deserving special mention is that of Sig Ep Bill Biles and Alpha Phi Mary Ruth Rhodes. It seems that the lad was too bashful to ask her to take his pin, so he gave it to her roommate, Mary Bird, and asked her to give it to Mary Ruth. Romance by proxy, we'd call it.

Just to spike

any steady rumors connecting her with John Weingarten, Kappa Doty Koenig will do her dating this Saturday night with none other than Bill Sweeney. And double-sister Mary Lou Koenig is complicating that lovely little triangle among Pat Catlin, Phi Delt Bob Gillespie, and George Cockle by dating the latter lad more than just now and then.

The other member of the Cockle duo at the Beta house—one John, by name—thinks the Delta Gammas are pretty swell. Not only does he date Tee-tee Talbot quite a lot, but he also took Jo Wray to a show the other night while her O. A. O. Stoddart studied law.

Rave notices

from the DU house are reaching the ears of this writer. It seems that Bob Adams not only was unruffled by the news of old steady Janie Ellis going steady with Tom Horn, but he has his eye on another little brunette. This time it's Theta Aline Hosman, often wooed but never won.

Tomorrow night

members of the Cornhusker staff will dine in style at the Cornhusker. Occasion is the premiere showing of the 1941 book, which will be distributed on Saturday.

Altho M. K. Wellinger has not yet announced it on her program, we hear that DG Gen Harmon has been wearing the Sig Alph pin of Bob Ludwick for nearly a week now.

"I saw it, but I didn't have a dime," admitted Fiji BMOC "Pete" Spahn. If you remember the conquest of the Stephen's Susies, you'll recall an item concerning one enthusiastic little woman who was going to fly back up for a date with Gerry. The visit didn't materialize, but Pete may be comforted by a series of pictures of the gal in question in the latest issue of "Look." Shall we take up a collection, boys?

Campus casanovas of past semesters, Beta Bob Gannon and Sig Ep Bill Kovanda, blew into town Wednesday night.

That faraway look in the eyes of Bob Sauer is pointed in the direction of New Hampshire. When "Wormy" went to Concord last summer to visit his brother George, N. Y. U. head coach, a cute little Chi Omega caught his eye, one Becky Williams. All of which settles Bob's vacation plans.

Let's all take astronomy next semester, it sounds like fun! At any rate, the kiddies in that course had a star-gazing lab from two to four A. M. (!) yesterday morning. Official, too! Then, we understand, a group of them whipped out to the Calumet for coffee and sinkers, after which they popped down to the Alpha Phi house at 5:30 for a little impromptu serenading. So that accounts for the rather sleepy-eyed condition yesterday of Alpha Phi's Sarah Bane, Georgia Covey, Mary Bird, "Beanie" Allen, and Tri Delt Ruth Iverson.

Four Iowa faculty members to nutrition convo for defense

. . . May 26 to 28

Called by President Roosevelt, four Iowa State faculty members will attend a three day national nutritional conference for defense in Washington from May 26 to 28 under the direction of Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt.

"How to bridge the gap quickly between low incomes and nutritionally adequate diets," is the main concern of the conference.

"For the first time in the history of the country, we are collectively sitting down to discuss doing something about the nutrition problem of our people," stated Dr. Nelson. "It is significant that at last we are considering human resources just as we have been considering armaments and munitions."

At least 45 million persons today have inadequate diets, McNutt has pointed out. This is primarily because their incomes are so low they cannot afford to buy sufficient quantities of dairy products, leafy vegetables and other vitamin-rich foods.

If the average consumption of these protective foods by all families in this country could be raised to the level of those whose diets would be rated "good," there would be large increases in consumption, he continued.

Guests at the dinner included Col. Thuis, field artillery officers staff, Lieutenant-Colonel Peyton, and Captain Stallwitz of the seventh corps headquarters.

Simmons college offers course in library science

THE CLOTHES LINE

Casual spring days

have taken over the department and when the salesmen present a pleasant wistful face along with your choice in this season's shoes, you'll know what we mean. Julia Gurley does, and when she journeys to her next picnic she'll be fancy free and casually clad in comfortable white moccasins from Ben Simon's 4th floor shoe department. Browsing up there we saw a dazzling array of oxfords, casual shoes with wedge heels, any and all kinds of shoes for a gay, playful time. Marge Christenson on her periodic trip to Simon's chose white leather slip-ons with open toe and heel.

