DRIVERS LICENSES GOING OUT RAPIDLY

County Treasurer Conklin is busy these days writing applications for drivers license. Everyone over the age of sixteen years who drives a car will be required to have a drivers license; anyone under the age of sixteen years is not permitted by law to drive a car; driving a car without a license will be in violation of the law and will be subject to the penalty prescribed. We have been informed that a rigid enforcement of the traffic laws will be observed in the very near future; perhaps the officer who will do the enforcing may be an outside man, perhaps he will be a local man—no one knows. The laws should be obeyed for the safety of the public. One writer says:

"Every once in a while we notice a car with either the front or back number missing, and in some cases both numbers gone. That is not such a bad crime, but it is contrary to law. Another menace is the man who will drive his car with but one light showing. It is a trying position to meet one at night. The excuse is made that I was on my way home when the light went out and I didn't want to go back. 'It'll be just too bad' for the one-light driver in the case of a serious wreck. Just too bad!"

SEVERE ELECTRICAL STORM VISITS O'NEILL WEDNESDAY

A severe electrical storm visited O'Neill Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning. The lightning struck a number of houses and entered several on the electrical wiring; a transformer was burned out for the light company and a number of cattle were killed for farmers near O'Neill.

Lightning struck the Jap Ritts residence, further mention of which will be found in another column; the residence of Miss Mary Carney was struck and a large hole torn in the roof; the Dennis Hanley place lost a chimney, the lights and radio were burned out; the Satrang residence in the southeastern part of town was slightly damaged; lightning followed the wiring into the Clyde King residence, lighting up the room and giving George Stannard a light shock; lightning followed the wiring into the Bernard Matthews residence and gave Mr. and Mrs. Matthews a light shock; they were in bed, and the shock came through a bed lamp that was attached to the bed. Mrs. Matthews suffered a slight burn on one hand; lightning entered the Alfonso Rouse residence through the telephone and flashed in the room; we understand that the residence occupied by Babe Wyant was also struck during the storm; lightning struck a telephone line east of the Ditch Camp residence southwest of O'Neill, and entered the residence; only a slight damage was done. J. K. Ernest, residing five miles northwest of O'Neill lost fourteen head of cattle by lightning during the storm; the cattle were not along a fence but were well out into the pasture. During the Wednesday noon storm that passed north of O'Neill, lightning killed a cow for Morris Graham, residing a couple of miles north.

JAP RITTS HOME BURNS WEDNESDAY MORNING

About four o'clock Wednesday morning the Jap Ritts residence, a short distance southwest of the cemetery, northwest of O'Neill, was discovered to be on fire. The fire alarm was sounded but the firemen were unable to reach the burning residence because of an insufficient amount of hose—about 250 feet more of hose was needed to reach the fire, and the building burned to the ground.

The building was thought to have been struck by lightning in the electrical storm that visited us about one o'clock Wednesday morning, and smoldered in the attic until it gained headway. Mr. Ritts says that he smelled smoke and began a search for the fire; the house was a very large thirteen room structure, besides containing many cupboards and closets; Mr. Ritts says that the fourth attempt to locate the fire was successful in discovering it in the attic when he opened a closet door on the upper floor which contained a manhole leading to the attic.

An effort was made to extinguish the flames but they had gained too much volume to be subdued.

Jap Ritts, Lester Ritts and Uncle Levi Ritts, who were farming the place, were the only occupants of the house as Mrs. Lester Ritts was at the home of her mother, Mrs. Johnson, who is quite ill.

Only a small amount of clothing and bedding was removed from the building as the fire soon came to the lower part of the house after the flames were discovered.

The residence was built by Pat Haggerty, in the latter '80's and was one of the old land marks in this community.

The building and contents were covered by insurance.

S. DOWNEY AND PARTY GUESTS OF AIR LINE

Sumner Downey and Miss Esther Rustemeyer of the O'Neill Photo Company and Mrs. Kenneth Pound and her daughter Barbara Jean, of Blair, Nebraska, were the guests of the Rapid City Air Lines from the Burwell, Nebraska, big rodeo, in the Ford all metal plane that landed in O'Neill last Saturday morning.

Air plane trips by O'Neill people are becoming quite frequent this summer. A number of traveling salesmen and local citizens have flown to O'Neill from distant points recently which all goes to prove that O'Neill should begin to arrange for an adequate landing field where a plane could land without taking a chance of being wrecked on a rough field.
