Invasion Tactics Used in Opening Second Front

American troops were trained intensively for the invasion of North Africa. Before the U. S. army task force members were assigned to the new invasion group they spent a considerable period in carefully directed maneuvers under simulated attack conditions. That they learned their lesson well is confirmed by their remarkable success in the initial stages of the opening of the second front in North Africa. The pictures were taken during maneuvers, by the U. S. Signal Corps.

U. S. Boston Bombers Raid Le Havre

United States air force Boston bombers, also known as the Douglas A-20 C's, attacked Le Havre docks in a daylight raid. This photo, which is one of the clearest of its kind that has been made during this war, shows one of the Bostons over the target area as the first stick of bombs of the attack breaks on and near the western end of the quay in the Bassin De Maree, where there are E and R boat pens. During this attack, bombers were escorted by U.S.A.A.F. fighter planes.

Grim Humor Among Our Fighting Allies

Courage and grim humor mark the spirit of our Allies in the fight against the Axis aggressors. The picture shows South African soldiers at an anti-aircraft battery in Kenya, Africa, ready for all comers. Their signpost speaks for itself.

Big Ben Poses

"Il Duce in the zone of operations," says the caption on this photo, which appeared in an Italian propaganda magazine. Obviously, the "zone of operations" was in North Africa, if the tropical helmets of the soldiers, diplomatically air brushed into the background by the artist, are any indication. Recently the "zone of operations" became a race-track for Il Duce's men.

As U. S. Rangers Arrived at Oran

This photograph, radioed from London to New York, and sound-phoed to Chicago, shows United States Rangers and equipment arriving at a beach near Oran, Algeria, in boats as they prepared to occupy the French possessions on the north Mediterranean shore. In between the two key ports, Algiers and Oran, American landings encountered only slight resistance and made deep penetrations. This is one of the first pictures of land operations to arrive in America.

Jimmy Wilde Jr. Boxes in Desert

The spirit of that famous old-time boxer, Jimmy Wilde, was hovering over the western desert of Egypt recently, when Jimmy Wilde Jr., son of the former world champion, boxed with another airman for the entertainment of their buddies. Jimmy Jr., who knows how to put up his dukes, by the way, is shown at the left.

A Batch of Rubber

Using an ordinary bakery mixer, Tom (left) and Jimmy Richards of Los Angeles, who call themselves "monkey wrench researchers," are shown turning out a batch of the synthetic rubber they have developed. They say it can be produced from waste vegetable matter, waste milk, etc., and can be made for 35 cents a pound, compared with 40 to 70 cents for other synthetics. They say Rubber Czar Jeffers is "interested."
