SUGAR BEET CULTURE HINTS

Valuable Information on Preparation of Seed Beds, Planting and Thinning Beets.

An average or ideal stand is 26,000 beets to the acre, planting in 20-inch rows.

We beg to submit, therefore, a few short and timely hints, which should be valuable in securing a better stand of beets.

Numerous causes are accountable for shortage; some of them are unavoidable and produced by the uncontrollable elements, but the majority can be attributed either to the thinning contractor or to the farmer himself.

Preparation of Seed Bed

The most important point in order to secure a good stand is to thoroughly prepare the seed bed. After the field has been pulverized and harrowed, both in length and crosswise, pack the top soil well for about two or three inches deep.

If rain is expected soon after planting, do not roll your land as the rainfall will pack the surface soil sufficiently to insure uniform sprouting of the beet seed. Prepare your land as quickly as possible and begin planting immediately after it is worked down, in order to avoid drying out of the seed bed, as beet seed require considerable moisture to produce germination.

Planting

The next important step in the cultivation of sugar beets is the planting. Early in the season the farmer should thoroughly examine his beet drill to see that it is in perfect working order when planting time arrives. The time to plant depends upon the season as well as on the rainfall and nature of the soil.

Not less than fifteen pounds of beet seed to the acre should be planted in order to secure a good and profitable stand under all conditions, because should dry weather prevail, enough seed will generally germinate to make a satisfactory stand. Furthermore, should a crust be formed on the field after a heavy rain, one plant will help its neighbor to break through the crust. Therefore, sow at least fifteen pounds of seed per acre.

We have noted from personal observation that many of the farmers in our district are inclined to plant the seed too deep. Beet seed should never be planted more than three-fourths to one and a half inches deep and care should be taken that the soil is well packed around the seed by the press wheels in order to draw the moisture necessary for germination. Avoid deep planting, as the deeper the seed is planted the weaker the plants will be when they come through the soil.

SPLendid CAST IN THE PICTURE "UNTAMED"

Important film names are in the cast of "Untamed," the first Joan Crawford talking picture, which will open at the Royal Theatre Sunday and Monday.

Jack Conway, one of the most popular directors of Hollywood, came to the picture direct from his success with "Our Modern Maidens."

Willard Mack, the playwright, made such a success with the talking version of "Madame X" that he was assigned to do the talking scenario of "Untamed."

Robert Montgomery, one of Broadway's most brilliant young actors, comes to the lead after being featured in "So This is College," his first talking film. He was signed to a long term M-G-M contract by virtue of his work in Broadway stage hits as "Possession" and "One of the Family." Young, goodly-headed, possessed of a pair of both hands, and a smile, Montgomery is rated as one of the most promising "new faces" to be brought to pictures.

Ernest Torrence needs no introduction. He plays Joan's scheming Scotch guardian.

Holmes Herbert, Torrence's pal in the picture, made a name for himself in "The Thirteenth Chair," and as Floriot's friend in "Madame X."

Gwen Lee, beautiful slim blonde of M-G-M, has the greatest part of her career as "Marge," the "other girl."

People who saw Don Terry play "Me Gangster," know him as a very capable young actor. In "Untamed," however, he engages with Montgomery in a fast moving fistie battle, which brings into play the prowess shown when, as "Bobbie Dinsmore," he won the light heavyweight title of England in 1926.

INMAN ITEMS

The processional, with Mrs. R. Poe at the piano.

Quite a number from Inman attended the circus at O'Neill, Monday. The Y. M. Club were entertained at the home of Mrs. G. E. Moor, last Friday.

The class and faculty were escorted by Miss Jessie Coventry, Junior president.

Following the processional was a song, "Mighty Army of the Young," by the congregation.

The invocation and Scripture reading was then offered by Rev. Poe, of the Methodist church.

Mrs. E. C. Peterson, of O'Neill, was in Inman, Monday, visiting her mother, Mrs. R. M. Conard, who is ill.

