Men Of Louis Stripe Same As Saboteurs, Says Miller

Late last week our Congressman A. L. Miller told the House: "Union racketeers, and I refer to men of the John L. Lewis stripe, are nothing more than saboteurs to our war effort. They sabotage as much as the worker who might deliberately throw a monkey-wrench into moving machinery. They deserve the same treatment as other saboteurs have received in the past."

"It is time that Congress, the President and those in authority take these racketeers of labor by the scruff of their necks, and give them the treatment which will convince the country and the union members that the government is bigger than a few leaders with reptile stripes."

Congressman Miller declared he had thought for some time that Congress should award a medal or badge of honor to the loyal workers who daily keep the assembly lines in action. "These folks want to work, but because some high paid racketeers of labor will penalize them if they work when a strike is called, they are forced by existing circumstances not to work. There are only a few of these racketeers, but they do control a large body of workers. It is some form of slavery, because the laboring man is controlled by the labor boss and he has little to say about his working conditions."

Miller said he believed in labor unions and the right of labor to bargain collectively. "I believe in ordinary times, they should have the right to strike. However, today, when we are drafting the flower of mankind to fight for our liberties on many battlefronts, we should expect a demand from all groups at home equal sacrifice and unity in this total war effort."

"When the miner strikes, or any other organized group who are making the many materials needed by our soldiers, it is against the public interest and the best interest of our government. The organized minority must be prevented from calling these strikes in wartime."

Mrs. U. G. Shipman Died In O'Neill, Sunday, June 6

Mrs. U. G. Shipman, daughter of the late Joseph and Lucy Forsyth, died at her home in O'Neill, Neb., Sunday, June 6, 1943, at the age of 73 years, three months and 12 days. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Holy Church, Rev. Ingersoll officiating, and burial in Prospect Hill cemetery.

Frances Estella Forsyth was born on February 25, 1870, at Macomb, St. Lawrence county, New York. She came with her parents in the spring of 1880 to Pierce county, Neb., where they settled on a homestead nine miles west of Pierce, where she grew to young womanhood.

At the age of 13 years she gave her heart to God and united with the Methodist church. Since then she has faithfully followed God's teachings her entire life. She was united in marriage to Ulysses Grant Shipman on March 15, 1884. To this union seven children were born, four sons and three daughters, one son, Grant, Jr., dying in infancy.

The Shipmans moved to Holt county, Neb., in the spring of 1910, living near Page or O'Neill ever since.

Those surviving her are her husband, Grant Shipman, and the following named children: Mrs. Bessie Butterfield, O'Neill; Marion Shipman, Orchard; Neb.; Mrs. Gladys Erickson, Atkinson, Neb.; Wayne Shipman, Payallup, Wash.; Eugene Shipman, Detroit Lakes, Minn., and Mrs. Anna Maxwell, O'Neill, Neb. She also leaves twenty grandchildren, three sisters, Mrs. Lee Paynter, Fergus Falls, Minn.; Mrs. George Kinkaid, Randolph, Neb., and Mrs. Bessie Hayes of the state of Washington; two brothers: Norman Forsyth, Butte, Mont., and Dewey Forsyth, Norfolk, Neb. All of the children were here for the funeral except two sons, Wayne and Eugene.

She was a kind and loving wife and mother and was always willing to lend a helping hand to those in need. Mrs. Shipman leaves a host of friends who will miss her very much.

Legion Auxiliary Elects Officers For Year

At the regular annual meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, Simonson Unit No. 93, held on Wednesday evening, officers for the new year were elected as follows:

President, Mrs. Grace Borg.
Vice president, Mrs. Hildred Higgins.
Secretary, Mrs. Rose Minton.
Treasurer, Mrs. Gertrude Streeter.

Historian, Mrs. Blanche Karr.
Chaplain, Mrs. Teresa Protivinsky.

Sergeant-at-Arms, Mrs. Mary Harrington.

Various committee chairmen will be appointed by the new president in the near future.

A report was presented on the Poppy Day activities, which was exceedingly gratifying. All poppies were sold within a short time, netting a total of $83.91, which funds are used to carry on the unit's rehabilitation and child welfare program. Mrs. Edward M. Gallagher, serving as poppy chairman for the unit, is to be highly commended on the fine results accomplished.