Looking toward exciting summer parties Theta Aline Hosman chose from Simon's a pair of sandals . . . many colored . . . open toe and high heel . . . and a strap over the instep. A striking slipper we saw yesterday to be worn with your summer formal was a beautifully made cream doeskin with an open toe and heel. Among the always-good spectators for that smart dressed-up look, Simon's display various color combinations and also the all-white. Made of white buck with a bump toe and high heels, they make a smart combination with your favorite spring or summer dress. Hattie Costello purchased a pair of black and white spectators recently. Simon's also have them in beige, blue, brown, or snake-skin in combinations with white. Better pick out shoes with an added bit of smartness before leaving school for a pleasant summer—in other words spend a few minutes on Simon's fourth floor.

DG Ann Thomas

has gone Hawaiian, following a smart style trend of the season, with a full-skirted Hawaiian print dress from Hovland's. Two slit pockets and a low cut square neckline characterize this outfit. Could it have been purchased for summer days with an admirer from Notre Dame? Hovland's are featuring smooth looking casual play clothes for summer . . . such as the one Shirley Woods selected recently . . . a striking brown linen number.

It's on ice . . .

dry ice at that . . . we mean those clever picnic suggestions from Fairmonts. Chocolate ice cream bars or brick ice cream cut and wrapped in individual slices to make the food an important part of the picnic. All you have to do is to call 6-2326 and they'll deliver, or stop in at any dealers on your way out of town. In the woods, or under the trees at Linoma, Fairmont's will mean as much as the girl . . . or almost.

It's University night

at Capital Beach Saturday with free tickets and a general good time to be had by all. You'll find the ad in this copy of the Rag. Want some exciting, romantic moments with "her"? Then you'll head for the new Pretzel Ride . . . complete with soft darkness, mysterious tunnels. But you'll also want to swim, dance, and skate at the amusement park which has an especial interest in giving you a good time.

You'll find

The most personal, appreciated of gifts expressing a genuine recognition . . . at Boyd's Jewelry, 1144 O Street . . . that distinctive article you'll enjoy giving, for nothing is more in the spirit of recognition than a brooch, a fine watch, a beautiful ring . . . gifts for the individual . . . individualized and smart. And if you're troubled by a particular graduation gift problem, let Boyd's help you . . . they like to . . . it's their business.

Stylish or casual, smart or care-free . . . Cleta's, 1127 R Street, will give you an added zest for living. A new hair-do will do wonders to put interest into warm, lazy spring and summer days. Cleta's expert staff will fashion your hair to fit your mood and personality . . . they give that extra service in hair dressing at no extra cost.

Along about this time of the semester we're about as broke as a poor student can be and still exist. So our usual meals at Hamburger Inn are even more pleasant than usual . . . you see we like not only the food, but the prices as well.

Comes the last of May and graduation gifts trouble many a conscientious mind. It's no easy matter to select something for an elated senior that he'll really appreciate. Let Gardner's help you. Their range of gifts is so large, you're sure to find something special.

"Mexican Senoritas" join Union staff

In our chatter-boxing around the Union we overheard that Geraldine Smith and Marie Grubaugh are the two "Mexican señoritas" who will add a decorative note to the Pan-American room service Sunday noons and Thursday evenings. 'Midst the Mexican cacti, the new travel posters, and the bright jade and burnt orange color scheme, we feel more and more in the spirit of the South American way. Roast turkey is the special on these special days. The Pan-American room at the Union is our idea of where the Good Neighbor policy begins, hospitality and good food—what more could you ask!

The hat for spring . . .

with its lilt like the song of a thrush we heard in a tree south of U Hall. Nancee's call it a cocoanut straw . . . it's of natural fibre and as fascinating as anything we've seen in women's bonnets. Its brim is appealingly feminine. Turn it down for a somewhat coy effect during warm hours to come . . . and cool evenings too. You'll love the loose weave that lets summer breezes caress your hair, without disturbing it in the least. By all means you'll want to see it . . . at Nancee's, 133 So. 13.
