J. S. ENNIS IS MAKING FINE RACE FOR SHERIFF

J. S. Ennis, republican candidate for sheriff of Holt county, has been traveling over the county during the past couple of weeks in the interest of his campaign.

Mr. Ennis has been a resident of Holt county for the past twenty-three years—ten years of that time was spent in Atkinson; for the past thirteen years Mr. Ennis has been employed at the Seth Noble lumber yard in this city.

Mr. Ennis belongs to no clique or faction and is subservient to no one; if elected to the office of sheriff of Holt county he will be in a position to and will perform the duties of that office without fear or favor; he has no fight to make against any individual or class but will discharge his duties as they come to him in a businesslike manner.

The office of sheriff is an important one; much of the business of the county is centered around the sheriff's office. Mr. Ennis is thoroughly competent to handle the business of the office without incurring a lot of additional expense to the taxpayers. If you feel that fourteen years is long enough for the present sheriff to hold the office and if you feel that Mr. Ennis is qualified for the place, give him your support.

W. E. CONKLIN FOR COUNTY TREASURER

W. E. Conklin is a candidate for re-election to the office of county treasurer. He is an efficient, courteous public official, well qualified by experience and training to handle the affairs of that office. We believe that the people of Holt county will re-elect Mr. Conklin to succeed himself.

The business of the office has grown enormously during the past ten years; the business of the office for the last fiscal year totaled almost a million dollars.

The automobile license and the drivers license have added an enormous amount of work to the office and requires experienced help.

The incumbent of the county treasurer's office should be a man with age and experience; he should be a man who knows the business of the office. Mr. Conklin has been commended various times by examiners upon the efficiency of the office and the neatness in which he keeps the records; examiners have told Mr. Conklin that his books were among the best and most accurate books kept in the state. Why make a change?

IRA H. MOSS FOR CLERK OF THE COURT

Ira H. Moss is the republican candidate for the office of Clerk of the District Court. He is the present incumbent and is asking the voters for re-election.

Mr. Moss has made a very efficient clerk of the court; those who have had occasion to transact any business in the office know that what we say is true.

While the duties of the District Clerk are too varied to fully describe, much of his work consists of the making and keeping of court records, the responsibility for the proper preparation of these being shared by the District Judge, the Clerk and the attorneys representing parties to lawsuits. Although the public seldom sees these records, it is of vital importance that they be correctly made and kept in such a manner that they are always available, since title to a large share of the real estate of the county is involved in the District Court records. Inaccuracy or the exercise of poor judgment on the part of the Clerk might easily result in litigation expensive both to the county and to the parties involved.

If you are satisfied with the administration of Mr. Moss, he will appreciate your support at the coming election on November 4th.

E. F. PORTER FOR COUNTY CLERK

E. F. Porter, the present county clerk, is the republican candidate to succeed himself.

Mr. Porter, before his election to this office a few years ago, was one of the most popular citizens in the vicinity of Chambers, where he owns a farm.

Since his incumbency in office he prides himself on the fact that service and efficiency are his only thoughts; he has served the people well; he is thoroughly competent. The few years he has spent in the office better fits him for the work. A vote for Mr. Porter is a vote to continue efficiency in office; everyone knows Mr. Porter and they know he is honest and capable.

MRS. ESTHER COLE HARRIS

Mrs. Esther Cole Harris is the republican candidate for the office of Register of Deeds of Holt County. She is asking the voters for the support of her candidacy.

Mrs. Harris was born and raised in Holt county; she received a high school education in the schools of Atkinson and O'Neill. She has taught in the schools of the county; she was employed in a bank for four years. She is well qualified for the position and if elected will fill the office in an efficient and capable manner.

Do not forget Mrs. Harris when you go to the polls on Tuesday, November 4th.

J. C. STEIN FOR SUPERVISOR IN THE FIRST DISTRICT

J. C. Stein, the present supervisor in the First District, is asking the voters to return him next year. Mr. Stein is well posted in the affairs of the county and is one of the most competent men who have served on the board. A vote for Mr. Stein is a vote for economy.

RODELL ROOT FOR SUPERVISOR IN FIFTH DISTRICT

Rodell Root, of Amelia, is the republican candidate in the Fifth District. He is a prosperous farmer and rancher and a competent business man. If elected to a place on the Board of Supervisors he will be a credit to his district.

W. H. SHAUGHNESSY FOR SUPERVISOR

W. H. Shaughnessy is the republican candidate for Supervisor in the third district.

Mr. Shaughnessy is one of the old settlers of this county and is asking the voters of the third supervisor district for their support at the coming election on Tuesday, November 4th. Mr. Shaughnessy has the interest of the taxpayers at heart when he asks for their support.

