You May be Affected by War Restrictions on Telephones

To help conserve vital war materials, it has been necessary for the Government to place additional restrictions on the installation and replacement of telephone service and equipment.

We are cooperating fully in the saving of materials needed in the war effort and, although the restrictions will affect many of our customers, we are doing our utmost to provide good telephone service.

The effect of the restrictions on requests for telephone service or equipment depends upon the conditions and circumstances of each particular case.

In most localities we still are able to install some type of service for people who move or want a telephone and our business office will be glad to furnish you full information. Giving us as much advance notice as possible will help us to serve you better.
