

Councilman...

On the subject of city growth he said he would like to see the city grow to the west. He stated that the current council had financial gains to be made by the city growing east and they tried to push it that way.

"The new council won't have the narrow self interests of the old one," he said.

Through his education as a political scientist with a concentration in public administration, he said he thinks he will be able to understand the bureaucracy and give the council a "sense of how it works."

He cited several areas where the city must begin work on.

Zoning, he said, must be done in a more representative manner and more public input should be gathered before changes are made.

He said he hopes the council will "bury the northeast Radial once and for all." The proposed parkway from downtown to 27th street he said, is not a good idea and should be killed.

Better streets

Traffic is not a problem in Lincoln, but some streets need improving, he said.

The Comprehensive Plan, which outlines proposed growth of the city, should be re-evaluated, he said, because the population estimates are too high.

Steinman credited much of his support to his volunteer crew of more than 100 people he said. He said he had lots of support from the university too.

"I had lots of help from the people in Oldfather and Andrews," he said referring to where his support came from. He said he had support in the College of Business Administration as well.

Political Science chairperson Susan Welch said her department was glad about Steinman's election.

"I guess we're what (councilman) Joe Hampton would call card-carrying liberals so we were all pretty happy about it," said Welch.

Fresh face

She added that she thought he would be an open councilman and would bring a fresh viewpoint to the council.

Steinman said the biggest change in the council would be in matters of style.

"We'll be an ear to the ground council because not only do we represent the city but also our own district that we're responsible for."

He said he would be a "conscientious and practical" council member and one who would take into account what the public wanted more than the previous council did.

Steinman left Thursday for a 13 day vacation on the West Coast that includes a conference he is to attend at Stanford University.

He is looking forward to his new role as city council member.

"You never know what it will be like until you experience it, so I guess I'll find out pretty soon," he said.

APART FROM THE CROWD

The Beogram 3400 stands alone. A refined exception to the common run of radial arm turntables, it offers an uncluttered path to high fidelity; refreshingly simple access to music.

You have music at a touch. This one touch activates the tonearm, sets the correct speed, cues the stylus tip, and instructs the turntable to turn itself off when the selection is finished. If a record is absent from the platter, the tonearm will not activate, saving the cartridge from damage. During the play of a record, a touch on Pause immediately lifts the tonearm from the record, another touch returns the stylus tip to exactly the same groove.

Exceptional engineering does the work. Electronic servo drive controls record speed with unvarying accuracy, eliminating the need for strobe lights and markings. Automatic skating force compensation eliminates the need for manual adjustment and remains accurate throughout the play of the record. A patented, three-point pendulum suspension system removes external vibration and shock as a source of distortion.

But you'll want a demonstration. Come in. Let the Beogram 3400 demonstrate how a bit of refinement can make you stand apart from the crowd.

Bang & Olufsen

The Beogram 3400 Turntable is furnished with real rosewood veneer base,inged dust cover, and a Bang & Olufsen WFC Series 20 cartridge.
