THOMAS J. BRENNAN WILL START NEW CREAMERY

At last O'Neill is to have a first class up-to-the-minute creamery located right here in the heart of O'Neill. This is not to be an outside concern; it will be owned and operated by Thomas J. Brennan of this city.

Mr. Brennan has secured the services of Mr. Iddings, a professional dairy expert who has been in the city several days making drawings and plates and arranging for the remodeling of the building to suit the requirements of the creamery.

Mr. Iddings, who is making the drawings, has had plenty of experience in this sort of creamery work; he is a graduate of Purdue College of Agriculture in Indiana; he spent two years in University Extension work in Virginia; the past ten years has been spent in the sort of work that he is doing for Mr. Brennan.

Mr. Brennan estimates that the remodeling of the building and the new equipment will represent an investment of almost six thousand dollars besides the original cost of the building; which is just another evidence that everything is being done to bring this plant right down to date.

Tom is not asking for one cent of donation as is usually done in the starting of institutions of this kind; usually a stranger comes along and asks farmers and business men to subscribe for stock or make liberal donations in order that institutions of this kind may be had; the people of O'Neill and vicinity should get squarely behind this venture and give Mr. Brennan their hearty support which will be necessary to make the business a success; the creamery will make a better market for cream and produce which in turn will bring more people to O'Neill, all of which will add to the advantages of O'Neill as a trading center.

Every business that can be brought to O'Neill is an asset to the town. Mr. Brennan invites everyone to come to the creamery as soon as he is able to get it in shape; the remodeling will require two weeks or more; when everything is in readiness, Mr. Brennan is going to have a grand opening and he promises the Frontier that it will be worth coming many miles to see.

There will be no hitch in the milk route or the sale of milk at the plant; Mr. Hull will remain in charge for the present until the new equipment is fully installed.

Mr. Brennan will handle pasteurized milk, raw milk, all kinds of cream, butter and selected eggs. The Frontier welcomes the new creamery to O'Neill and we fully believe that it will be a wonderful advantage to every farmer in this locality.

FATHER FLANNIGAN BENEFIT GOES OVER BIG AT ROYAL

The benefit picture, "Glad Rag Doll," netted the neat sum of $82.20 for the Father Flannigan Boys' Home when it was shown at the Royal Theatre last Thursday afternoon. The picture was donated by Warner Brothers, the Royal Theatre management donated the presentation of the picture and the local newspapers charged nothing for the advertising.

The Father Flannigan Boys' Home was badly damaged by fire some time ago; the home is maintained entirely by donations and assistance given by liberal citizens throughout the country.

Father Flannigan and the boys of the Home have written Mrs. Rasley, of the Royal Theatre, thanking her and also the people of the community who assisted and made it possible for the show to be presented; also those who patronized the show. The management of the Home appreciate the interest that the people are taking in the work of the Home.

Harrison, near Blackbird, in the northeastern part of the county. Joe says that he expects to locate on a farm in Illinois where he will farm during the coming season.

Envoy Charles Dykstra, of state headquarters of the Salvation Army, of Omaha, was in town this week laying the plans for the county campaign. Three men from the American Legion were appointed to put this over, John Lansworth, R. L. Jordan and R. M. Sauer; to not only protect the Salvation Army, but also the business men from fake solicitors and impostors. The so called slum army, rescue army, Samaritan army the army of the redeemed and numerous armies, Dykstra said, are soliciting all over the state, asking money for an army which is not connected with this world-wide organization which, on the line of social service, has uncovered a permanent road for reclamation of the world's cast-off, broken and ship-wrecked humanity. Welfare workers the world over never have spoken apologetically of the armies' evangelistic and charitable activities; to the desolate hovel of the drunkard; to the sordid dance of vice and crime; to the vile haunts of midnight horror; to the soundless abyss of want and woe and to the dreary cell of the convict. Dear workers have carried the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

JOSEPH HENRY WISE

Joseph Henry Wise, one of O'Neill's most highly respected citizens, and a resident of this city for the past twenty-seven years, passed away at his home on east Everett street last Sunday afternoon at about 2:30 o'clock following an illness of several months. For the past year Mr. Wise had been in declining health but was unable to determine the cause; for the past few months he has been confined to his home and to his bed only a part of the time.

The deceased was born in Luzerne County, Pennsylvania, September 7, 1853. At an early age his family moved to Sandusky, Ohio; in 1867 the family moved to Illinois where they resided for one year before moving to Scott county, Iowa. In 1874 he came to Nebraska and located in Seward county where he made a home for his mother; he was elected sheriff of Seward county in the fall of 1898 and served in that office for four years. He came to O'Neill in July, 1900 and was engaged in the flour and feed business for a number of years. On January 18, 1910 he was united in marriage to Miss Flora G. Bentley of this city, and continued to reside here until his death.

The funeral services were held from the Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, conducted at the church by Rev. O. A. Fortune, pastor of the Methodist church, and at the cemetery by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, of which order he was a member.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation for the many acts of kindness shown us during the illness and following the death of our dear husband and brother-in-law, Joseph Wise, and for the many floral tributes.

OBITUARY

Lois Irene Brentson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brentson, was born at Opportunity, Holt county, Nebraska, on August 12, 1912. She lived here until six years of age when she came with her parents to York, Nebraska, where she lived until July, 1929, when she came to Protection to live at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Creighton. At the opening of the fall term of school, she entered as a Junior, in the Protection High School, and was active in the activities of the school at the time of her death. She was among those who attended and took part in the Fine Arts contest held at Greensburg, last Friday, contributing her part toward winning of the second place by Protection. On the way home she was heard to say more than once that she was so glad that she was going to get to go to Wichita, along with the others whose placing at Greensburg had enticed them to go. But such was not to be. A summons came which could not be resisted, and Lois was not, for God had taken her.

Being of a jovial and lovable disposition, she endeared herself to all who knew her and will be greatly missed by her friends and classmates in the school and community. As they have been, so they will through many days to come, find themselves saying to themselves, "Is it really so?" Is Lois really dead? Her death was so sudden, so unexpected, so out of the ordinary, that it has come to all with more than the usual force and shock.

Lois united with the Methodist Church in childhood and at the time of her death was a member in York, Nebraska. Since coming here she has attended church regularly, and was a member of the choir.

She leaves to mourn her passing, her parents, two sisters and one brother: Miss Neva Brentson, Opportunity, Nebr.; Mrs. Albert Throckmorton, Lincoln, Nebraska; William Russell Brentson, Lincoln, Nebraska; her aunt and cousin, Mrs. W. B. Creighton and daughter, Chlores, and a host of relatives and friends.

The funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon from the Methodist church in Protection, in charge of the local pastor, the Rev. A. L. Hughes and interment was in the Protection cemetery.
