Free drop, add hours longer

By Julie Bird

Because of the unusually high number of students who early registered for spring semester about 4,300 students received incomplete schedules, according to Tony Schkade, assistant director of registration and records. Because of the number of students who did not receive all the classes they requested, hours for free drop and add have been extended, Schkade said. Drop and add will be Mon., Dec. 17 through Fri., Dec. 21 in Ferguson.

Monday through Wednesday the hours will be from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. to accommodate the 7,200 students who are expected to participate. Thursday hours will be 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Friday. Students are asked to pick up time appointment cards in the administration building.

More than 18,000 students early registered, Schkade said, which is about 1,000 more than usual during the fall semester. About 3,200 students had incomplete schedules a year ago, he said, adding that the total percentage of incomplete schedules is about the same.

The economics department of the College of Business Administration was affected the most, Schkade said, with the College of Engineering second.

Classes were filled on a first-come, first-serve basis, said Don Osborne, assistant director of registration and records. Seniors who registered during the priority period were assigned classes first, then juniors and so forth. "We look on it as a good sign," Osborne said, referring to the 90 percent early registration figures.

Although many students received incomplete schedules, they still have time to register for alternate times or classes, Schkade said. If they had waited for general registration, they probably would be able to get few of the classes they wanted.

Early registration also gives individual departments a chance to adjust their classes in terms of size and number of sections offered, Schkade said.

But the economics department has not been able to adjust as it would like, said Ted Roesler, chairman of the department. In the most crowded courses, 738 students did not receive placement, he said, and many others also received incomplete schedules.

LUTHER ALLISON

Monday thru Wednesday

Luther has been described as being a cross between B.B. King and Jimi Hendrix. This description has some merit as he is an extremely gifted showman and his blues roots are well established. He has many recordings to his credit and is also considered one of the most well-traveled bluesmen, constantly being on the road taking his blues all across this country as well as Canada and Europe. Talk to anyone that has seen Luther Allison perform—He's a gas.

Alligator Recording Artist
ALBERT COLLINS
Thursday thru Saturday

Along with being Alligator Records' No. 1 seller, Albert is probably the most original and inventive blues-guitarists alive. He sounds like no one but himself. Coming from Houston, Texas Albert invented a blues style that is as dynamic and powerful as they come. His band features A.C. Reed on sax and Casey Jones on drums. It's one very tight and dynamic group that shouldn't be missed. See why Albert's newest album was voted the top blues release of the year in France. $3.00 Thurs. -- $3.50 Fri & Sat
