WANT ROAD CHANGE

IN THURSTON COUNTY LINCOLN- (Special)-Forty farmers and business men from Thurston county formed a delegation that called on the governor and the head of the state highway system to secure a change in the location of a road. They want a graveled highway put in, connecting Thurston and Pender, instead of the road from Pender to Walthill, which was ordered by the legislature four years ago and upon which work has not started. They said that the county board favors the latter road, but that the one they want will be a farm to market highway and will give an all weather road in a part of the county that is most needed. They had with them a petition signed by 500 residents of the county, but face the fact that the road they don't want is in the list of the department and calls for federal

AGED ESTATE CASE TO

BE FINALLY SETTLED BEATRICE-(UP)-After pending in court here for 56 years the estate of Hattie L. Somers, a Beatrice womanan who died in 1873, is gradually being cleared of a clouded title. The documents in the case are written in long hand-it was before the time of typewriters-and are well preserved.

Mrs. Somers' will bequeathed her property to her husband and two children and named the husband as administrator. The affairs of the estate were brought to a conclusion but Somers failed to return to the court for final settlement. Before the matter could be adjusted he had moved away, and efforts to locate him were fruitless. In the meantime, the property was conveyed to persons who passed it on to others in the course of business transactions and not until a portion came into the possession of Mrs. Emma Floyd of this city, was any attempt made to clear the clouded title. Officials in the county court say that it will now be necessary to appoint another administrator and to hold a number of probate hearings. WIDLAND PREPARES FOR

YOUTH BACK WITH MOTHER

AFTER ABSENCE OF 11 YEARS OMAHA-(UP) - Mother's day meant much to Mrs. Emery Csipkes, who was reunited with her son, John, whom she had thought dead for 11 years. Saturday Mrs. Csipkes received a telegram from John at Wood, S. D., that he was coming to Omaha to visit her. Eleven years ago, when the boy was 14 years old, he became lost in a blizzard which raged about the Csipkes ranch home near Wood. Searching parties failed to find him and his parents gave him up for dead. Instead John safely weathered the storm and set out for the Pacific coast. He returned to Wood last week only to find that the family had moved to Omaha. He immediately got in touch with them here. The mother spent much time praying that her boy would return to her and was jubilant when her prayers were answered.

PHONE CONCERN GETS INCREASE

Nebraska Rail Commission Makes Order for Lines at Verdel

LINCOLN, NEB .- (Special) - The Ponca Valley Telephone company, of Verdel, has been given authority by the state railway commission to increase its rates 25 cents a month, which makes the net rates for business $2 a month and those for residence and rural service to $1.75. To this the company may add 25 cents each month where payment in advance is not made by the 10th of the current month. As the company has 19 business, 33 residence and 166 rural stations, this will add $684 to its yearly gross revenues.

The increase is made contingent upon and effective when the company completes the work of reconstruction now in progress, and also upon the giving of 24 hour service. This will eliminate the 10 cent charge now made for night and out-of-hour calls. Sixty per cent of the patrons signed a petition of consent to the 25 cent increase if these conditions were put in the order, and this was done. The property was purchased a few years ago by C. B. Campbell, who finds that the facilities were so badly depreciated that it is impossible to give proper service. He told the commission he had borrowed $3,000 to finance the reconstruction, and expected to reduce these into the form of long time obligations. The revenues last year were $3,284 and expenses $2,993, leaving $271 for dividends. About $400 of the additional revenues will be expended in paying for an extra operator and added taxes, and the commission finds that the sum left will not be more than a fair return on the property investment.

court fees. "I don't believe the judge is a criminal but there is ample grounds to hold him for trial. As much as I dislike to hold him for trial, since I have known him for years, I consider it my duty to do so," Justice Lear, before whom the preliminary was held, said, WAHOO, NEB .- (UP)-Two objections to evidence introduced by the state at the preliminary hearing of Judge G. N. Parmenter on embezzlement charges were overruled by Justice of the Peace Lehr, and the evidence was introduced. Objection was made to the right of the state to introduce evidence tending to show that part of the $3,-462 paid in by Judge Parmenter to cover losses were for fees he had taken prior to 1926 and are other alleged embezzlements than those listed in the 12 counts found against him during 1926, 1927, and 1928. The attorneys for the defendants also objected to the introduction of bank ledgers of the accounts of the trust fund of Judge Parmenter during the three years. These accounts showed that at times balance was as low as $1.50 to $3. Justice Lehr overruled both objections.

