County Court

Four drivers of Iowa trucks, who were working for an Iowa contractor on the Ainsworth airfield, were arrested last week on a complaint filed by E. O. Englehaupt, chief inspector for the Nebraska Railway commission. The men were charged with operating without a certificate of public convenience and necessity issued by the Nebraska State Railway commission. The men arrested were, Carl H. Smith, Robert Bird, Fred Lint and Glen Wilkensen, all of Des Moines. They all appeared in County Court on September 11, pled guilty to the charge and were fined a total of $120 and costs taxed at $20.45, which amount was paid by the contractor.

Lewis Johnson of Atkinson was arrested by Patrolman Meistrel and charged with defective brakes. He appeared in County Court on September 16, 1942, pled guilty and was fined $2.00 and costs of $3.10.

Richard Finwell of Ewing was arrested by Patrolman Meistrel and charged with delinquent operators license. He appeared in County Court on September 10, 1942, pled guilty and was fined $1.00 and costs of $3.10.

Urges Use of Farming Machinery Cooperatively

Instead of buying new farm machinery with Farm Security loan money, farmers in the Holt county FSA program will be aided in getting together on the cooperative use of implements and machinery already in the community.

Gerald S. Graybiel, county FSA supervisor, and the small farmers have a grave responsibility in the matter of contributing to the increase in food production, and they cannot reach their goals if each farmer has to depend on his own machinery alone. Another thing to consider is the fact that much of the steel and other materials used in farm machinery are now required for production of war materials. Arrangements are being worked out, therefore, through the cooperation of the Farm Security Administration for groups of farmers to share, in the use of certain kinds of farm machinery such as tractors, silage cutters, binders, hay balers, etc.

Such groups are usually small, consisting of neighbors who form a cooperative arrangement among themselves, the supervisor said. Some of these cooperatives result in the purchase of new machinery, but may result in better use of available machinery.

Such cooperative arrangements are simple, and participation agreement forms are available at the county Farm Security office, the supervisor said. Included in the agreements are provisions relating to rental charges, kinds of records to be kept, use schedules, etc.

INMAN ITEMS

FRESH FRUITS & VEGETABLES

GREEN PEPPERS—A surplus enables us to sell them at an exceptionally low price. Use them to give the baked dinner an added zest by stuffing them with ground meat. Put up a few jars of your favorite relish, using Green Peppers as a base. Our price is 5c per pound.

CABBAGE—Restrictions on the canning of Sauerkraut in tin should encourage everyone to make their own kraut. Our price of 2 1/2c on fresh cabbage makes this one of the most economical vegetable dishes.

PARSNIPS, RUTABAGAS, ACORN SQUASH and SWEET POTATOES are some of the items that will tempt the appetite during cool weather. Ample supplies of these vegetables at Council Oak.

VISION Was Never More VITAL!

GOOD LIGHT WILL HELP THE FIGHT

Check the lighting in your home, at your office, factory, store. EVERYWHERE good lighting is essential—especially now when everyone is geared to a wartime tempo of living, and efficiency in everything we do is the watchword.

Guard Your Eyesight Against Eyestrain

For eyestrain can bring on nervous fatigue as well as other damaging effects to morale and health. Especially is eyestrain a danger to younger ages—children school age are most susceptible. Check up on the lamps used for studying or reading. Look at the bulbs and make sure they are not blackened or dimmed. Good eyesight is a natural heritage. Guard it, keep it protected with GOOD LIGHT, more so now than ever before because good vision was never more vital!

Consult Lighting Department of

Eyestrain can tire a man as much as a 10-mile march. Eye-fatigue is physical fatigue. It saps strength, energy, efficiency. Improved light can often turn an 8-hour worker into a 10-hour producer.
