EIGHTH GRADE.

The Normal Training girls visited the eighth grade room Friday, and observed a lesson in English.
 Catherine Hagensick led in a geographical game with the map of Nebraska. Mary Sparks and Neoma Michaels were next best.
 As Wednesday was Longfellow's birthday the reading class period was devoted to a study of his works.
 Nebraska's birthday, March 1st, was celebrated by studying about famous men and women who came from Nebraska.

GRADE ITEMS.

Second Grade.

The second grade has a new pupil, Vernon Neilson formerly of Neligh. In the Reading contest this week, Junior Toy read, "The Tree Dwellers." Hugh Francis McKenna read "Boy Blue and His Friends."

Third Grade.

The Third Grade has been making health posters. The following have theirs finished:
 Amelia Gaines—Cleanliness.
 Nadine Kilpatrick—Eat Vegetables.
 Margaret Wyant—Fresh Air.
 Charles Smith—Vegetables Healthy.
 Robert Sauers—Drink milk.
 Last week's paper omitted the fact that Robert Bergstrom had been neither absent nor tardy.

Fourth Grade.

The Fourth Grade is glad to welcome the following new pupils, Victor Neilson, Kenneth Burham, and Opal Pearsons, who moved to Texas, but recently returned.
 We are taking up dictionary work in English. In Arithmetic we are now starting Long Division.

Fifth Grade.

Thomas Shoemaker received a grade of one hundred percent in Geography last week.

Seventh Grade.

Eight pupils of the seventh grade are studying for the local spelling contest. The winners of the seventh and eighth grade local contest are entitled to enter the county contest. Nona Bressler spelled down the class recently.

The English and Geography classes are conducted together, the lessons being compositions on important world products. Compositions have been written on corn, wheat and sugar.

Sixth Grade.

In English and History we have had a contest on "good" lessons. The boys won over the girls in History while they tied in English.

 The Hygiene class is making posters for the class room.

Commercial.

During the past week the following made improvement in typewriting. Bruce Rummel, Pearl Clevisch, Austin Shreiner and Ambrose Rohde.

Eighth Grade.

Jerome Ashton received a very interesting letter from Athens, Greece. The following are up to the standard in spelling: Melvin Pilger, Kenneth Harding, Gene Kilpatrick, Jack Cromwell, Mary Sparks, Hazel Schwisow, Elsa Omart, Patrice Robertson, Bernice Scofield, Cleone Clark Geneva Fox, Mavis Thompson, Luella Crandall, Catherine Hagensick, Neoma Michaels, Thomas Liddy, Jerome Ashton, Harold Fuller and Cleata Walton.
 The class had exercises appropriate for the day on February 22.

In a written test on the geography of Nebraska the following earned 100 per cent: Luella Crandall, Catherine Hagensick, Patrice Robertson, Mike Madura, Orville Winchell, Margaret Revell and Mary Sparks.
 The following made 99 per cent: Kenneth Hunt, Neoma Michaels, Rebecca Haskins, Esther Sexsmith, Jack Cromwell, Hazel Schwisow, and Geneva Fox.
 The drawing period at present is being devoted to picture study.

LATIN.

Many of our English words come from Latin words. We use them so constantly, that we give little thought to their origination. The following are a few words which come directly or indirectly from Latin.

1. Subpoena is derived from sub, meaning under, and poena, meaning penalty, and is the name of a document issued by a court commanding a person to report "under penalty."

2. Equal is derived from aequus, meaning level, equal or fair, and means literally on the same level, or even with.

3. Monere, a latin word meaning to warn or advise appears in admonish: to advise, admonition, advice and monitor literally one who advises.

4. Insolent is derived from in-not, and satire, meaning to be accustomed. Thus insolent means originally "not in accordance with custom, unusual and "to act insalantly" meant to behave in a manner contrary to established custom.

5. Dicere, to speak, say, has some important derivatives. To predict is to say something before hand, to fortell. To contradict is to speak against. A dictator is a person whose say-so settles things.

6. Jacere, to throw, cast, has numerous descendants. To eject a person is to throw him out. To reject an offer is to throw it back.