Plans were completed for the luncheon and food sale to be held on Saturday, June 12th, in the building formerly occupied by the Montgomery Hardware, first door east of the Golden Hotel. Luncheon will be served beginning at 11 o'clock this Saturday forenoon, and there will be many and varied cakes, cookies, candies, etc., for your Sunday dinner. The object and purpose of this sale is to raise funds with which to carry on the project of presenting gifts to draftees as they leave Holt county for service. The project, which was started nearly a year ago, does not require a great outlay of money, but with the large number of boys called up for service, we find that it will be necessary to restock our treasury in order to continue this work. Since January 1st we have presented many small gifts, either sewing kits or stationery kits to men leaving Holt county for service in the armed forces. We will appreciate your patronage of our luncheon and food sale to help this worthy cause. Contributions of any food sale articles will be gratefully received even though you may not be a member of our organization.

Mobile Navy Recruiting Unit In Norfolk June 17

A complete Mobile Navy Recruiting unit will visit Norfolk on Thursday, June 17th. Included in the personnel of this traveling recruiting station will be a Navy Construction Officer (SEABEE), a WAVE, two Navy Recruiting Specialists, and a Yeoman. The unit is making a tour of most of the principal cities in the Nebraska and South Dakota area. Its purpose is to bring first-hand information regarding the opportunities offered in the various branches of the Navy for both men and women.

Women between 20 and 36 years of age, having at least two years of high school, having no dependents under 18 years of age, and in good physical condition may qualify for the enlisted personnel in the WAVES. Officers candidates must have at least two years college plus two years business experience, or a college degree. They may be between the ages of 20 and 49.

The Construction Battalion or SEABEES as it is called, is open to men between 17 and 50. Men between 18 and 37 may qualify as selective volunteers. If a man is found qualified after an interview with the construction officer he will be assigned a rating, depending on his experience and qualifications. This enables a man with training to start his service in a much higher pay grade, and in the type of work for which he is qualified. This is similar to the Army Engineers. The SEABEES offer numerous opportunities for ratings in almost any line of construction work, also ratings are open as bakers, cooks, stewards, instrumentmen, and powdermen. The SEABEES offer splendid opportunity for tradesmen to serve their country in a branch of the armed forces where their skills are so badly needed.

The personnel of the Mobile Recruiting unit will be available while at Norfolk for interviews with all men or women who are desirous of obtaining further information regarding the Navy's branches of service. The date is Thursday, June 17th, at Norfolk.

O. P. A. Officials Will Deal With Speeders

The Sioux City district office of the OPA announced Wednesday that an enforcement program has been established here to deal with violators of the 35-mile-an-hour speed limit and those driving their cars in such a way as to constitute an abuse of tires and misuse of rationing.

M. E. Rawlings, chief counsel for the Sioux City district, said violators have little chance of avoiding penalties for such violations. In such instances, he stated, the ration allowances of such offenders may be revoked or suspended and in aggravated cases, criminal action may be invoked.

As a part of this enforcement program, Mr. Rawlings has appealed to the various judges, justices of the peace and state and local law enforcement officers serving in the Sioux City district. This, he said, will serve to bring about greater uniformity in the operation of the program. He stated that the ration boards, judges and law enforcement officers are co-operating splendidly.

Ration boards have been informed of the progress. In the last month approximately forty violations of speed limits and tire abuse have been reported, with the result that in at least 22 instances the ration allowances of violators have been revoked or suspended. Mr. Rawlings stated that the other cases are awaiting further action by the boards.

Mr. Rawlings pointed out it is contrary to regulations for anyone to surrender any unused portion of gasoline ration stamp or coupon to any persons other than the issuing ration board.

Several cases, he said, have been reported in which consumers have surrendered unused stamps or coupons to service station operators or to others engaging in the delivery of gasoline, and that such cases are being investigated by the Office of Price Administration.

Mr. Rawlings declared that most motorists are co-operating and are doing their part in reducing the consumption of gasoline and rubber.

Mr. Rawlings pointed out this program has special merit in that deaths, injuries and property damage have been drastically reduced, and those in charge of the program believe that with this tightening of the enforcement net, further reductions in highway accidents will result.

Another airplane missing and among those aboard an actor gets the 24-pt. headlines. An airplane pilot now is worth any ten of the make-believe fraternity.

A report adopted by the United Nations Food Conference in session at Hot Springs, Va., says "Americans as a people are underfed." As I view it, the report should have read overfed and under nourished.

