PUNTENEY—WEBSTER

Norfolk News: Royal, Neb., July 31—Social circles here are all in a whirl over the marriage of Ray W. Punteney, proprietor of Royal's meat shop, and Mrs. Katie Webster of O'Neill, formerly of Royal. Both have been residents of this vicinity for a long period of years and are widely known. They will make their home in what is known as the H. E. Field property on Main street. The wedding took place on Monday at the Gurney Seed House at Yankeon.

TWO MEN INJURED BY BRIDGE WASH-OUT

Tracy Gwin and Ed Summers were quite badly bruised and cut when the Dodge car they were driving went through a bridge to the creek below last Friday night. The accident occurred on the Eagle creek about sixteen miles northwest of O'Neill near the Floyd Johnson place.

It seems that the recent high water had washed away a part of the bridge and the driver failed to notice it until he was too close to stop the car.

A tree prevented the car from pinning the occupants of the car in the water and quick-sand of the creek.

DIX GETS CHANCE FOR CLEVER WORK

"Nothing But the Truth," a farce-comedy starring Richard Dix, with Helen Kane, Louis John Bartels, Berton Churchill, Ned Sparks, Wynne Gibson, Dorothy Hall, Madeline Grey and Nancy Ryan supporting. A Paramount all-talking picture, directed by Victor Schertzinger, at the Royal Theatre Sunday and Monday.

Richard Dix's first all-talking picture, "Nothing But the Truth" is undoubtedly one of his best. And that is saying something, because the handsome young Paramount star has made more than thirty films.

"Nothing But the Truth" is that favorite of farce successes revamped for the screen and refurbished with newer and better comedy situations and an adequate trimming of music, singing and dancing.

Dix plays the part of the young man who makes a wager that he can tell nothing but the truth for 24 consecutive hours. He wins the bet after going through a veritable circus of bizarre and uproariously amusing situations.

The play is chock full of rich humor and does not lag for an instant.

Helen Kane's singing in her famous "baby talk" manner is an agreeable feature of the production. She turns in a fine comedy characterization, as do Louis John Bartels, Ned Sparks, Berton Churchill and Wynne Gibson.

"Nothing But the Truth," then, is one "look and listen" film you should not miss.

FISH COMMISSION WILL BUY FINGERLINGS

Time and money has been wasted in the fruitless endeavor to restock fishing waters with fish fry. The little fish, or fry as they are called, when dumped into ponds or streams, have one chance in twenty of escaping their enemies and reaching legal size. For this reason the Commission will pay a liberal price for fingerlings from six to ten months old.

Experience has shown that in waters where such fingerlings have been released two years ago, now fine catches of legal size bass and crappie are being caught. In one small bayou that was stocked with fingerling big mouth bass in 1926, several four pound bass have been caught by pole and bobber fishermen using worms for bait. These are not mere fish stories but actual proofs that stocking waters with large size fish instead of tiny babes, the fishing will again be good along the Elkhorn river.

In order to get as many fingerlings as possible in the near future, the Commission is encouraging private production of fish. It will provide spawners at actual cost and pay from $10 to $50 per thousand for fingerlings according to kind and size. A special representative, or field man, has been employed to inspect and make surveys of sites owned by individuals who may be interested in raising fingerlings for the state. Applications made to the Game, Forestation and Park Commission, Lincoln, Nebraska, will receive prompt attention.

Ponds of an acre or more in size having a constant and controllable water supply and so constructed as they may be drained to a small area, or so called kettle in order to take out the fish without injury, are required. In shallow well areas several of the best ponds in the west are supplied by windmills. Flowing wells and springs are also utilized.

As an industry, fish rearing is going to become popular as well as profitable. Aside from the profit benefit derived from the stocking of local waters is an incentive to many who are going into the fish hatching and rearing game.

THE 4-H CLUB

The "Princess Slip" was our weekly lesson for the Ever-Blooming 4-H Sewing Club last Wednesday. The meeting was held at the home of the Pospisil girls. The Secretary being absent, Mary Emerson was chosen by the President to take her place. The roll call was answered by eleven, six being absent. Not a very good record, but I'm sure they will all try to come next time. Another good demonstration was put on by the girls. Two groups of two girls each gave the demonstration, one girl of each group showing how to make a button-hole, the other how to sew on a button, and the blanket stitch.

The clothes pin bags were examined and Maita Suverkrubbe's bag was judged the best.

As there was no new or unfinished business, the meeting was rather short, and was adjourned to meet at the home of the news reporter Judith Wiley, on Wednesday, July 31st.

Following the usual delicious lunch we returned home feeling very happy.

O'Neill's Telephone System To Be Reconstructed

To fulfill the request of the people of O'Neill for improved telephone service, work will be started shortly on an extensive improvement program. This involves a change from magneto to common battery service.

When the program is completed O'Neill will have as fine a telephone system as any city of this size in the state.

The plans in brief are as follows:

1. Erection of a building to house the business office and local and long distance equipment.
2. To replace all of the magneto telephones in town with common battery telephones.
3. To install a new common battery switchboard, long distance board, telephone repeaters and other central office equipment.
4. To put in 22,000 feet of new cable and 1,816 feet of underground conduit, and to string the aerial cable on poles used jointly with the electric light company, wherever practical.
5. To remove the poles from the main street in the business district as soon as service can be furnished over the new equipment.

We are pleased to have this opportunity of providing the people of O'Neill with a telephone system that will meet their needs most satisfactorily.
