

THE DAYS OF LONG AGO

Fifty-Five Years Ago

The Frontier, January 6, 1887
The coldest day of the season was January 1, it being 30 degrees below zero that morning. It was clear and bright however and not half so disagreeable as other days when the wind blew hard and the thermometer at about zero.

The Frontier, January 13, 1887
Patrick Egan, ex-president of the Irish National League and John Fitzguald, the present executive head of that society, both of Lincoln are expected to attend a meeting of the league in O'Neill next Sunday afternoon.

The Frontier, January 20, 1887
One would suppose from the amount of hogs shipped out of O'Neill last fall and early winter that they were getting pretty well hinned out, but such is not the case. During the past three or four weeks Messrs Weekes & Beebe shipped sixteen carloads taking in seven loads in one week.

Other dealers have done as much correspondingly and still there seems to be no let up to their incoming. The price Monday and Tuesday was $3.95 per hundred.
Gus D. Doyle and Miss Gertrude Flynn were married at the old home in Grattan Center, Mich., on December 28.

Fifty Years Ago

The Frontier, January 8, 1892
Are lights have been put in the following places: J. P. Mann's, P. C. Corrigan's, Morris and Co's, M. M. Sullivan's J. J. McCafferty's, Higgins and Gibbons', Gallagher and O'Neills. They were lit up Tuesday night for the first time.

On Monday morning at an early hour was solemnized the marriage of four O'Neill citizens as follows: William Gallagher to Miss Maggie Murphy; Thomas McDonald to Miss Sarah Gallagher. Rev. M. F. Cassidy performed the ceremony.

The papers are full of the Indian uprising at Pine Ridge S. D. and people in this section of the state are looking for real trouble. O'Neill had a company of Home Guards and they were ready and willing to go.

A telegram was sent to Captain Brennan of the home guards on Tuesday supposing to come from the governor, ordering our boys up west. There was considerable hustling among them and some of them were pretty warm about it when they found it was a hoax. Not warm because they did not have to go but because of the needless trouble caused them.

The Frontier, January 14, 1892
Tuesday morning, January 7, 1892, Mrs. Ada M. Benedict, wife of Judge E. H. Benedict passed away at her home in this city.

The Frontier, January 21, 1892
O'Neill is to have a Keeley Institute. Last Saturday W. D. Mathews was in Blair and visited Keeley institute at that place. He had a long talk with the physician in charge and from him learned the Company intended to start two other institutes in the state. "Doc" asked about the chances of O'Neill getting one and was informed that if the O'Neill people would organize a stock company capitalized at $20,000, and our citizens would take half of the stock, paying in $5,000.00, they would establish an institute here. When Mr. Mathews came home the meeting was called and the money raised for the Institute so it is only a short time until we will have one established here.

Mrs. John Keeley died last Sunday at her home northwest of town. She was an old time resident of the county.

The thermometer registered 20 degrees below zero Monday and Tuesday of this week.
News reached O'Neill last Friday night of the death that afternoon of Mrs. Bartley Blain, formerly county superintendent. She was 58 years of age.

Forty Years Ago

The Frontier, January 2, 1902
A party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Golden Friday evening in honor of their daughter, Lillie's sixteenth birthday. Dancing and games furnished the entertainment. One o'clock lunch was served.

The Nebraska Field Trial Association was organized in the city last Monday and the Association expects to hold a field trial here next September. The officers of the Association are: J. E. Summers, Jr., Omaha, president; O. F. Biglin, vice president; M. H. McCarthy, secretary; R. R. Dickson, treasurer.

The Frontier, January 9, 1902
Bennet Martin succeeds Charley Hall as street and water commissioner, Mr. Hall resigning to the county.

New faces greeted those who entered the treasurer's office today. Deputy Donohoe being the only old employee left. Treasurer Cronin has selected Miss Nellie McHugh, who with P. J. O'Donnell will attend to the clerical work in the office, until such time as Mr. O'Donnell succeeds to the office of deputy.

E. S. Gilmour of Ewing, took over the office of county clerk this week, with James C. Rasmish as deputy.

The Frontier, January 16, 1902
O'Neill land men are doing a land office business.

The county board met last Monday and organized by electing R. J. Marsh as chairman for the ensuing year.

Thirty Years Ago

The Frontier, January 4, 1912

F. J. Dishner left Wednesday morning for California where he expects to remain the next three months, visiting the many points of interest in that state.

Residents of the county have been experiencing some good winter weather the past ten days.

The mercury has ranged around fifteen to twenty below zero every morning for the past ten days, going to 24 below Wednesday morning, which was the coldest day so far this winter.

This morning O. O. Snyder sold his residence on east Douglas street to Sanford Parker for $6,000. This is one of the finest residence properties in town.

The Frontier, January 11, 1912
A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. B. Welton in this city yesterday afternoon when her youngest daughter, Etha G., was united in marriage to Floyd L. Pilger of Plainview, Judge Carlon officiating.

The new county board organized last Tuesday morning by electing W. P. Simar of Atkinson chairman.

The Frontier, January 18, 1912
John Horriskey has been elected janitor of the Court house for the ensuing year, succeeding Ed McBride who has held the position for the past two years.

Ralph B. Pinkerman and Miss Fay E. Wilson, of Red Bird, were united in marriage at the office of the County Judge last Wednesday.

O. B. Long, one of the pioneers of the northeastern part of the County, passed away at his home at Scottville Tuesday night.

Last Friday night was the coldest experienced in this city for years. Different thermometers registered from 38 to 40 degrees below zero. As this is the third straight week in which it registered from 15 to 40 below, people are beginning to think they are having an extra hard winter.

Twenty Years Ago

The Frontier, January 5, 1922
Miss Josephine Stahly and Carl Lawrence were united in marriage by Rev. Hutchins at the Methodist parsonage December 22.

Miss Demars Stout left the first of the week for Lincoln, after spending the Christmas season at home.

Mrs. Gerald Miles and daughter returned to their home at Fremont Wednesday, after an extended visit with Mr. and Mrs. George Miles.

The Frontier, January 12, 1922

The Frontier, January 21, 1932
Charles C. Leidy, age 87 years died Wednesday at his home at Inman. He had been a resident of that section for 37 years.

The building of the O'Neill Battery Company was completely gutted by a fire Thursday morning at 11:15. Considerable damage was done to the tools and equipment most of it being destroyed.

Highest Cream Prices In NEBRASKA

37c A Pound Butterfat

The State Department and some of the cream corporations say we have no right to pay dividends in any way to you for your cream and if we do our cream buying license will be cancelled and we will be liable for arrest.

SO WHAT!—We may get tossed in jail BUT we can't see any crime paying the farmer what his cream is worth!

We will not have a corporation tell us what to do; they don't milk the cows and do all the other work attached to a can of cream.

NOW we are going to set the HIGHEST PRICE ever paid in O'Neill according to the eastern butter market.

The cream companies may meet our prices but REMEMBER THE LOW PRICES they have paid you in the past.

Bring in your cream and we can FIGHT FOR YOU! Our satisfied customers are our advertising. They have doubled every week since we started.

Come in and see us, you are going to see the highest prices and the biggest fight O'Neill ever saw. Our prices will always go according to the eastern butter market, not what a cream corporation would like to tell us what to pay.