An 89-year-old soldier out at Los Angeles would calm the troubled waters by offering this: "Speaking of the New Deal and other torments, don't worry too much. I started soldiering 72 years ago and the fixed rule of warfare is that of every 100 who go 95 come back."

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Watson, and others of the family, have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement over the death of their daughter, Mrs. Oscar Greenstreet, at Sedro Woolley, Wash. Mrs. Watson was with her daughter a few days before she died, and Mr. Watson went to Sedro Woolley in time for the funeral.

University professors give out figures showing the "increase in income of farmers." Out this way its mostly outgo, or at least trading cream and eggs for high priced feeds. Country dwellers are not complaining, but what isn't wholly myth about their increased income is rapidly absorbed by high costs, taxes and donations. And one day of whistling winds destroys a spring's hard work.

Airplanes moving across the sky never cease to be of interest, though they are becoming quite as common out this way as galloping horses and travelers in cars. A formation of seven planes flying low roared toward the setting sun a day early in the week. We are secure in the thought that those planes bear aloft the glittering emblem of free men, yet not unmindful of the cold terror in the hearts of mankind in sections of earth where the winged messengers of death drop their fatal bombs.

I see the banks have been given a break. Those installment loan companies have had a soft thing of it loaning money at as much as 14 per cent, when you could get it at any time at a bank for 8 per cent. Our banks are always ready to stand behind a trustworthy citizen, but their services are not always valued by the community. I met the late Charley Reka in an O'Neill bank one day and he said, "We get a lot of favors from our banks." Charley was a citizen who believed in revising the slogan "Live and let live," by putting it "Live and help live."

There was a story in a school reader of a forgotten generation of children about a man who by flattery and soft words snared a boy into turning a grindstone while he sharpened his ax. I spent some hours at that hateful task in the long ago before Yankee ingenuity devised a better way. As the story had it, after that boy had performed the function of electric current and crankshaft for an hour or more the gent with the ax pounced on him with abusive words and told the "little rascal" to scamper on to school. A town boy a day last week put in three hours leading a mule for a fellow plowing lads. "Do you want a nickel, a dime or fifteen cents," asked the plowman of his 12-year-old "mule skinner" when they finished the plowing. "I am charging five cents," demanded the boy. And he got it. Pinch-penny slave drivers are dealing with a different generation of boys these days.

Cross currents of palms of praise and caustic criticism whirl about the heads of various groups doing their stuff in our complex national life, but an outfit that gets little or no attention goes quietly on its way without fanfare to draw public admiration. Its that group of steady-headed men and women, our rural mail carriers. Some daily, others three times a week, travel the prairie trails and bring our mail, grocery supplies, lumber, coal, bags of grain and all sorts of stuff from a cake of soap to a cake of ice. Summer, winter-cold and snow-bound, mud and slush, on they go to the mail boxes along their route or pull in to homes to unload a cargo. These are the star route carriers. The R. F. D. forces only carry mail, but are forever on the job. Two star route carriers with whom I have to do, Norris Murphy coming out of Atkinson, and Floyd Adams coming from the Amelia post office, seem always to keep pleasant under the pressure and monotony of delivering mail to us out on the routes

Nearest Relatives Navy Men To Receive Flag

Parents, widows or nearest relatives of a deceased Navy man who has been buried at sea, or declared officially dead, may send personal requests for a special Navy memorial flag to the Bureau of Ships, Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

Letters or requests should contain sufficient identifying material to enable the Navy Department to locate and verify the records of the missing persons.

Upon verification, the Navy Yard at New York City or Mare Island will be directed to send the flag.

Another Pioneer Passes Away

Mrs. Eugene E. Sanford died at her home in southeast O'Neill last Wednesday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock, after an illness of about one year, at the age of 71 years, five months and fourteen days. The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Methodist church, Rev. Park officiating, and burial in Prospect Hill cemetery.

Abbie Arbilla Riley was born at Darlington, Wis., on December 25, 1871. She came to Holt county with her parents in 1874 and had been a resident of this county ever since. On June 4, 1897, she was united in marriage to Eugene E. Sanford of O'Neill, the ceremony being performed in this city. Three children were born of this union, two sons and one daughter, who with their father are left to mourn the passing of a kind and affectionate wife and mother. The children are: Mrs. Sylvia Jones of Atkinson; Wesley and Melvin of this city. She is also survived by nine grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. Jane Enders, Inman; two brothers: Joe Riley, Waterloo, Iowa; Miner Riley of Iowa Falls, Iowa.

