...it tells you how to apply the SINCLAIR LAW of LUBRICATION to your own car

ITS common sense! The more miles your car is driven, the more wear there is in the cylinders. That space between the piston and the cylinder wall gradually wears larger as the piston travels up and down, mile after mile! Your motor oil should fill and seal that space!

And it stands to reason that as this space increases, the body of the oil must be increased, to seal the compression and prevent the power from blowing by.

The conclusion is obvious—and sound. When you buy motor oil, look first at your speedometer—because it indicates, by the mileage, the degree of wear in your cylinders—and how heavy must be the oil to fit that degree of wear and seal the pistons.

That is the way the Sinclair Law of Lubrication operates. (For every machine of every degree of wear there is a scientific SINCLAIR OIL to suit its speed and seal its power.) That is the principle on which Sinclair Opaline Motor Oil is made, sold and applied.

When you buy Opaline, you get not merely an oil of the finest quality—you get correct lubrication!

Buy oil by mileage—wherever you see the Sinclair Opaline Sign. Oil your engine with Opaline according to your speedometer reading—ask any Authorized Opaline Dealer—he will be pleased to tell you how your car can be made to produce all the power and all the smoothness in its engine.