SISTERS SEEK ESTATE SHARES

Brothers Made Defendants in Action-Two 80-Acre Farms Involved

WILBER, NEB. - (Special) - Titles to two 80-acre tracts of land in Saline county owned by their brothers are being contested by Mrs. Emma Wassmele: and Mrs. Rose Orash in district court. Their father, Martin Bedlan, died intestate in September, 1927 and had previously deed the land to his two sons, James and Felix Bedlan. The sister maintain he did this only to keep his sons out of the army in the World war, as ownership of land was thought to be a cause of exemption from military duty.

The father was an incompetent for some time before his death and was in charge of a guardian. The deeds were not delivered to the sons when made in 1917 but were turned over just before his death. The mother, Mrs. Meri Bedlan, delivered the deeds and also is a defendant in the suit. Mrs. Bedlan, who does not speak English, told the court that deeds were properly made out and signed by her husband and herself, and that it was their desire that the sons have the land. A clause in the deed provided that Felix was to give Eily Bedlan, another sister, $500 and James Bedlan was to give Mrs. Barbara Kalina, another sister, $500.

A. O. U. W. COMPROMISES

WITH REBEL MEMBERS LINCOLN - (Special) - The state insurance department is advised that the grand lodge of the A. O. U. W., has made a compromise with a rebellious element in its memberships, made up of the ones who have longest been paying assessments.

Two years ago the grand lodge voted to abandon the assessment plan of doing business, as it was not certain that it could meet all contracts as they matured in the future. The lodge adopted what is known as the A. E. F. plan, which is the mathematical equivalent of legal reserve life insurance written on the basis of 4 per cent interest on reserve. This so greatly increased the cost to the members of more than 60 years that they started a lawsuit to prevent its application to them. Under the compromise plan adopted all members more than 60 years old will be allowed to choose between the A. E. F. plan and the national fraternal congress table of rates, which is materially lower, and yet higher than the average rate in force in the order in the past. WAYNE COUNTY FARMER

MOVE AGAINST BIG CREAMERY

Charge Price Discrimination in Action Started in Pierce County, Nebraska

LINCOLN, NEB .- (Special) -- Representative George W. O'Malley and other representatives of creamery interests in northwestern Nebraska are in the city seeking the aid of the attorney general in a prosecu-tion started by co-operative cream-ery companies to enjoin the big centralizer creameries from discriminating in the price paid for cream. The suit has already been filed in Pierce county, and is against the Harding Cream company, of Sioux City, the Fairmont Creamery company, of Omaha, Armour, Swift and Bridgeman and Russell.

It is asserted that the scheme is to put the small farmer companies out of business by paying more for cream at competitive points than the small fellows can pay. Mr. O'Malley says this is being done by making a service charge for inspection of cans of cream, which is all proper in its way, but is used in such a manner as to bring about a price discrimination, the charge being 3 cents a pound for cans less than 11 pounds, used by the co-operatives, and only one cent a pound for cans of more than 11 pounds, used by the centralizers.

WILL LICENSE AUTO DRIVERS

Nebraska Secretary of Public Works Prepares to Issue Proper Credentials

LINCOLN, NEB .- A1though the new drivers' license law is not effective until September 1, Secretary Roy Cochrane of the department of public works already is laying plans for licensing of automobile drivers. To care for the approximate million of drivers who will be licensed, a great deal of printing of forms and application must be done and bids are being received for the printing Cochrane said. Issuing of the licenses will be done by the county treasurers, who will give the original permit to the driver, will keep a copy in the county treasurer's office and will send a copy to the department of public works. The bureau of motor venicle registration will be in charge of filing the copies in the state office, Cochrane said. Under the law, licenses shall be granted without examination to all applicants who have driven an automobile for more than six months prior to the date of application, but after January 1, 1930, an examination will be given. No persons under 16 years of age, however, will be licensed. With almost 1,000,000 drivers scheduled to be licensed at the very start, Cochrane believes that the license will net approximately $750,-000. The license costs 75 cents, of which 25 cents will go to the state for administration of the law, and 50 cents to the general fund of the county for administration.

TUBERCULOSIS TESTING

BATTLE IS STILL ON LINCOLN, NEB .- (Special) -Attorney General Sorensen has filed a brief in supreme court in a case from Adams county that covers a point of law involved in several cases pending in northeastern Nebraska counties where farmers have enjoined the state department of agriculture from enforcing tests of cattle for bovine tuberculosis. The state lost in the lower court. The 1925 act was declared invalid in part. and the 1927 legislature sought to save the situation by a provision to the effect that where the work had reached certain points it was unnecessary to use the local petition requirements. The lower court said that the work in Adams county had antedated the passage of the 1927 act so far as to preclude its exemption from the local provisions and petition requirements. It said that the statute applied only where the state could, without interruption, continue a testing in process at the time the 1927 act was passed. The attorney general said that the sole purpose of the section in question was to conserve the benefits of the money and services expended previously.
