetings. Jeannette Mickey and Maryellen Robison led two of the groups and left a fine impression of what WAA does on this campus. A banquet climaxed the day with Dean B. E. McProud giving the main address. Saturday, those delegates, whom the call girls could get out of bed, met for breakfast. Convention business was concluded in the morning and a farewell luncheon followed. Orchestras put on the same program as they will give at their recital May 2, plus a demonstration of technique, as the closing feature of the convention. All of the girls
