

ANOTHER FAMOUS 14 POINTS

DEVELOPED FROM MORE THAN 10 THOUSAND OBSERVATIONS DURING THE PIKE'S PEAK TEST, NOW BECOME YOUR GUIDE WHEN BUYING MOTOR OIL

Technical Report and Certificate of Performance . . . Certified Test No. 2268 Summary of Results

It should be understood that statements made herein are applicable only to tests made under the supervision of the American Automobile Association Contest Board between September 6 and October 5, 1929, over the Pike's Peak Automobile Highway and Colorado Springs and Cullman Road, and the conditions noted, except in so far as the legitimate inferences might be extended.

Between September 6 and October 5, 1929, three popular nationally known brands of motor oil were tested side by side with CONOCO Germ-Processed oil on Pike's Peak under the supervision of the American Automobile Association Contest Board.

The Board's findings have been expressed briefly in the "fourteen points" below.

- 1 That the test procedure was followed accurately and that no deviation therefrom occurred which might seriously affect the soundness of any conclusions based upon the data;
- 2 That a reduction in the rate of wear occurring during the use of CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil over that occurring with the other oils used to the extent of 7.6 per cent was shown during these tests;
- 3 That greater stability of the subject oil during these tests was shown by records of examination of drained oils being nearer the viscosity of the original or fresh oil and by chemical tests of drained oils with the fresh oils;
- 4 That frictional temperatures occurring during the use of the subject oil were lower than temperatures occurring during the use of the comparables;
- 5 That higher compression pressures were obtained with the use of the subject oil during these tests than with the use of other oils. It would be directly inferred that this was caused by better ring seal;
- 6 That using the subject oil and during each test, greater gasoline mileage for economy was obtained than during the use of the comparables;
- 7 That less oil consumption as shown by the records of these tests occurred with the use of the subject oil;
- 8 That carbon deposits collected from the combustion chambers and cylinder heads and weighed by the official chemist were shown by the records of the test to be less after the use of the subject oil than after the use of the comparables;
- 9 That the subject oil showed a reduction in the case of crank-case dilution during these tests;
- 10 That during these tests the subject oil showed improved compression pressure, decreased rate of crank-case dilution and decreased gasoline consumption, indicating an improved ring seal;
- 11 That a reduction in the operating fuel and oil cost occurring during these tests with the use of the subject oil is substantiated by the records;
- 12 That with the use of the subject oil there occurred less deviation from cycle to cycle in compression pressure at starting speeds (as shown by the records) would indicate that improved compression at higher speeds might have occurred during these tests;
- 13 That the reduction in the rate of wear occurring during these tests with the use of the subject oil as shown by the records would indicate a longer motor life;
- 14 That while there is no reason to suppose that results similar to those of this test would not show under other conditions, it is important that references to these findings be accompanied by the statement that, in so far as the report is concerned, they cannot, as conclusions, be extended generally. However, the inference that they might be so is reasonable and rational, although not conclusive.
