ASUN plans to improve relations

By KASEY KERBER
Staff Reporter

In its first senate meeting of the school year, the Association of Students of the University of Nebraska discussed plans for the upcoming semester Wednesday night.

Among the topics discussed were Chancellor James Moeser's proposed "code of ethics" and improving relations with minority organizations, said

ASUN President Eric Marintzer.

Marintzer said he was pleased ASUN could help Moeser with the project, and said that it would "hopefully increase student unity and campus safety."

Plans to improve ASUN's relations with minority organizations were also announced.

First Vice President Jason Bynum said many minority organizations had felt "left out" during ASUN's March election.

"I would like to have about five senators come with me to as many minority organizations as possible," Bynum said.

In other ASUN news Senate Bill No. 3 was passed - recognizing seven student organizations, including the Faith Bible Church, the UNL Footbag Club, the UNL Local Practitioners Organization, the NASC Staffers at UNL, Second Amendment Students' Association, Students for Bereuter and Students for Hagel.

Health center, union shops adjust hours

From Staff Reports

Just as students figure out their class times, some campus services are changing their hours.

One service with a new schedule is the University Health Center. The center's hours have changed this fall because of lack of late night use by students last year.

The health center used to be open until 10 p.m. Monday through Friday. It is now open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m.

The health center is trying to be more cost effective, said Carol Ash, communications coordinator. Not enough students came to the center last year between 8 p.m. and 10 p.m. to make the extra hours worth staying open, she said.

Clinic hours for appointments remain the same, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. On weekends and holidays, the clinic takes appointments from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. The urgent care facilities, open until 8 in the evening, are for treating minor injuries or emergencies.

Students needing after-hours care are advised to call Ask-A-Nurse at 473-5500.

Students who stay on campus over the Labor Day weekend may have to look for a study and dining alternative to the Nebraska Union. The building will be closed Sunday and Monday and will have shortened hours during the rest of the holiday weekend.

Friday, the union will open at 7 a.m. and close at 9 p.m. The Bakery and restaurants hours will end at 4 p.m. The University Bookstore will close at 5 Friday night and the recreation room will stay open until 6 p.m.

Saturday, the building will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Only Burger King and Subway will be open in the union. Both will close at 4 p.m.

Tuesday, the union will resume normal hours, but the rec room will be closed. Amigos and Imperial Palace Express will close at 5 p.m.

Food service closed for fall

From Staff Reports

The Colonial Room, the Nebraska Union's food service, will be closed for the fall because of the union's expansion.

Starting Wednesday, however, the union will offer U-Lunch Express, a lunch delivery service for offices on campus.

The service will provide sandwiches, salads, side dishes and beverages.

Faculty and staff can leave their orders at 472-2222.

Lincoln youth need mentors

From Staff Reports

Students who need volunteer hours for a university program or who are just willing to help can apply to the Lincoln Action Program, which is looking for 50 to 60 college-age mentors.

The mentors are matched with at-risk youth in Lincoln and are encouraged to attend meetings, tutor and be a friend to the young people.

The national program is funded by a grant from the U.S. Justice Department and helps 6,000 at-risk youth in 25 states.

The program is short in adult male mentors, because there is an abundance of boys in the program. Mentors are matched with youth of the same gender.

The program will begin Oct. 7. Students interested can call Tanya Smith at 471-4515.
