PORK PRODUCTION SPECIAL TO STOP HERE

Representatives of the Burlington Railroad and the Agricultural College met with the local Profitable Pork Production Committee, consisting of Dr. W. F. Finley, Chairman; L. E. Downey, Dr. Bennett and Neil P. Brennan.

Plans and details of the Profitable Pork Production Special were discussed and arrangements were completed for the Special, which is to visit this community in October.

The "Hog Train" as many are calling it, will be the first educational train ever operated in Nebraska which has dealt exclusively with the hog industry. Approximately 32% of the gross farm income for Nebraska is from hogs. Nebraska farmers receive this large portion of their income from hogs despite the fact that one out of every four pigs born in the state dies from preventable disease. Since results secured by Experiment stations and actual producers show these losses can be overcome the Burlington officials feel that the operating of the Special will result in more profitable hog production.

The Profitable Pork Production Special will consist of a nine car demonstration train, dealing with various phases of swine management. It will cover the entire Burlington System in Nebraska stopping at about 65 towns. The whole scheme of exhibits and program which are designed to further the effective work on hog sanitation and other approved production methods, which the college has been doing.

The official party making the advance trip over the territory to be covered by the Special consisted of L. E. Caldwell, Sup't., Omaha Division; Ray Hulbert, Roadmaster; Val Kuska, Colonization Agent of the C. B. & Q.; and R. E. Holland, of the College of Agriculture.

W. F. JOHNSON HAS OLD HEIRLOOM

(Ewing Advocate)

W. F. Johnson, living northeast of Ewing, has an old heirloom which he prizes very highly. It is an old copybook formerly belonging to his mother, and is a hundred years old. One of the fly leaves of the book is the autograph of his mother who was then Miss Fanny Coffman, and is dated 1833. She was using the copybook in school at this time.

He also has some valuable souvenirs of the Civil War, left him by his father, Henry A. Johnson. Mr. Johnson enlisted in the Indiana Volunteers, was in eighteen engagements. He first enlisted for three months and his second enlistment lasted over three years. Mr. Johnson prizes these old relics very highly, and would not part with them at any price.

WILLIAM JOYCE

William Joyce, one of Holt county's oldest settlers, passed away at his home on Everett street shortly after seven o'clock Wednesday morning, August 14th, following a four weeks illness which began with a partial stroke of paralysis.

William Joyce was born January 10, 1850, at Galway, Ireland; when a very small child he was taken to Scotland, where he grew to manhood; while yet a young man he came to America; for a number of years he was employed at a blast furnace of a manufacturing plant at Youngstown, Ohio. In April 1875, he came to Holt county and homesteaded a half section of land three miles north and two miles west of O'Neill, which he continued to own until the time of his death. After he proved up on the homestead he took a pre-emption southwest of O'Neill where he made his home for three years, then returning to the homestead where he continued to reside with his family until 1920 when he moved to his residence property in O'Neill.

On November 27, 1871, he was united in marriage to Anna Stanton, at Youngstown, Ohio; to this union seven children were born, six of whom survive; they are Miss Mary, Miss Anna, Miss Grace, and Thomas J., of O'Neill, and Miss Agnes and Miss Margaret, of Chicago; Mrs. George Shoemaker, deceased.

Mr. Joyce was a man who enjoyed a wide circle of friends; he was always active and took a great interest in the affairs of his country and the community in which he lived; he was honest to a fault and those who knew him best were proud of his friendship; he was a man who made the world better by his kindly influence.
