What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Our army spells and pronounces it pontoon, not "ponton", as you do. Pontoon bridges cost all the way from $15,000 to $700,000. The smaller bridge using individual metal pontoons is pictured here. The largest pontoon bridge is 1,080 feet long and is made of rubber instead of aluminum.

One small bridge has a weight capacity of 25 tons, using about 2,000 individual metal pontoons. The smallest is used only to take troops over smaller streams. But whether our army uses the smaller or largest pontoon, our engineers need plenty of them. If you and every American invests at least 10 percent of income in War Bonds every pay day we can supply our fighting forces with these essentials to a victorious war.

The Garand semi-automatic rifle, which is the standard issue today for the U. S. army, is superior to the old Springfield rifle in many respects. We literally need millions of these fast shooting powerful rifles to equip our army. They cost $85 each and are being manufactured at the rate of one a minute. They fire sixty 30-caliber shells a minute.

Every one of the 40,000,000 employed persons in America could easily buy one of these rifles for the army. Not that we need that many, but the reserve could go into shells and other much needed supplies. Buy more and more War Bonds and top the quota in your county by investing at least ten percent of your income every pay day.

The LEGEND of the LUNCH BOX

★ "The Legend of the Lunch Box" is the story of a nation at war, a nation at work to win that war—A UNITED NATION. We are of the common accord that the WAR MUST BE WON, before anything worthwhile can again be secure. We—the American Freedom-Loving folks that we are—are willing, eager, anxious to do anything within our power to achieve that necessary, vital objective of victory and ultimate peace. Without it, we have nothing—we are nothing! AMERICA HAS ITS SLEEVES ROLLED UP AND HAS GONE TO WORK, HARDER THAN IT EVER WORKED BEFORE TO DO THE GIGANTIC JOB OF ARMING, EQUIPING AND SUSTAINING ITSELF AND ITS ALLIES.

Vitamins for Victory

One essential task for the "home front" is to feed the folks at home who, directly and indirectly, are making war materials and supplies. Because the tasks at hand are demanding more and more of our thought and energy, food—proper, adequate, "vitaminized" food—is getting greater attention than before. Vitamins in our food today are literally "Vitamins for Victory." Nature stored these vitamins in our food naturally. We sometimes waste or destroy them artificially in our food preparation. One way to preserve them is to cook food the new, modern, efficient way—electrically. The "Vitamins for Victory" story is a thrilling one, interesting and easy to adapt in your own home today.
