his home on the place vacated by him last year. Coming up from Omaha Monday with the Jungman truck which also hauled up his furniture and household goods. He is already started in business as he brought a Jersey heifer and a crate of chickens. A cat and dog of theirs has been harbored by Johnson's awaiting their return. Their son, Ernest, will drive up an Overland coupe Sunday bringing Mrs. James, returning on the train Monday morning.

This country suffered a hard freeze Wednesday night, but apparently none of the fruit blossoms were damaged.

Henry Phelps, the hustling member of the northwest school board with the aid of his father and Johnson done some much needed toilet work, and otherwise improved things for the northwest schoolma'am last week. Adolph Johnson has furnished transportation for Mr. James this week, who has been very busy getting the home ready for the advent of Mrs. James.

This community has been repopulated again. The J. H. Bruns family has moved onto the Jellyneck place, Christ Judge on the Hostgneck place, Fred Barnes onto the place vacated by Clarence Tasler, Ralph Reize on the Havens place and Orvall Jensen onto the Henry Hemming ranch. The Bauer and the Fritchoff buildings are still vacant, but the land is leased.

This correspondent was powerfully affected by his old malady, rheumatism, it being such cold and changeable weather, last week and was otherwise about as busy as a cripple could be, hence the forgoing important news notes did not get ready to be recorded in last week's edition.

The four adjoining school districts, the Celia, Pioneer, Berry and Hendricks schools held a spelling contest Friday evening at the Pioneer school house. The Celia schoolma'am, Miss Clifford is justly very proud of her little flock as three of her scholars spelled the other schools off the floor, and of the three Pauline Fricke held the floor the longest. Quite a crowd attended in spite of the rainy spell that evening.

Mrs. W. O. James arrived as planned Saturday evening instead of Sunday. Ernest returned on the train Sunday morning, to Omaha.

Several hundred head of cattle have been brought into this north country for grazing from south and east of Atkinson. Garwood and son brought 200 head for Alfred Kazda Friday and Mr. Scott has about 300 head from various owners and Charlie Peterson the largest share of 500 head with which he is going to stock the Sol. Freid, or Dobbs ranch.

Miss Alpha E. Johnson accompanied Miss Sylvia Clifford and spent Sunday at the Clifford home, the Star ranch south of Atkinson. Miss Johnson brought a successful term of school to a close Friday, which was about as great a relief to the Cherry as the scholars, and it, as well as the scholars are to be commended for faithful attendance for eight months straight, and this schoolma'am has certainly made an impression on them all.

One of the finest rains you ever saw fell Sunday and Sunday night, which was very encouraging to the poor cows, who were fed short rations last winter, and it looks like the poor farmers will have at least twice as much hay to stack up this fall.

Mrs. Johnson has been full of activity lately and aside from setting hens and caring for an old husband and a
