

Swimmer . . .

"Anne was very intense and always expected a lot from herself. She was attentive and would hold her concentration," Bentz said.

Huppert added that Watland is able to relax, yet keep thinking while she swims.

Watland not alone

This year for the first time in Watland's career she will not be alone because there are now additional distance swimmers on the team.

"We recruited a girl from Bloomington, Minn., who is very good and the two will be good for each other," Huppert said.

Watland is pleased she no longer will be the only distance swimmer on the team.

"I'm really enthusiastic about having people to swim against in practice. More distance swimmers will be good for us as a team and as individuals," she said.

Watland finished first in the Big Eight 500 and 1,650 yard freestyle events two years ago setting records in both. Those records were broken last year by Janet Lindstrom of Kansas who left the Nebraska ace second place in both events. The outlook for improvement is good for the two-year veteran of national collegiate competition.

Huppert expects Watland to not only equal but improve upon those past performances.

"I think that if we keep Anne healthy, she'll be able to do just about anything."

The first test for Watland and the rest of the team will be Nov. 11, in the Cyclone Relay Meet in Ames, Ia. The first home competition for the team will be Nov. 18, when the lady Huskers host Oklahoma in a dual meet.
