THREE SONGS FAVORITES IN McCORMACK'S STORY

In "Song O' My Heart," his first audible picture for the screen, John McCormack, the world's greatest lyric tenor, sings eleven numbers, logically introduced in the action of the delightful lyrical romance, which comes to the Royal Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Through the medium of Fox movie-tone, the voice that has always been proclaimed great is considered to be made greater via the singing screen.
Of the entire repertoire, "I Hear You Calling Me," "Rose of Tralee" and "Little Boy Blue," are perhaps the most appreciated numbers.
"Little Boy Blue" is based on the poem by Eugene Field and set to music by Ethelbert Nevin. In singing "Little Boy Blue," Frank Borzage who directed "Song O' My Heart" has deftly introduced a pictorial effect of a little boy, his dog and his toy soldiers, giving an added human touch.
"I Hear You Calling Me," which is so identified with the great tenor that he rarely fails to include it as an encore during his concert programs, is a composition of Charles Marshall with lyrics by Harold Hartford. "Rose of Tralee" is a Glover-Ditson number.
"Song O' My Heart" is the story of a broken romance, which mars the life of McCormack, a young and ambitious singer in Ireland. The girl, Alice Joyce, marries another, becomes the mother of a boy and girl and is deserted by the husband. In after years, McCormack appears in concerts in America, is a success and is booked from coast to coast, but, on the opening night of his concert tour he has a strange premonition that something is wrong across the seas. After the concert, he learns that his former sweetheart died in Ireland approximately at the time a great audience was acclaiming his singing of "I Hear You Calling Me." He abandons the concert tour, goes back to Ireland and sees that the daughter of the woman he has always loved is happily married to the young man of her choice.

In addition to Miss Joyce, the supporting company includes such favorites as Maureen O'Sullivan, J. M. Kerrigan, John Garrick, Farrel Macdonald, Effie Ealsler and Tommy Clifford.

TWICE AS MANY COLORED COMICS IN LINCOLN JOURNAL DOLLAR TRIAL OFFER

The Lincoln Morning Journal gives later news than any other Lincoln daily and as late news as any Omaha paper, since the Lincoln Journals are rushed by auto to Fremont and put on the same early morning Northwestern train that the Omaha papers use.

The Journal is the only Lincoln daily printing regularly after 5 p. m. They print editions right up until train time day and night. The Morning Journal comes in time for morning town and rural mail delivery on the same day.

The Lincoln Journal gives unexcelled service on a morning newspaper from the capital city, edited 100 per cent for Nebraskans. All of the other big Nebraska morning dailies are printed on the Iowa line and edit for Iowa readers also.

The Lincoln Journal has added another colored comic section, giving "The Captain and the Kids," "Reglar Fellers," "Hairbreadth Harry" and "Tailspin Tommy." Other features recently added are "Calvin Coolidge," $200,000 a year feature, "Chic Sale," "Oz Black," "Toonerville Folks," colored comic, "Eleanor Gunn," Fairfield fashions, "Complete Sunday Story" and "Grantland Rice."

For one dollar The Lincoln Journal will send you a trial subscription or a whole year may be had for $4 daily, $6 with Sunday. This is very reasonable compared to prices charged by other dailies and considering the superior service the Lincoln Journal gives. Don't give money to strangers, order direct or through our office.

Lyric Theatre ATKINSON

Friday and Saturday, Sept. 5-6
Friday and Saturday, Sept. 12-13
Roland West's thrill drama of the Underworld—"ALIBI"

A dynamic mystery romance of gangland vs. the law. Based on the stage play, "Nightstick." A better picture than "The Bat."

Sun., Mon., Tues., Sept. 14-15-16
From the magazine story by Richard Connell. This is a college picture and is as happy as a co-ed with her first date, as tawful as a crack dance orchestra. Six big song hits.

Wednesday Only—September 17
Sally O'Neill, Molly O'Day, in "SISTERS"

Sisters in real life, yet in this picture each portrays a character that is as different as day is from night. A great emotional drama of our youth today. Adults 25c, children 10c
Thursday, Friday, Sat. Sept. 18-19-20
Betty Compson, John Wray, in
"THE CZAR OF BROADWAY"

A swiftly moving underworld story that rises to tremendous climax in a newspaper office. One of the most unusual endings ever seen in talking pictures. Highly entertaining and superbly acted. It will thrill you from start to finish. See it.
