

High-Flying Warbirds Will Help Bring Victory

Picture at top gives you a fair idea of the B-24 Liberator bomber, which is shown with the entire 174-man crew which flies and maintains the sky giant. Eighty-two men—count 'em—put an approximate seven tons weight on its expansive wings. Below, left: The Corsair. This sleek, deadly sky raider is one of the newest of U. S. navy fighting planes. Note long narrow fuselage and the inverted gull wings of this carrier-based fighter. Center: The Sea Gull, our navy's newest pontoon-equipped scout observation plane. Can be launched by catapult from battleships and cruisers. Right: The Avenger, the navy's new torpedo bombers, capable of hedge-hopping waves to press home a torpedo attack and flying high above enemy targets to drop tons of high explosives. Carrier-based.

As Allied Forces Put Heat on Gen. Rommel in Tunisia

U. S. Planes on Way to Harass Enemy

An unpleasant sight for Axis eyes is this cargo of planes on the way to battlefields, where they will harass the enemy. As they near their destination the accompanying vessels of the convoy swing astern of the carrier with its precious cargo. Army mechanics can be seen giving the planes a final checkup.

'Yippees' on Patrol

Sailing ships, too, are being used by the U. S. navy in the fight against enemy submarines. Ships like these, known as "Yippees," patrol the inshore waters.

Grand Old Man Feels Call of Spring

Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia A's, grand old man of baseball, feels the call of spring and steps up to take a cut at the ball during training session at Wilmington, Del., baseball park. Bob Swift catches for the "boss," while Felix Mackewicz and Jo Jo White look on.

Follows Betsy Ross

Seated in the same chair used by Betsy Ross when she made the original American flag for George Washington, little Margaret McCloskey, four, descendant of Betsy Ross, sews a Red Cross flag.

House Rejects Tax Proposals in Wild Session

The house of representatives climaxes a fiery session by refusing to accept the Ruml plan to forgive ten billion on 1942 income taxes to put taxpayers on a pay-as-you-go basis, as well as the administration's collect-at-the-source tax bill which would have started collecting 20 per cent from paychecks on July 1. The ways and means committee was ordered to bring out a new bill that would help put the nation's income taxpayers on a pay-as-you-go basis. In this photo, made after the votes had been counted, Representative Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina, supporter of the administration tax plan, and its leader, is congratulated by Representative Frank Carlson of Kansas, leader of the Ruml forces, who had embodied its proposals in his plan.

Food for Thought

New Tea Towels Add Gayety to the Kitchen

Animated cutlery, dishes, glassware, pots and pans bring their infectious gaiety to a new set of tea towels. They offer a mixing bowl parade, a knife, fork and spoon dash, the soup spoon dance, and four more equally interesting tea towel designs, with a trio of teaspoons as motif for a matching panholder. Outline embroidery does the set in a jiffy—it could even be done in running stitch.

Blind Children Taught Gardening

Combining a patriotic duty with healthful exercise and occupation for blind children, the New York Institute for the Education of the Blind is converting most of the 15 acres of flower beds which adorned the campus of the school into a victory garden. Here we see the youngsters at work in the future garden. They work in roped-off lanes to prevent hurting each other with the garden tools.

Fly From China

Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese ambassador to London, and Gen. P. H. Whang, military attache to the Chinese embassy in Washington, are shown after their arrival in Miami, Fla., from Chungking. They flew from the Chinese capital by army plane. Dr. Koo was en route to London, but visited Washington first.

Peaceful Meal in African War Zone

Axis nuisance raids in North Africa are so frequent that the pilots and ground crewmen of this advanced U. S. bomber base in Algeria find it much more comfortable to have their meals in slit trenches, where they can go right on eating while the Jerries or Eyties are having their fun. This base is near the Tunisian border.

Jungle Fighter

The U. S. army jungle issue is something to behold—when it's visible. It is designed not only to conceal, but to meet other necessities in the dense growth of the tropics. This soldier is all set for island fighting. If it's raining he has his poncho to drape around him. His face is protected from insect pests by a mosquito netting.

General Patch Decorated in Guadalcanal

Vice Admiral Aubrey W. Fitch (right) is shown as he pinned the Navy Distinguished Service Medal on Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Patch, in command of U. S. troops at Guadalcanal, shortly after the army relieved the marines here. Looking on are Brig. Gen. R. L. Spragins, corps chief of staff, and Brig. Gen. William E. Woodward, artillery chief.