Mrs. Sanford was a charming woman and had a host of friends in this city and county, where she had lived for sixty-eight years, being one of the real old-time residents of the county. She endured all the hardships and privations of the early settlers of the county, and like all the old pioneers bore it unflinchingly. When she first seen this part of the country, as a little girl of three, it was a vast wilderness, without trees, except along the river and creeks of the county. During her lifetime she seen the vast prairies bloom and splendid shade trees dotted the prairies and shaded the homes. Then in the nineties the drought hit us and many of the trees faded from the landscape, only to be again replaced when weather conditions changed for the better. Her passing removed another of the real old pioneers from the ranks of the people of the county, ranks that are thinning fast as time passes.

who are not always considerate of their difficulties. Norris has been on the Atkinson-Amelia route for six years and is usually on schedule time. He and Fild are just about as accommodating as they come and are none too well paid for the exacting job.

The head of a great Pacific newspaper tells a bit of personal history that probably can be duplicated by two-thirds of successful Americans. He says:

"In my kid days, quite a spell before youth movements were considered essential, I spent my summer vacations on a farm. The call to rout out came at 4 a. m. After feeding and cuffing off a couple of horses, pailing a couple of cows and feeding the pigs it was time for breakfast. Seven o'clock found us in the field. Whether it was bugging the potatoes or pitching hay it was hard work and plenty of it until the sun began to show pink in the western sky. Supper and the "chores" to do and, except in threshing time, the day's work was all finished up by nine in the evening. It was a good life and I shall perhaps never again be so proud as I was the day the farmer for whom I worked "opined" that I was worth a man's pay of sixteen dollars per month. Looking over some figures on federal payrolls (which have been increased by the addition of 618,324 employees since December 7 to a total of 1,558,000) I noted that the bureau of agricultural economics has 130 current research projects. Of these I note one which is called "a cultural and psychological analysis to study the social psychological factors in land use and rural life." I come to the sad conclusion that I was simply born too soon. We just used to do about fifteen hours work and call it a day and didn't even have a bureau to help with our recreational activities."

20 Nebraskans Swap Yarns At London Dinner

Twenty Nebraska boys, serving with the army in the European theater of operations, swapped stories of their home state recently when they met at a dinner at the Mostyn club of the American Red Cross in London. Eighteen Nebraska cities were represented at the party. Among those present were Technical Sgt. True Fagan of Amelia and Pfc. Vern Claibough of Burwell.

Getting Ready To Start Drilling Oil Well

E. L. Dodge, local manager for the Loup Valley Syndicate, informed us this morning that Contractor Ray Calvert starts this afternoon to put in the cement for the oil rigging, which they will use in putting down their well north of this city.

The well is to be put down on Section 20, Township 31, Range 12, Holt county, Neb. This is 12 miles north and six miles west of this city, in the territory made famous by the ghost lights some quarter of a century ago.

Mr. Dodge says that during the year they are going to put down another well in Howard county, but the O'Neill well will be drilled first. During the past few years many geologists have stated that there is oil in this county, having traced the oil rock strata from Kansas through Nebraska, including this county, and up into South Dakota. At least one oil company is figuring on putting down a well in southern Souta Dakota this summer. The people of O'Neill and Holt county wish the company the best of luck in their oil drilling and hope that they will be successful.

Mrs. Robt. Schulz' Sister Passed Away Sunday

Mrs. Minnie Smith, 44 years old, of Norfolk, died Sunday in a Norfolk hospital of burns suffered Saturday evening at her home. She is survived by her husband, mother and two sisters, Mrs. Fred Johnson of Norfolk and Mrs. Elsie Schulz of O'Neill. Mrs. Schulz is in Texas at the side of her son, Luther, who is lying in a military hospital there seriously ill. The latest word from Mrs. Schulz is to the effect that he is very sick, suffering from fever. O'Neill friends hope that he will soon recover. Her sister was buried last Tuesday.

