Food lovers can order a box of six 8-ounce steak fillets for only $95.00.

You can take all of this with a grain of salt and not get too worked up. But if you stop and seriously consider the extravagance of people who will pay almost $3,000 for a dog house at a time when many people in our society don't have a decent place to live, you have to wonder about the values of this society.

International Contact Lens
MALBAR VISION CENTERS

WHAT IS CONTACT LENS CARE?

Cheri Heller/Dan Ernst
 Students—University of Nebraska

Here's what they taught us at International:

- Contact lens care is the diagnosis, treatment and management of the eyes prescribing contact lenses as the therapy of choice.
- Contact lens care demands a thorough knowledge of corneal physiology, anatomy and disease. It requires time, patience and compassion by doctors who constantly upgrade their knowledge and skills through continuing education.
- Contact lens care is the most complex of all vision care. An extensive visual analysis, detailed evaluation of eye structures, and professional judgement as to proper lens type and suitability to the physiology of the eye are of utmost importance. The success of contact lenses depends on proper patient education in cleaning, insertion, removal, wetting, and sterilization of the lenses, and learning to respect them as an optical prescription worn on the eye.
- Contact lens care is not a single experience but a continuing evaluation of vision, the integrity and stability of the lenses and, most important, the health of the external tissues of the eye for as long as the patient wears lenses. They really care about that at INTERNATIONAL!
- Contact lens care is not a technical procedure but a professional responsibility that must be performed by qualified licensed professionals. And with the popularity of extended wear contact lenses, that responsibility is even greater.