The Baccalaureate services were held last Sunday evening at the M. E. church. The program was as follows:

Miss Clara Jeanne Mashek of Norfolk, Nebraska, was in Inman last Saturday, applying for a position in the schools for the coming year.

Miss Mildred Keyes, who is teaching in the school at Martha, spent the week-end here at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Keyes.

The school glee club then sang a number entitled "Marching On." After the announcements, the glee club then sang "The Old, Old Path."

Mrs. E. L. Watson, Mrs. Leo Mossman, Mrs. Lizzie Colman and Miss Bea Gallagher drove to Norfolk, Tuesday, where they spent the day, returning that evening.

Harold Killinger, of Inman, a Senior at Nebraska Wesleyan University, at Lincoln, will play a part in the play, "Tons of Money," to be presented by the Senior class, on May 29th.

Mr. and Mrs. George Tharp, of Longmont, Colorado are here visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. Geo. Killinger and family. Mr. and Mrs. Tharp were former residents of Inman.

The Junior, Sophomore and Freshman classes of the Inman high school together with Principal and Mrs. Wm. Main, attended the Senior class play at O'Neill last Wednesday night. They say it was a fine play.

W. H. Chicken and daughters Dorothy and Wilma, and Mrs. Wm. Main drove to Gracia, Nebraska, Friday, to attend the closing exercises of the school taught by Miss Muriel Chicken. Miss Muriel accompanied them home that evening.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Robinson, of Albion, were in Inman, Monday of this week visiting friends; they were enroute to the Black Hills and other points in South Dakota and Minnesota. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were former teachers in the Inman school.

The sermon was delivered by Elder Melvin Russell of the L. D. S. church who took for his text "I Am Come That They Might Have Life and That They Might Have It More Abundantly," St. John 10-10. At the close of the sermon the glee club sang "Ivory Palaces." Benediction was by Elder Russell.

Mrs. Martin Conard, who has been at the Lutheran hospital in Norfolk, Nebraska, receiving medical treatment, came home one day last week. It was thought at the time that she was rapidly improving, but after her arrival home, she became worse and at this time her condition is very critical.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sattler moved to Norfolk, last week. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tickner and family will move into the house vacated by Sattlers; Mr. and Mrs. W. Tickner will move into the house vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Colman, and Tom Colman and family will occupy the house vacated by the Tickner family.

A miscellaneous shower was given in honor of Miss Bessie McClurg, at the home of Mrs. A. N. Butler, last Tuesday evening. Quite a number were present and Miss McClurg received a number of lovely gifts. Miss McClurg, who has been the 7th and 8th grade teacher for the past two years, will be married in the near future.

A. Hopkins met with a very painful accident one day last week; he had just hitched a team to a disk and was getting upon the seat, when the horses started up throwing Mr. Hopkins to the ground and spraining his ankle very badly. The disk then ran over his foot, inflicting a deep wound which required several stitches to close.

The Desire for GREATER SAFETY makes necessary this 80 mile-an-hour OIL

"I never drive 80 miles an hour—how does this 80 mile-an-hour oil benefit me?" is a question asked us many times since we announced the Improved Tagolene here recently. This new lubricant, road-tested to withstand any speed, was made for you—to give you the greater safety and protection you have wanted at 30, 50, and 70 miles.

Here is an easy way to understand why you need oil with a Margin of Safety: In a 350-page book that measures one inch between covers, the thinness of ONE PAGE is the thickness of the film of oil between cylinders and pistons and around the bearings. Only 1/300 to 1/400 of an inch! If this seal of oil allows the fast moving metal parts to touch, then put in a call for the repair man.

Lubrication engineers of Skelly Oil Company made many tests to discover the best formulas for this new speed-proofed lubricant and proved a specially selected Mid-Continent paraffin base crude to be the best. The careful development of the Improved Tagolene has made the most of this oil's possibilities.

As distributors of Tagolene here, we are confident it will stand abuse better than any other oil on the market today. Why not start benefiting now with a change to Tagolene?
