

Acidity

The common cause of digestive difficulties is excess acid. Soda cannot alter this condition, and it burns the stomach. Something that will neutralize the acidity is the sensible thing to take. That is why physicians tell the public to use Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

One spoonful of this delightful preparation can neutralize many times its volume in acid. It acts instantly; relief is quick, and very apparent. All gas is dispelled; all sourness is soon gone; the whole system is sweetened. Do try this perfect anti-acid, and remember it is just as good for children, too, and pleasant for them to take.

Any drug store has the genuine, prescription product.

PHILLIPS Milk of Magnesia

Few of Them Do

"He was driven to his grave."
"Sure he was. Did you expect him to walk?"

ALWAYS KEEPS IT ON HAND

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps Her So Much

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"I was just completely run-down. I had tired, heavy, sluggish feelings and I could not eat. I was losing in weight. I read so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what a good medicine it is, that I started taking it. I have taken eight bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and about the same in tablet form. This is one medicine a woman should have in the house all the time. I am improving every day and I sure am able to eat. I am willing to answer any letters I get asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. ELLA RICHARDS, 21 Chautauqua St. N. S., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Love makes the good round only when the lovers are intoxicated with happiness.

Don't imagine that the hotel runner runs the hotel.

Are You Ready

When your Children Cry for It

Baby has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do—what most physicians would tell you to do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sooner done than Baby is soothed; relief is just a matter of moments. Yet you have eased your child without use of a single doubtful drug; Castoria is vegetable. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot pat away. And it's always ready for the crueller pangs of colic, or constipation or diarrhea; effective, too for older children. Twenty-five million bottles were bought last year.

Fletcher's CASTORIA

ST. LOUIS CITY PTG. CO. NO. 11-1929.

Out Our Way

Real Point Is—This Family Not Dependent on the Rich Uncle

From the Omaha World-Herald.

Chances are thousands of readers think Lester R. Bellows of Spencer, Ia., is a lucky dog. Think of having a rich uncle who gives one, outright, more than $100,000, and then announces that he will leave one $250,000 more. Pretty lucky, all right, to have a fortune dropped into one's lap. All anyone needs is a rich uncle, and if there isn't a rich uncle in the family roster, why one is just out of luck, that's all.

Wait a minute. Let's consider this man Bellows and his family. Maybe there is something about that outfit that might repay study. He has a wife and seven children. That's a sizeable family, especially in these days when men and women are too busy having a good time to have more than a child or two. They can't spare the time from bridge and the theater, or the sacrifice of money, for a family, you know, is costly. The kids always need new shoes just about the time dad ought to have a new suit, and warm underwear and woolen clothing when mother, in despair, tries to fix over, for the fifth year, that old party frock.

Twelve or thirteen years ago Mr. Bellows took his family from Nebraska to Spencer, Ia., and got a job as manager of a lumber and coal company. His salary wasn't much, but he was to get a bonus, too, and a man might get along. But the bottom dropped out of business, and in a few years he found himself without a job and a debt of $4,400 on his back.

That's the time to run to a rich uncle and yell for help. Did Lester Bellows do it? He did not. He moved out on a farm, choosing about the hardest way to win back. He set to work, with his wife and the children, to clear up that debt. They got up before daylight, and they came in from the fields at dusk. Their neighbors were buying autos and things like that, but the Bellows family jogged to town and church and to see their neighbors in the old buggy drawn by the faithful old team. The family was downright foolish about it; bent, as they all were, on clearing up the debt.

Well, they paid it off, every penny of it. About this time the rich uncle began to think about his money and what to do with it. A long-headed rich uncle, he didn't want the accumulation of a lifetime to be wasted. Naturally he decided that the Bellows family over in Iowa would be the best possible recipients for a part of his fortune.

First of all he puts $50,000 in their hands. What a chance to buy a car now, and go on a trip around the world. But this man Bellows buys a 320-acre Iowa farm with it—just loading another burden of tilling the soil upon his shoulders. Fifty thousand more is offered, and he has it put in the form of an annuity, paying only $2,300 a year.

It's really distressing, when there are so many opportunities to throw money around, to find a family that lives simply, frugally and honestly when they have a rich uncle. There is a joker in this story. It is this, that the Bellows family would have gotten along just about as well if there never had been a rich uncle. For everyone can have a rich uncle if he wants him. His name, likely as not, is Toil, or Thrift, or Hard Work, or Loyalty, or Honesty. Those uncles are on every family tree, but quite often we scorn them.

All-Highest Duce.

From Time.

"There are still too many people who boast to have gone to school with Mussolini, or to have shared a meal with him, or to have offered him a cigarette in some railway compartment. There are still too many people, who, in speaking of the 'Duce,' call him simply Benito. There are far too many who assert to be on terms of intimacy with him. It is high time to declare before all the world that Benito does not exist any more. Today Mussolini must be known as the 'Duce' and only as the 'Duce.' Nobody has any right to speak of him in the ordinary manner that one refers to common human beings. He is above all. Even his title is not to be taken in vain. It should only be pronounced with awe and reverence."