Now Ready To Handle Tin Cans

Arrangements have been completed for the handling of tin cans throughout the county, and we would like to have as many as can possibly do so turn in their cans within the next two weeks. The following places have been named as receiving places for the cans, in the central section of the county:

Inman, Watson Hay Company; Ewing, The County Store building; Chambers, Harley Hardware Company; Emmet, Emmet Hay Company; O'Neill, building back of the court house annex, and janitor there will help unload, will help unload.

If you can deliver your cans at the places designated, please do so, and if you need assistance, please phone either me or Harry Ressel and we will arrange to have them picked up.

It is our ambition to ship a carload of tin out of O'Neill within the next two weeks, so please try and get your cans delivered as soon as possible, so that we can get them to the shredding plant.

Word comes from Norfolk that Dr. A. E. Gadbois, eye ear and nose specialist, who has been making regular trips to this city and was to be here tomorrow, June 11, is sick at his home and will be unable to make the trip this week. Watch The Frontier for new dates.

A large number of blue grass strippers have been brought into the county during the past ten days, getting ready for the annual blue grass seed harvest. Local blue grass seed growers say the crop is not as heavy as in former years.

Heelan, Valentine; Sherman McKinley, South Sioux City; E. J. McCarth, Ponca; C. M. Kingsbury, Ponca; Harry N. Larson, Wakefield, Francis D. Lee, Atkinson; Arthur L. Burbridge, Bloomfield; Archie M. Those appointed will serve without compensation and as a contribution to the war effort. This is an important part of the OPA program and will serve to place the determination of these enforcement matters before persons who are familiar with the particular problems of each community.

One-Day Golf Tourney Held Sunday, June 20

This week cards are being mailed to golf players in nearby towns announcing a one-day golf tournament will be held at the O'Neill Country Club on Sunday, June 20. It is expected that many players in this locality will avail themselves of the chance to play in this tournament. The meeting is in charge of Allen Jaskowiak and Max Golden. There will be a bridge party for the ladies the afternoon of the tournament, with Mrs. R. E. Armbruster heading the bridge party committee. The night of the tournament a dancing party will be held at the club, which will be complimentary to all club members.

Last Sunday evening a dinner party was held at the club house, with about 85 being served. Bingo was played after the dinner.

R. M. Sauer, chairman of the membership committee, states he expects as many to join the club as in previous years. Vacations will be out for 1943 and many people who formerly have taken extended vacations will turn to the club for recreation. All dues are payable before tournament date.

Lyle Anderson, Atkinson, Accidentally Killed

Lyle Anderson, 10, son of Mrs. Cedar Anderson of Atkinson, died in the hospital at Stuart Monday night of a gun shot wound in his chest. The wound was inflicted accidentally, authorities declared, when the Anderson boy and Arlen Brown, 10, were playing with a .38 calibre pistol in an upstairs room of the home of Mrs. Ethel Brown of Atkinson. The Anderson boy was a grandson of the late Jack McAllister of Atkinson.

Cattle Market Is Mostly Steady At Local Auction

For the most part, cattle prices held about steady with a week ago at the local auction on Monday of this week. The in-between kind of cows tended to soften slightly, but all stocker cattle held up well. Hog prices followed the current tendency of price decline. Receipts of both hogs and cattle were fairly heavy for this season. Action was good on all classes.

The best steer calves moved mostly from $14.50 to $15.75 with a scattered few reaching upwards to $16.25 or better. Heifer calves made $13.50 to $14.50.

Yearling steers cashed mostly from $13.50 to $14.50. Heifers in this class ranged in price from $12.00 to $13.25.

Good beef cows reached $12.75 on 1340 lb. weights, with the bulk moving at $10.50 to $12.00. Plainer grades paid from $9.00 to $10.00, with common kinds making $7.25 to around $8.50. Bulls topped at $11.60, with many selling around that figure.

Hog supplies were heavy and demand was good. Choice butchers rung up $13.80, with the long end selling at $13.65 to $13.75. Sows topped at $13.60, with $13.50 to $13.55 taking the bulk of the offering.

Feeders brought $16.00 per cwt. and a lot of pigs sold by the head at unusually good prices.

A few horses finished off the day's offering. Next regular auction sale on Monday, June 14th.

Mrs. Mattie Soukup and Madge Matthews took Lieut. Soukup to Hastings on Tuesday, after spending a few days here visiting relatives and friends. Lieut. Soukup was recently graduated from an officer's candidate school at Fort Washington, Md., and is now on his way to his new post at Fort Lewis, Wash.
