Mr. and Mrs. Francis Clark announce the birth of a son, Ronald Joseph on Saturday, November 1. Mrs. Clark and son are doing very nicely at the Stuart hospital.

A birthday party for Ernest and Erwin Kloppenberg, was held at the Kloppenberg home Sunday evening for several people. Bud Cole drove into a ditch and the car was laid up for repairs Monday. Bobby Cole had his lip cut in the accident, and on the way home from the party Grant Peacock and Clara Lowery failed to stop at the stop sign before pulling on to the highway and ran into the side of Charles Abart's car. The fenders of the Abart car were badly jammed as was the door. No one was very badly injured though the occupants of the Abart car were badly shaken.

Hallowe'en visitors at the school house over the week-end did considerable damage. A lock was broken on a cupboard and all of the seats and desks were piled in the center of the room. One of the buildings had a hole broken in the door. It is regrettable that property has to be destroyed at this time of the year.

FEDERAL LAND BANK HELPS POISON RATS

The Federal Land Bank of Omaha and the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation are two organizations that took quite a part in the state's rat control campaign. These organizations offered to pay for poison material to $1.00 for each of their improved farms. Since $1.00 is enough to provide for good poisoning and a cleanup baiting on the average farm this paved the way for many Nebraskans to rid their farms of rats with little or no cost to themselves. A large number of other farmers in Holt County made an effort to take part in the "rat campaign" according to the number of inquiries received by county agent Lyndle Stout. Regardless of how many rats were killed by the wholesale baiting carried on at Holt County on Hallowe'en night, without a doubt a few of them escaped. That's why a cleanup campaign is a good idea. Another good meal about 10 days from now will probably finish the job. Rat poison can be obtained at any drug store.

The Jolly Stars project club met at the home of Mrs. C. V. Cole-Thursday. Ten members and two visitors were present.