Thus groveled and fawned Signor Riccardo Forster, editor of the largest news organ in southern Italy, Il Mattino di Naples. Meanwhile, however, a very slight and cautious reaction from such typical abasement was setting in at Rome. There, a diligent official dared to criticize pampered Mario Carli, editor of L'Impero and prime favorite of Il Duce. Recently, Italian wives have been told by Signor Carli that they must bear a son every two years and intending tourists have been called "fat drones" and warned Estimate of Stimson.

From The Nation.

Not a great man, nor a showy one, but extremely able and a fine personal character is Henry L. Stimson, who appears to have been chosen by Herbert Hoover to be secretary of state. It can be said of him that he will conduct the state department in the spirit of Elihu Root. Of a cold personality, he often falls to give a proper understanding of himself to those who meet him. He has, however, a judicial temperament and is high-minded. If he is often too cautious, he is certainly more courageous than Mr. Hughes, and his general attitude of mind is that they are not wanted in Italy, since they are "more of a nuisance than a benefit."

The daring rebuker of Il Duce's favorite editor was Signor Ezio Maria Gray, president of the Italian State Tourist bureau. Wrote he, apostrophizing Editor Carli:

"Perhaps, as you say, there are travelers who would like to transform Italy into a large scale gaming house, have jazz bands playing under the dome of St. Peter's or turn the Coliseum into an amusement park. You may berate such people all you like, but for heaven's sake don't exaggerate, and at least have the courtesy not to ignore the fact that there are serious-minded persons who have a conception of tourists as fitting in perfectly with our national program."

"I beg you to consider for a moment that the tourist from beyond the Alps and beyond the ocean is a consumer, is a purchaser. Perhaps they don't buy many shoes or clothes, but they buy a great deal of luggage and many things, including Venetian shawls, Roman scarfs, alabaster, coral and tortoise shell. Perhaps they don't buy steamships, but they are passengers therein, and thereby they enable us to construct big de luxe liners. They don't buy locomotives or coaches, nonpartisan. Usually he is sure of his facts before acting. He was one of the best United States district attorneys New York City has ever had; his prosecution of James Gordon Bennett for improper advertising printed in the Herald called for much courage and was crowned with success; to the benefit of the entire newspaper business. A colonel of artillery in France during the war, and long connected with the national guard of New York, Mr. Stimson is distinctly militaristic and is an ardent advocate of heavy preparedness, as he showed while secretary of war in the Taft cabinet. In the Philippines he has done well but they use them and thereby enable us to build them.

By Williams

"To whom are you going to sell agricultural products and the fruits of noble industry? Only to Italians? Never to foreigners? Do you want to make Italy a closed market?"

Japan Approves First Jury System Results

Tokyo. (AP)—The first trial by jury under the new criminal procedure is considered by the judicial authorities to have demonstrated the benefits of the system adopted from Britain and America.

The jury system is being put into practice slowly and the first two months produced less than a dozen criminal cases in which the right of a jury trial was invoked. This right is permitted only in cases involving the death penalty or sentences of more than three years.

Don't Understand Wolves

Lawrence Trimble in the Saturday Evening Post

All that is wonderful yes, and lovable in a domestic dog is fundamentally the character of a wolf. So if we want to understand all we may about dogs, get down to fundamentals, we can't know too much about wolves.

I do not hold that our dog, with his many varieties of breeds, is descended from his wild kin, the wolf. But I am convinced, not from reading about the wolf but from knowing him socially, so speak, that wolves and dogs are at least descended from a common ancestry.

The reason so little of the true character of a wolf is known, and so much of what is supposedly true is dead wrong, is because the wolf most persons know is merely a figure of speech. Even before the Bible was written, the "rapacious, blood-lusting wolf" was the symbol to express every sort of evil manness, just as the lamb has been taken for the symbol of gentle innocence.

"But don't wolves kill and eat lambs? Doesn't that prove that the wolf is a rank outlaw, deserving no friendly consideration?" people protest.

"Well, don't we humans kill and eat lambs?"

"Yes, but wolves kill for the sheer love of killing don't they?" This question I have answered hundreds of times with, "Yes, sometimes they kill for the fun of it. But when men slaughter warm blooded fellow creatures for sport, wherein does it differ from killing for the love of killing?"

If the wolf's interest in killing proves anything, it proves that men have much more in common than man has with the lamb.

Most persons fear wolves. Many persons who live in wolf country hold them in deadly fear, not because they understand them but because they don't.

For years I've been seeking an authentic account of one instance when a man has been wantonly attacked by one wolf or a pack. As a matter of fact, the wolf is terrifically interested in and curious about his blood-lusting and relentless enemy, man. He has shown it in countless ways. Many stories of wolves pursuing humans have arisen from nothing more vicious on the part of a wolf than his abiding and curious interest.

