OVERNMENT, business and the press all Junite in approving the job banks are doing in financing war production. Quietly and efficiently, the process of financing goes on every day, in every community. The 15,000 American banks are seeing to it that the billions of dollars needed by business firms and individuals keep flowing smoothly in an endless procession of loans. All who need money are invited to apply for a loan at this bank.

Where Will Money Come From?

People ask: "Where will the money come from?" to reach the thirteen-billion dollar objective of the Second War Loan. The answer is simple. The people HAVE the income.

When we produce munitions or peacetime goods, or anything else, we likewise produce income. For every dollar of production, there is a dollar of

The problem of war finance boils down to this-if individuals and businesses receive more income after taxes than there are things produced for them to buy, then excess funds arise. The government deficit is matched by the combined surplus of everybody else. This surplus should be put into Government securities to wipe out that deficit.

They give their lives . . . You lend your money.

No Need to Spend More For Shoes, Just Because

When a limit is set on what we buy of anything, we decide at once to use our precious ration tickets for the BEST we can buy.

But the best does not mean the most expensive. In shoes, for instance, there's no need to pay more than Penney shoe prices. Penney shoe quality has proved itself, regardless of price, over many, many years, with millions of customers.

Take our men's dress shoes, for instance. The leathers are selected with the painstaking care you would expect in shoes costing much more. We use the same constructions as you find in expensive shoes. And the workmanship, down to the last stitch, is superb!

Is there any reason, then, to pay more for your shoes than you pay

"You can't imagine, Judge, how much comfort Louise and I got out of reading that recent report made by the government on drinking habits in and around Army camps. If you hadn't loaned us your copy we'd still be worrying about our Jim ... all because of those silly rumors goin' around."

"I'm mighty glad to hear that, John. As the report says, no Army in American history has been so orderly, so well-behaved, so well-trained. Why, even on pay-night, there's very little drinking done. I was particularly interested in that part which said the Army, with an eye to its own problem, usually prefers to have its camps in wet communities rather than dry communities because wet communities can be regulated . . . dry communities with their bootleggers can't. It's just more proof that prohibition does not prohibit."
