What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Rural Electrification has made great strides during the past ten years, bringing to thousands of farm homes the conveniences of their city brothers. Today, however, copper wiring, fixtures—all the materials which are required for rural electrification—are "out" for the duration.

The farmers of the nation, however, can start now buying rural electrification and all the equipment which goes with it through purchase of War Bonds. Your War Bonds today will buy rural electrification tomorrow and give you back $4 for every $3 you invest.

THE BATTLE of the BONDS

The sale of War Bonds is a battle that we Americans are fighting right here at home. It is a battle to raise war funds in a sound, non-inflationary way. The tide of this battle has ebbed and flowed. For months last summer our side was losing—we missed national goals again and again. Then, for a while, we went on the offensive and passed monthly goals. But the battle goes on, month after month, and can't end until the war ends. Keep trying. Keep buying. Your purchases are more important now than ever.

ON THE OFFENSIVE AMERICA!

Wars are won by attacking, not by sitting in a fort!
And today America is taking the offensive against the Axis with hard-fighting, non-stopable men and materials!
We're taking the offensive, too, against the enemy at home—the inflationary 6th column that blows prices sky high.
You can help in both fights by saving at least 10% of your money in U. S. War Bonds every pay day. Attack the Axis with your dollars today.
You can start with as little as a 10c War Stamp and you can get a $25.00 War Bond (maturity value) for only $18.75—at your local post office, bank or other convenient sales agency.

Mayor Ivan G. Bain, of Gregory, S. D., was in the city Wednesday, visiting relatives and looking after business matters. Ivan says that they had a splendid crop of small grain in the Rosebud country this year, but that the corn was being badly hit by the extreme hot, dry weather. A good rain in that section of South Dakota would make a lot of corn was his opinion.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKenna and son, Gene, returned Friday from Scribner, where they had been visiting Lt. and Mrs. Hugh McKenna for several days. Lt. McKenna is stationed at the Scribner air base.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to thank our many friends for all the kindness and assistance extended to us during the illness and death of our loved one.—Ruth S. Oppen, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Oppen and Family.

Notice To Merchants And All Retailers

The price panel of the war price and rationing board has organized a group of assistants of the panel who will make personal contacts between the retailers and the price panel. These assistants are volunteer workers who are donating their time and effort in attempting to do their bit in contributing to the war effort and in making this plea to you in order to establish a friendly and cordial feeling between them and you.

Normally, the assistants will call to give you the information or to make certain surveys that will be helpful to you in complying with price regulations, and gathering information from you that will assist the OPA in making future plans. The assistant's role is not that of a policeman. He or she will go to you as one of your neighbors to make a friendly call and after this routine has been established I am sure you will find the weekly visit an aid to you in your effort to co-operate with the control rules. The assistants will not be an expert, but will be glad to find the answers for you. Every assistant will carry an official identification card by which you may know him or her. The importance of the price control cannot be overemphasized as you will probably know, for it is the only means we have at hand to curb competitive bidding for various commodities which would result in everyone paying more for merchandise, labor, etc., and we would have inflation traveling through its various vicious cycles.

I hope you will welcome the price panel assistant and that friendly co-operative relations may be established between your store and the war price and rationing board and may be a benefit to both your business and our selves. Thanking you very much for your support in this undertaking, and with all good wishes,
Yours very truly,
Holt County Price Panel No. 6536.

Steel Creek Calf Club

The Steel Creek Calf Club held their meeting at the home of Charles Cole of Star on Saturday evening, August 14. All members were present except Allen Knight, who has been ill. Arrangements were made as to who would make our demonstrations on Saturday, August 21. We also had a practice quiz and later discussed our quiz. The meeting was adjourned, but no time was set for holding the next meeting.—Club reporter.

WHAT IS A COW?

Here in the cow country we are supposed to know what a cow is, says the Cow Country Courier, published up at Valentine by Geo. B. Gross, who further relates: However, how many of us could give a correct definition of the animal which is responsible for the general upkeep of this vast area known as the Nebraska Sand Hills? In order that none of our readers will be embarrassed if they are called on to give such a definition, we reprint herewith the definition given in the August issue of the American Cattle Producer. Here is the way a writer describes old bossy:

The cow is a female quadruped with an alto voice and a countenance in which there is no guile. She collaborates with the pump in the production of a liquid called milk, provides the filler for hash, and is at last skinned by those she has benefitted, as most mortals are.

The young cow is called a calf, and before the war was used in the manufacture of chicken salad. The cow's tail is mounted aft and has a universal joint. It is used to disturb mauling flies, and a tassel at the end has a unique educational value. Persons who milk cows and come in contact with the tassel have vocabularies of peculiar and impressive force. The cow has two stomachs. The one on the ground floor is used as a warehouse and has no other function. When one is filled, the cow retires to a quiet place where her ill manners will occasion no comment and devotes herself to belching. The raw materials thus conveyed for the second time to the interior of her face, are pulverized and delivered to the auxiliary, where they are converted into cow or milk. The cow has no upper plate. All her teeth are parked in the lower part of her face. The arrangement was perfected by a Department efficiency expert to keep her from gumming things up. As a result she bites up and gums down. A slice of cow is worth 12 cents as cow, 20 cents in the hands of the packer, has a ceiling price of 40 cents in a butcher shop, and is worth $2.25 a plate in a restaurant. The male cow is called a bull, and is lassoed along the Colorado, fought south of the Rio Grande, and shot in the vicinity of the Potomac. The cow is also recognized as the foster mother of the human race. Miss LaVeta Lehn of Lincoln arrived Sunday to visit Miss Mabel Osenbaugh and other friends.

FOOD IS PART OF VICTORY

Here in the farm belt we are fighting one of the big battles of this war—the battle for food.

The planting is done. The growing crops look good. The crisis will come with the harvest. That is where YOU can help.

Many farms are short-handed. Men from town will be needed to get the crops in. When the call comes—do your part. We must get the food to our men at the front and to our Allies right now when it is so badly needed.
