Sargon Brings Health After Twenty Years

"I suffered 20 years, and Sargon did me more good than all the other medicines I tried."

"For years I was on a strict diet, but even then, nothing seemed to digest right, and I was continually having trouble with what I was told was my gall bladder. I was told that my inactive liver had a lot to do with my trouble.

"I tried all kinds of medicines but as none of them did me any good, I decided to have an operation. I had my gall bladder drained, but this didn't give permanent benefit. My digestion didn't improve, my continued sluggish and the pain in my side wasn't a bit better."

"I started the Sargon treatment, but to tell the truth, I didn't have faith in it. In a very short time I could eat anything I wanted without distress. Now, my liver is active again. I have a splendid appetite and the pain in my side is entirely gone. I'm not constipated, and if there is anything the matter with my gall bladder I don't know it. Sargon is wonderful. I am in better health and feel stronger than I have in years. I wouldn't believe any medicine could have done as much for me."

The above statement was recently made by Francis H. Morgan, construction foreman, 1225 P St., Lincoln.

Francis H. Morgan is a native of Nebraska and was born in 1875. He has been a resident of Lincoln, Nebraska, for the past twenty years.

CELIA ITEMS

D. F. Scott is remodeling his home some on the inside; he also has put down a new well. Mr. Roberts and Milton McKathnie are doing the work.

Delbert and Dorothy Scott delivered 3 mules at the Anoka stock yards Tuesday for Johnson. They were sold to a mule company in Kansas City, Mo.

The cutworms have been quite a scourge this spring and are still at it, some of the neighbors have planted the field of corn three times and still they don't have a full stand.

H. C. Henning and family living in Long Pine, J. V. Johnson and wife and John Warner and family and Mrs. Warner's sister, Opal, Rossman, visited and had a fine dinner at the Orville Jensen home a week ago last Sunday.

Fay Carns, a fifteen year old boy who was brought up from Lincoln about two years ago and placed in J. V. Johnson's home ran away the other day, taking a horse and saddle with him. It was thought he started west for Gordon as that used to be his home, he has a sister residing there.

J. V. Johnson thinks everything is conspiring to make him feel old. Cold weather, rheumatism, old neighbors that still like to dance, and several other things that wouldn't look so good in print, but last and by no means the least, a real granddaughter is born into the family as an announcement from Spokane, Wash., states a daughter, Patricia Lee was born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Johnson, May 24, 1929.

A few of the ladies of this neighborhood wanted to go in and see the "Bringing Up Father," when Maggie and Jiggs was presented in town a few days ago. J. V. Johnson kindly offered the service of the community truck as a means of transportation. The ladies wanted to improve on some points in using the rolling pin and rooted for Maggie of course. The men have not expressed themselves but they likely think that compared with themselves, Jiggs had a snap.

Johnson started out the next day with the truck intending to haul both boy and horse back if her overtook them; he got as far as Ainsworth without seeing a trace of them. Peter Duffy had been notified about the disappearance of the horse and boy and he in turn notified the peace officers along the line as far as Ainsworth, and enquiring at that place Johnson was informed by the sheriff the horse had been left at a barn in Stuart so Johnson returning brought the horse in the truck, nothing has been heard of the boy since he left. It was quite a surprise to the Johnsons as the boy had never expressed any dissatisfaction with his home and conditions. This leaves the Johnsons' entirely alone. They raised four boys of their own who are all gone. The same day the boy ran away, their daughter left for an extended visit in the east.
