RUTH CHATTERTON WINS QUICK RENOWN

In much less than a year's time Ruth Chatterton has achieved a position among feminine talking screen stars that is very close to the popular leadership of Clara Bow. Miss Chatterton's first all-talking screen appearance was in "The Doctor's Secret." Then followed in quick succession several other hits and now "Sarah and Son," which will be seen and heard at the Royal Theatre Sunday and Monday, June 8th and 9th. "Sarah and Son" is a story of mother love, showing the deep love of a struggling singer for her baby boy and her tragic pain when her worthless husband steals the child. It shows her mother love frustrated and repressed, only to be revived when operatic success gives her the position to renew the search for her boy. In the end it shows her finding him, in a reunion shared by the man she loves and can now marry.

As the central starring figure, has distinguished all her work before Sarah, Miss Chatterton performs with the same brilliant artistry that the camera and microphone. Frederic March is her leading man in the picture. Philippe de Lacy, little French war orphan, plays the part of her son. Others in the cast are Fuller Mellish, Jr., of "Applause" villainy fame; Gilbert Emory, Doris Lloyd and William Stack.

E. N. PURCELL SENDS REGARDS TO FRIENDS

The Frontier editor received a nice letter from our old friend and former townsman, E. N. Purcell, of North Platte, Nebraska, in which he says: "Well, here we are on our way home from the N. Y. Life Insurance Co. convention, which was held at West Baden Springs, Indiana; sure some place; the wife, Louella and I left home last Tuesday, going by way of Chicago; saw the White Sox beat Detroit, Saturday; sure some game. Was down to Louisville, Kentucky today and took in the Derby—sure a bunch of fine jumping ponies. Was in the largest gambling hall in the U. S.; tried Faro, and some of the other games but did not break the bank. Driving home by way of St. Louis, Kansas City and Omaha. Give regards to the bunch; may be in O'Neill before long."

Mr. Kaup's condition is not thought to be serious but the condition of Miss Grace is thought to be quite grave.

SIMMONS TO GAIN COVETED POSITION

(Norfolk News.)
Representative Robert G. Simmons of the Sixth Nebraska district is slated for a promotion in the committee organization of the lower house of Congress, according to the Washington Post. Congressman Simmons has been chairman of the District of Columbia committee of the appropriations committee. He is to be advanced to the chairmanship of the subcommittee that handles the department of agriculture's appropriation bill, a post that he is said to have coveted for a long time. The Washington Post comments as follows: "A man of tremendous energy, Mr. Simmons probably has worked harder on the district appropriations bill than any man who ever held the chairmanship of his subcommittee. And yet there is no question but that his task has been a thankless one. The local achievement of which he perhaps is most proud is his work toward establishing a municipal center here, an area in which will be grouped all the buildings to house the district government."

WALTER P. CHRYSLER'S TRAFFIC TALKS

STOP SIGNS IN CITY AND COUNTRY

Twenty five per cent of the cases of collision between a railroad train and an automobile, according to the last survey, were caused by the automobile running at full speed into the side of the train.

Regardless of other forms of warning, at every cross road in the case of every accident was a sign bearing in black upon a white surface, in letters approximately ten inches high, the word STOP.

In cities and towns, it is now customary for the police regulations to call for the placing of a similar STOP sign at all roads intersecting main arteries. The same precaution that is used for a railroad crossing is employed for protection at an express motor highway.

It has been found that motorists almost invariably obey these signs, whether an officer is present or not, many of them actually stopping and changing to first gear, others practically coming to a stand still, and all appreciably lowering the speed to less than an average of eight miles an hour. Police drives concentrated on violation of this particular regulation have helped to impress the motorist of the importance of the measure.

Why will the motorist obey the STOP sign in the city and not in the country?

It is possible that since motorists are actually arrested for the violation of the city regulation and rarely if ever for the ignoring of the railroad crossing warning, we have the answer.

The warning STOP or FULL STOP in the city is looked upon as something to be obeyed along with other well known traffic regulations. The STOP sign at the railroad crossing is looked upon merely as a warning, for personal safety, which can be heeded or unheeded as the driver desires.

Only when operators of motor vehicles regard the railroad crossing STOP sign as a law, which they will obey, can this particular twenty five per cent of the death toll be lowered.
