The extreme cold weather of the past two months moderated the first of the week and as a result living has been more pleasant for several days. The frost is going out of the ground rapidly; the ice in the rivers is rotting and will soon break up; in a number of localities over the state the ice in the rivers is causing the county officials much anxiety as the ice is very thick this year and undoubtedly will do considerable damage when it goes out.

Next Wednesday will be a great day in O'Neill for all those who are interested in the poultry industry. Prominent speakers will be here and will talk on various phases of the industry that are perplexing to every raiser of fowls of any kind—the rearing and diseases of chicks.

J. R. Redditt, of the Poultry Department of the state agricultural college and former State Veterinarian, Dr. W. T. Spencer, a former resident of this city will be the speakers from a distance; local speakers will also have places on the program.

The program will begin at the Royal Theatre at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The O'Neill Hatchery and the Armour Creameries cordially invite everyone to call at their plants before the meeting begins and inspect their places of business. These two industries have a number of free bulletins on the subject of poultry which they will be glad to give you if you will call upon them.

If you have failed to make money on poultry, here is an opportunity to find out why you have not.

The talks by Dr. Spencer and Mr. Redditt will more than repay one for the trip to O'Neill. Don't Miss It!

THE FARM RESIDENCE ON NOLLCAMPER PLACE DESTROYED BY FIRE

About midnight Wednesday night fire was discovered in the bedroom of the residence on the William Nollcamper place occupied by George Henefin and family, one-half mile south and one-half mile west of Meek post-office. The family were just able to escape with their lives when they awoke and discovered the room in which they were sleeping was on fire.

We understand that because of a small baby a lamp was allowed to burn during the night; it is thought that the fire resulted from this source, however, no one really knows how the fire originated as the room was burning freely when they awoke.

The family lost all of their household goods and clothing.

The glass was broken from the windshield and one side of the car.

ED JONES BUSY TAGGING CARS WITH 1928 PLATES

Of course you have pre-learned your 1929 auto license. Ed Jones has been asking all those who have been driving on their 1928 license plates to get their 1929 tags at once. No arrests are being made at this time but Ed says that all those who persist in using the old plates will find plenty of trouble ahead of them.

Some counties have been arresting car owners who were operating on the old plates and have caused their people considerable trouble. Holt county official, however, has taken a different attitude in the matter and is giving everyone a fair opportunity to procure their new plates without added expense.

We understand that the garage on the west side of the main street of Spencer, Nebraska, burned Wednesday night.