Q. Who gives the order for the proclamation of the new ruler, when the king of England dies? M. K.

A. When the king of England dies the lords of the Privy Council, the lord mayor of London, the aldermen, and other officials assemble and give the order for the proclamation of the new sovereign. The new king then takes the prescribed oath.

as governor-general in that he has won the regard of the Filipinos, who have found him much more accessible, more co-operative, and more statesmanlike than was Leonard Wood. In Nicaragua he grabbed the damage done by the state department's blundering, and achieved a kind of peace, though only by maintaining a beaten president in office and buying up the arms of the bulk of the liberal army.

Q. When was the United States Army formed? B. McG.

A. The first regiments of the regular army were formed in 1789.

ATWATER KENT RADIO

Buy your radio just as you buy your farm machinery...

WHO MAKES IT—and how? Is it simple, and easy to keep in order? Will it do its job—and keep on doing it?

Aren't these the questions you want answered before you invest your money in a tractor and everything else you use on the farm?

It's the same way with radio. Here's an instrument your family will depend upon for years and years. You want to know it's always ready to go.

Atwater Kent Radio comes from the largest manufacturer. It is made of better materials than are ordinarily thought necessary. So strictly is its reputation guarded that one out of every eight workers is a tester or inspector—and every set has to pass 222 tests before it can leave the factory.

Battery Sets, $49-$68
Solid mahogany cabinets. Panels satin-finished in gold. Full-visibility Dial. Model 48, $49; Model 49, extra-powerful, $68. Prices do not include tubes or batteries.

Model 56
The new all-in-one set that fits so beautifully anywhere. Full-visibility Dial. For 110-120 volt, 50-60 cycle alternating current. Requires 6 A. C. tubes and 1 rectifying tube. Without tubes, $97.

Model 40 (Electric), $77
For 110-120 volt, 50-60 cycle alternating current. Requires 6 A. C. tubes and 1 rectifying tube, $77 (without tubes).

On the air—every Sunday night—Atwater Kent Radio Hour—listen in!
Prices slightly higher when the Rockies

Atwater Kent Mfg. Co., A. Atwater Kent, Pres. 4700 Wissahickon Ave., Philadelphia, Pa.

Flying Accidents

Let us not get the idea because we read of airplane accidents that amazing progress is not made in safe flying. As a matter of fact, flying is becoming increasingly safe. The reason, of course, that our attention is called to a number of accidents is that the use of the airplane is increasing at a tremendous rate. Thousands of people are now flying, as a matter of course, when but a few years ago the flyers could hardly be numbered in hundreds. In proportion to the number of machines in the air, the mishaps are far less frequent than formerly. The traveler by plane is probably as safe today as in almost any other common form of travel.

If you use Red Cross Ball Blue in your laundry you will not be troubled by those tiny rust spots, often caused by inferior bluing. Try it and see.—Adv.

Her Preference

Mrs. Maggs.—I've just been with Mrs.iggins to see one of them talking films. Personally, I prefer the un-speakable ones.

If you are up against a hard job that seems impossible, kick out the "Imp" and work heartily and cheerily.—Sir Robert Baden-Powell.

Couldn't Be Anything Else
Student (sniffing)—"I have a cold or something in my head." Professor—"A cold, undoubtedly."—Stray stories.

Loss of Power

and vital forces follow loss of flesh, or emaciation. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a herbal tonic that enriches the blood, stops the waste of strength and tissue, and helps to build up healthy flesh.

Thin, pale, puny, pimply children are made plump, rosy and robust by the "Discovery." All druggists.

In recovering from "Grippe," or in convalescence from pneumonia, fever or other wasting diseases, it speedsily and surely invigorates and builds up the whole system. Read this:

Savannah, Mo.—"I was run down in health and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery built me up wonderfully."

"I also suffered from constipation and Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets gave me perfect satisfaction. I notice such a great difference in Dr. Pierce's remedies from any of the others I have tried. Dr. Pierce's always turn out just as advertised."—Thomas Foley, 206 W. Pearl St.

Poor Donkey!

"Yes sir," said Mr. Gallagher, "it was funny enough to make a donkey laugh. I laughed till I cried."

PROOF OF DYES is in the dyeing!

Words won't dye a dress, or coat, or sweater. It takes real anilines to do that. That's why Diamond Dyes contain from three to five times more anilines than any other dye—by actual test.

It's the anilines in Diamond Dyes that do the work; that give the colors such brilliance; such depth and permanence. It's real aniline that keeps them from giving things that re-dyed look; from spotting or streaking.

Next time you have dyeing to do—try Diamond Dyes. Then compare results. See how soft, bright, new-looking the colors are. Observe how they keep their brilliance through wear and washing. Your dealer will refund your money if you don't agree Diamond Dyes are better dyes.

The white package of Diamond Dyes is the original "all-purpose" dye for any and every kind of material. It will dye or tint silk, wool, cotton, linen, rayon or any mixture of materials. The blue package is a special dye, for silk or wool only. With it you can dye your valuable articles of silk or wool with results equal to the finest professional work. When you buy—remember this. The blue package dyes silk or wool only. The white package will dye every kind of goods, including silk and wool. Your dealer has both packages.

Diamond Dyes

Easy to use Perfect results AT ALL DRUG STORES