DOING DOUBLE DUTY FOR THE DURATION

The rising tempo of America's war effort, coupled with requests for conservation of private motor vehicles, is creating an extraordinary demand for railroad transportation.

Since the imperative need for ships and armaments limits enlargement of railroad facilities at this time, maximum service must be exacted from every car and locomotive.

As good soldiers, we are doing our utmost to maintain, with existing facilities, Burlington's traditionally high transportation standards, confident the patriotic cooperation of travelers and shippers will help America's railroads do double duty for the duration.

Your local Burlington agent can advise you how best to utilize the substantial part of the transportation facilities of the Burlington that are not yet required by war traffic.
