

for Economical Transportation Never Before Have We Offered Such Values on Reconditioned Cars

-Small Down Payment-Easy Terms!

Never before in our history have we delivered as many new Chevrolets as we have this year. Naturally a large part of this increased business involved the trade-in of the Chevrolet owner's previous car. This enables us to offer some exceptionally fine used cars that have been thoroughly inspected and reconditioned and carry the official red "O. K. That Counts" tag. This tag shows you exactly what has been done to put the car in mechanical condition for thousands of miles of satisfactory service. In buying these reconditioned cars from us you get definite assurance of quality and value-and this week you can buy them at very low prices that make them the greatest values we have ever offered. Make a small down payment and drive away the car of your choice-easy terms for the balance. See these cars today!

Farm Revolt

By SENATOR REED SMOOT

OVERNOR SMITH cannot capitalize any so-called "farm revolt" in the West. My observations in the vast western country are that the great majority of the voters cannot be won away from the Republican party.

This applies parbecause tent friend, and has the record to prove it. Within the last year agricultural conditions have improved. The Democratic plan to reduce the prices the farmer pays by lowering the tariff on industrial commodities would ruin the home market for American farmers.

He wants to leave the impression that the principle is a matter of detail to be worked out. It is not a matter of detail, but the whole question. If he means that the farmer may voluntarily impose upon himself the loss of handling the surplus, he is apparently unaware that the Capper-Volstead Act was passed by a Republican Administration for this specific purpose.

FARM ISSUES HOOVER RECORD

Consistent Friendship for Farmer Indicated by Review of Candidate's Life Work.

OF PRICE FIXING

Annals of War-Time Government Show Hoover Repeatedly Saved Agriculture From Disaster.

WASHINGTON. - Hoover's consist ent friendship for the farmer is shown by his record, which is open. He not only did not fix maximum prices to the farmer, as has been wilfully or ignorantly charged, but did his utmost to protect and secure fair and generous dealing to the wheat growers, hog producers and other farmers of the country for their wartime efforts. He followed through and made good on his undertakings to them in spite of the severest obsta-

This summing up of Mr. Hoover's record is contained in a pamphlet just issued here. It lists as significant the following activities:

His personal efforts in 1919 and 1920 to develop measures of enlightened reconstruction to help the farmers maintain their economic position.

His creation in the Department of Commerce of a special division to promote the sale of agricultural products

His leading share in 1921 in reviving the War Finance Corporation, which was instrumental in halting decline in farm products.

His obtaining in December, 1921, of a Congressional appropriation for purchase of corn for Russian famine re-

His leadership in the movement for a seaway to connect the Great Lakes and the Atlantic Ocean, and for completion of the Mississippi System to cheapen transportation of farm prod-

His helping to solve problems of prompt and adequate rail transportation for farm products.

His program for elimination of waste, by means of which costs of manufactured commodities are being

Hundreds of minor services rendered by the Department of Commerce to the agricultural community.

The struggles to break the grip of foreign monopolies of commodities which American farmers must have. Details of War Record

Hoover's war-time record is detailed, both as to his method of procedure as Food Administrator, his counsel in framing of policies which would encourage production, conserve food supplies and control the distribution of enty or seventy four sizes of beds It food products and fuel. As to the charge of price-fixing of wheat, it is pointed out that the Allied Governments had concentrated their purchasing and were preparing to fix a price of $1.50 to $1.80 per bushel. Congress had fixed the government price at $2.00 per bushel. The appointment by Wilson of a fair price committee, and the deliberations of this committee in arriving at a fair price of $2.20 at a meeting at which Mr. Hoover was not present are outlined, together with a statement by the four surviving farm members of the committee showing that the conclusions of the committee were not made known to Mr. Hoover until after the committee had reported to the President.

It is further shown, from documentary evidence, that President Wilson, in accepting the recommendations of the committee said: "The price now recommended, $2.20 per bushel, will be rigidly adhered to by the food administration. Mr. Hoover, at his express wish, has taken no part in the deliberations of the committee on whose recommendation I determined the government's fair price, nor has he in any way intimated an opinion regarding that price."

As Food Administrator

Mr. Hoover as Food Administrator protected the wheat growers' interests by preventing foreign governments from breaking the price, and again, by averting a collapse which threatened after the Armistice.

While Mr. Hoover had no power to fix prices for hogs or pork products. the documents show that he succeeded in maintaining hog prices at more than twice the pre-war level until months after the armistice. This gave the producers millions of dollars more than they would otherwise have ob tained. This market, documents further show, was supported for months after the armistice, when not only allied governments but members of the Wilson Cabinet, including Secretary of the Treasury Glass and Secretary of Commerce Redfield, were advocating abandonment of all price control

In this price-maintaining effort, Mr Hoover had to break the post-armistice blockade by the Allies, to open the market of the Central Powers, and to induce France and Italy to restore orders which they had sought to repudiate, along with those of Great