A vote for Mr. Shaughnessy is a vote for the best interests of the county.

F. O. HAMMERBERG FOR SUPERVISOR, 7TH DISTRICT

The voters of the Seventh Supervisor District have a good man to represent them on the county board of supervisors if he is successful in the November election; that man is F. O. Hammerberg, who is running for the office on the republican ticket. Mr. Hammerberg is a prominent figure in his district and has been quite successful in his own affairs; he served on the board of supervisors from his home district eighteen or twenty years ago and made a good record. A vote for F. O. Hammerberg will not be amiss.

C. D. KEYES FOR COUNTY ASSESSOR

C. D. Keyes, the present county assessor is again a candidate for the office. He is thoroughly competent to fill the office as the record of the past four years will verify. He thoroughly understands the records and the valuations in the various parts of the county which is a decided advantage to the tax payers as he is in a position to do his work accurately; the elimination of errors in assessments is a decided saving to everyone. If you support Mr. Keyes you will make no mistake.

C. E. HAVENS FOR REPRESENTATIVE, 64TH DIST.

The voters of the 64th Representative District will again have an opportunity to cast their vote for C. E. Havens of Atkinson for representative on November 4th. Mr. Havens served this district in the legislature a few years ago and made a very good record.

ROSS AMSPOKER FOR STATE SENATOR, 22ND DIST.

Ross Ampsoker is a candidate for election to the office of state senator in this, the twenty-second district. Mr. Ampsoker has successfully represented this district in the legislature and if he is returned for the next two years the people of the district can rest assured that the interests of the county will be cared for.

The judge has the case under advisement.

The case of S. J. Weekes, administrator of the estate of August Krueger vs. Clarence Bergstrom, was before Judge Robert R. Dickson in the district court on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. The plaintiff asked that a deed be set aside that was given to Clarence Bergstrom by Mr. Krueger before his death, conveying 800 acres of land, located south of Inman. The court returned a judgment for the defendant. A motion for a new trial has been filed.

LOOKING AHEAD (By Kon Tact)

The recent attempted aerial demonstration by the Rapid Air Lines only served to emphasize the need for a suitable landing field at O'Neill. Unfortunately this event was not anticipated in time to allow it to be advertised, with a resultant loss, not only to the operators of passenger carrying planes but to the business men of O'Neill as well.

The attendance at this event was limited to a few dozen people whereas it should have and would have been several thousand with a little advertising and a field with suitable accommodations provided.

We in this part of the country do not fully appreciate the strides made in aviation during the past few years and cannot realize to what extent the airplane is being used in other parts of the country. A recent aeronautical magazine states that "there were some thirty-nine air transport companies actually in operation in the United States and about twenty more being formed."

Just what has this to do with northern Nebraska and O'Neill in particular? Since prehistoric man first mounted his trusty dinosaurs and went crashing through the tropical jungles, the advance of civilization has depended upon and has been largely a question of better transportation equipment. Each new development being adopted and eventually taken as a matter of course by the people of the country. This condition already prevails in parts of the country with respect to the use of planes as vehicles of commerce, and we are advised that there are people who refuse to ride a train if aerial transportation is available.

Each new method of transportation started along the paths of established routes. For instance, in our own state, the forty-niner with his oxen, toiled on the sandy Platte valley—later to be followed by the Union Pacific railroad; then came the automobile and the development of the Lincoln Highway, following the approximate routes of the old trails and the railroad. What was more natural than, when a transcontinental air line was developed, that it should follow these established routes? The first planes on this line chose this route for several reasons, the two most being: The railroad and river served as guides for the pilots during bad weather and the numerous communities along the railroad were an added assurance of prompt assistance in case of forced landings. When the demands of commerce became heavy enough the transport companies inaugurated night flying, beacons were placed at fifteen mile intervals to guide the flyers at night and we see the new method of transportation start depending less and less upon the established railroad even for guidance.

Take a map of the United States, draw a line from New York to Salt Lake City, another from Denver to Minneapolis, and another from Spokane, Washington to St. Louis; you may then appreciate the strategic location of O'Neill with respect to the aerial commerce of the future.

The question is, what are we going to do about it? Shall we sit here and let it go by and within the next ten years be as isolated as some of the inland towns are from the railroads? Or shall we develop a suitable landing field which may later be converted into an airport as occasion demands?

Think it over, reader, and remember that if we do not take advantage of this opportunity some of our neighboring towns will. Valentine set aside a large tract for a landing field over a year ago and a flying school is being developed at Ainsworth which shows that these towns at least are aware of the possibilities of the future.

In a later issue we will discuss the requirements of landing fields and airports for the benefit of our many readers. Happy landings.
