If you, too, have been bewildered about your motor oil... please remember all you need to know is -

"What's your mileage?"

MOTORISTS have long wanted the confusion taken out of motor oil application—and Sinclair does it by a simple, common-sense method of lubrication which is recognized and accepted by alert American motorists!

Sinclair has proved that the determining factor for recommending the correct grade of oil you need for your car is the wear in your engine. Wear in the engine comes through mileage. The more miles a car travels, the more space there is worn between the piston and the cylinder walls, where oil does its biggest job.

Therefore, whether your car is new or old, all you need to know in order to get correct lubrication is the mileage reading on your speedometer.

Stop being puzzled about motor oil—just tell the Authorized Opaline Dealer how many miles your car has been driven. He will make the correct application of Opaline for your engine to seal its power at its present degree of wear.

Opaline, the outstanding motor oil of heat-resisting quality and low carbon content for year-round use, is sold in different grades, one of which is the correct grade for your car's engine at its present degree of wear. Buying the right grade of motor oil is just as important as buying the right quality.

You get both—you get correct lubrication—when you buy Opaline from the Authorized Opaline Dealer, because he prescribes individually for your car!
